500 FIGHTERS BLAST FRANCE IN GIANT FOLLOW-UP TO DIEPPE

1st Comprehensive Allied Communique On Dieppe Raid

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The first comprehensive official communique on the Allied Commando raid on Dieppe issued by the combined operations headquarters tonight said:

Communique

"Reports now received from force commanders make it possible to give a full co-ordinated story of combined operations of the raid in the Dieppe area.

"These reports show that as a combined operation the raid was a successful demonstration of co-ordination of all three services. A large military force embarked on board naval vessels and transports. This force was assembled and negotiated the most hazardous sea passage and arrived off the selected points off the French coast at 4:50 a. m. (11:50 p. m., Tuesday Eastern War Time).

"The troops were landed on all six beaches selected at the time laid down. Aircraft covered these landings as arranged and then continued to cover the ships and men throughout operations.

"The raid had as its objectives the testing by an offensive on a larger scale than previously of defenses of what is known to be a heavily defended section of the coast, destruction of German batteries, of a radio location station which plays an important part in German attacks on our channel convoys, destruction of German military personnel and equipment, and the taking of prisoners for interrogation. The raid was a reconnaissance in force, having a vital part in our agreed offensive policy.

"It was known that as a consequence of our avowed aggressive policy the Germans had recently been heavily reinforcing the coastal defenses of the whole of the occupied territory. Heavy opposition was therefore anticipated. In fact, it became clear during the raid that the enemy had brought additional troops and guns to the Dieppe area quite recently.

"Succeeded in Bringing Number of Prisoners"

"Despite this heavy opposition, the forces were landed on all beaches, together with some tanks. They succeeded in destroying two batteries and a radio-location station, inflicting heavy casualties upon the enemy forces, and in sinking two small vessels, and in bringing back a number of prisoners.

"Our troops, the majority of whom were Canadians, remained ashore for nearly nine hours from dawn and were then re-embarked in naval vessels which throughout this period were lying close off the French coast assisting our landing forces by heavy bombardment. Tanks which had been landed and some of which succeeded in breaking into the town were ordered to be blown up and destroyed before our troops re-embarked.

"During engagements on shore there were numerous acts of individual bravery by our forces. Throughout the landing extensive air cover for both ships and landing forces was provided by aircraft from all operational commands of the RAF, from the United States Army Air Force, the Royal New Zealand Air Force, and Polish, Czech, Norwegian, Belgian and Fighting French squadrons.

"While the principal objective of the air operations was to give support to the landing and cover to the forces dur-

Germans Lost 269 Airplanes Over Dieppe

By DREW MIDDLETON.

A SOUTHERN BRITISH PORT, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The smashing Allied triumph over the German air force over Dieppe in which 269 enemy craft were destroyed or damaged will force the Nazis to divert bombers and fighters from the Russian front to western Europe, qualified observers said tonight.

These observers, who must remain anonymous, declared the German losses consisted of 91 planes certainly destroyed, 38 probably shot down and 140 damaged.

The mounting strength of the RAF and the United States Army Air Corps plus the new assurance—won at Dieppe by Canadians, and British Commandos and United States Rangers—make it imperative for the Germans to strengthen the western air frontier, it was said.

No second front can be opened on the continent without a mass of troops experienced in operations similar to Dieppe, these observers said.

Analyzing the Allied moves in the Dieppe raid, it was clear that the British and Canadians made the greatest progress on the left flank where they destroyed a six-inch battery.

After a partial success the Allied force was checked in the center while on the right remnants of the original landing party were partly able by skill to put another six-inch battery out of action.

Nevertheless, the German coastal defenses showed the enemy has the wind up, and valuable experience and information were gained by the Allies in the center, where the blow was aimed at the heart of Dieppe.

The Germans stiffened that position with fresh troops and new materiel. Nevtrehelss the Allies made considerable gains against this strong force.

The Commandos and Canadians attacked with impetuosity seldom seen in this war and were able to carry all local objectives before them.

Thus in the center much damage was done.

Allied Craft Engage In Greatest Daylight Raid of Entire War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—In the greatest daylight aerial offensive of the war, 500 Allied fighter planes raided the invasion coast of France today with a four-way sweep while United States Flying Fortresses bombed the Amiens railway yards.

Previously the Allies have limited the number of planes in a similar daytime operation to about 300.

The widespread attack, too, was a continuation of the daytime use of the huge American four-motored bombers, a recent innovation.

Opposition Slight.

The fact that not a single plane was reported lost and only slight fighter opposition was encountered was regarded by the British as further indication of the severe mauling the Nazi air force took in the air battle over Dieppe.

In fact, some quarters in London believed the German losses yesterday included at least one-third of the Nazi fighter strength in the western occupied zone of Europe.

The British declared direct hits were scored on numerous targets attacked by the raiders.

The intensity of the raiding was disclosed by the story of the Belgian pilot of an RAF Spitfire plane.

15 Bursts on Target.

"I saw 15 bursts on the target and most of the hits were on yards and locomotive depots," he said. "Great mushrooms of gray smoke went up after the bombs were dropped."

One German Focke-Wulf plane was shot into the sea and others were damaged.

All Allied planes returned safely.

U. S. Army Air Force fighters and bombers struck the railway at Amiens and made sweeps with the RAF and other Allied fliers in a swift follow-up to the "delightful show" over Dieppe which cost them five casualties against three probable victories.

Brigadier General Frank O. D. Hunter, commander of the U. S.

Soviets Destroy German Force Crossing Don

MOSCOW, Friday, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Red army defending Stalingrad was reported officially early today to have wiped out a German force which had crossed the Don river while other Soviet units fought off constant German attacks inside the Don bend itself southeast of Kletskaya.

In the southern and western Caucasus the Soviets acknowledged slight German gains against Russian defensive forces fighting east of Pyatigorsk in the Caucasian foothills and south of Krasnodar on the railway leading to the Black Sea port of Novorossisk.

"Southeast of Kletskaya," the communique said, "our forces fought several engagements against enemy forces attempting to cross the Don. An enemy group which crossed was almost completely annihilated, 500 Germans being killed."

German Transport Sunk.

The fight southwest of Stalingrad in the Kotelnikovski sector swayed without decisive results to either side, the communique said, but the Nazis were admitted to have made slight gains at high cost east of Pyatigorsk and south of Krasnodar.

The Russians said they sank a 7,000-ton German transport in the Black Sea.

Battle dispatches from the four northern sectors, however, said the Red Army was holding the initiative in increasingly hard fighting. These were the Bryansk sector 210 miles southwest of Moscow, the Vyazma salient 130 miles west of Moscow, the Kalinin-Rzhev sector northwest of the capital and the Lake Ilmen front south of Leningrad.

Line of 400 Miles.

These sectors are ona line of over 400 miles. They were hit, apparently, in a series of sharp, individual assaults while the Germans concentrated their main force in the south.

In the area southeast of Kletskaya, within the Don bend some 75 miles above Stalingrad, the Germans tried a large-scale tank assault with automatic gunners riding on the outside armor of the vehicles.

Military dispatches said Russian fire forced the gunners off the tanks and that they were surrounded and exterminated while the armored vehicles retired.

Station Changes Hands.

Annihilating the units which got across the Don, the Russians in a single sector were reported to have destroyed 17 tanks and killed 500 Germans.

On the German right flank below Stalingrad, northeast of Kotelnikovski, a furious battle was in progress for a railway station, which changed hands several times. The battleground in this area was described as a scene of stark devastation, with wheat fields covered with ashes and littered with corpses and equipment.

(The Germans said they had taken by storm the "enemy defense system between Volga and Don" in this area, capturing 3,301 Russian prisoners.)

Traffic Stalled As Storm Hits Center of City

A sudden thunderstorm late yesterday afternoon poured more than an inch of rain within 30 minutes on downtown Atlanta, tying up traffic and "drowning out" parked automobiles.

Streets were flooded in several low sections.

Weather Bureau officials described the thunderstorm as "pretty good sized, but not severe." Not a great deal of thunder, lightning and wind accompanied the rain.

"It was just another thunderstorm," a Weather Bureau official said. "We had a heavy rain right here in the center of the city, but outlying sections probably did not get nearly so much. Apparently we were in the center of the rain area this time."

Meanwhile, the Weather Bureau reported mild temperatures today will accompany continuing showers and thundershowers. Temperature extremes yesterday were 70 and 80 degrees.

Strike Threatens Aluminum Supply

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Representatives of the Army Air Corps and the federal Department of Labor, worked strenuously tonight to halt a strike vote by the CIO Aluminum Workers of America, after representatives of the union voted to reject a War Labor Board decision denying them a general wage increase.

Lieutenant Colonel George E. Strong, of the Army, flew from Detroit, and in what was termed an "impassioned presentation of facts," warned the gathering of 20-odd delegates of the consequences of an aluminum work stoppage.

"This nation cannot wage a winning fight against the Axis arrayed against us, if we are deprived of adequate air power," the colonel was quoted as telling the closed meeting. "We certainly cannot have adequate airpower if there is an interruption to aluminum supply.

"And the seven plants of the Aluminum Company of America, whose workers you represent, are the country's major source of supply."

Bennett Wins Over Mead Despite F. D. R.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—State Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr. was nominated unanimously for Governor over United States Senator James M. Mead at New York's Democratic convention in Brooklyn today.

The nomination was accomplished in the face of a White House indorsement for Mead and credit for the victory went largely to former Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley, who managed Bennett's campaign.

An official tabulation gave Bennett 623, Mead 393. Officials said the total number of delegates was 1,016 instead of 1,014 as shown on the tally sheets.

At the evening session, Bennett made immediate overtures in the interests of party harmony, pledging in his acceptance speech to "support, encourage and fight for" the foreign policy of President Roosevelt.

Bennett paid tribute to the "capable, aggressive and genial" Senator Mead, who responded a few minutes later, asserting "we have had our fight; that fight is behind us. We will take off our coats and make our contribution to the election of the standard-bearer you have chosen today."

Roosevelt Reported On the Scene.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP) Representative Hartley, Republican, New Jersey, asked the house today whether war censorship provided "a cloak of concealment for the political activities of the President."

Reporting that he understood Mr. Roosevelt had been in New York many times recently, the representative raised the question whether the executive was there for political or for war reasons.

"I understand," Hartley said, "that Mr. Roosevelt was in New York last Monday. If this is true, and I have every reason to believe it is true, I want to ask on behalf of the nation whether Mr. Roosevelt was in New York directing the participation of the United States in the World War, or whether he was there directing a partisan political fight for his candidate as against others seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in the state of New York."

(The press censorship code states that information about the movements of the President should not be published or broadcast unless announced by an appropriate authority.)

U. S. Marines 'Mopping Up' Jap Remnants in Solomon Isles

Enemy Warship Hit By American Planes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The winning American thrust at the Solomon Islands today reached the advanced stage of mopping up remnants of Japanese forces apparently left stranded there when enemy warships were destroyed or forced to withdraw.

The Navy said that while the United States Marines were busy with this task, Japanese aircraft, destroyers and submarines engaged in a casual bombardment of the newly won shore positions. They inflicted only minor damage, but a Japanese destroyer or cruiser was bombed and set afire by American aircraft.

Success Continuing.

Thus, the Navy's first communique in three days on the offensive in the Solomons brought word that it was continuing with uninterrupted success. It also brought evidence corroborating the general assumption that the Marines have installed themselves in positions from which they will not easily be dislodged.

Tokyo radios were silent today—as they have been for almost a week—about the fate of Japanese forces which fought the American landings in the Tulagi and Guadalcanal areas.

But Japanese-controlled radio stations through southeast Asia maintained a blare of victory propaganda which concentrated on taunting the Allies for disclosing the "crushing magnitude of their naval losses."

The Navy gave no details of the fighting, but observers piecing together today's news and that contained in previous communiques endeavored to reconstruct the general course of the battle.

Many Prisoners.

They recalled that previous Navy announcements told of attacks on Japanese shipping in the harbors of the Solomons, and a night battle between American and Japanese naval units, in which the latter were forced to

Willkie To Visit Fronts in Near East and Russia

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP) Wendell L. Willkie announced today he would leave in about three weeks for the Near East and Russia on a trip to "perform certain services for the government."

President Roosevelt, Willkie said, asked him to undertake these services. The 1940 Republican presidential nominee did assert that "of course" he hoped to see Joseph Stalin, Russian premier. Also, he hopes to visit fighting fronts.

Willkie emphasized, however, the trip was his own idea and that he had had to seek the sanction of the United States and the governments of the countries that he will visit before he could make it. He plans to be back not later than October 15.

Asked whether he proposed to intervene in any respect in the Indian situation, he asserted flatly it was obvious from his itinerary that he did not intend to do so.

At his own request, he said, Gardner Cowles, one of the top officials here of the Office of War Information, and Joseph Barnes, director of the New York office of OWI, will make the trip with him.

Angry Brazil Seizes Germans For Hostages

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—German nationals aboard two repartriation ships were seized today in the harbor as hostages for interned Brazilians in occupied France as Brazil announced the loss of her sixth ship to Axis torpedoes in the new outburst of U-boat raids and Allied counter-action in the south Atlantic.

A presidential order declared the Germans must remain in Brazil "as hostages for our countrymen held at Compiegne," the famous French town where the armistices of both 1918 and 1940 were signed—with the French first as victors, later as victims of the Germans.

(The Nazis have a concentration camp at Compiegne for Americans whose countries are at war or have broken relations, as Brazil has done, with the Germans.)

The hostage order excepted only those with diplomatic status among the Germans awaiting repatriation via Lisbon on the exchange ships Bage and Cuiaba. The two ships had been scheduled to sail early this week but were held in port when the submarine crisis flared up.

The sixth announced victim of recent submarine attacks was the small coaster Jacy, sunk yesterday off Port Itacare in the northeastern state of Bahia.

The submarine commander forced all on board to abandon ship in small boats, then sank the Jacy.

While this announcement brought a new crisis to the undeclared war off the South American coasts, maritime sources reported that still another submarine was sighted this morning in the western south Atlantic.

Relief Outlook Here Now Much Brighter

The brightest hue Fulton county's relief picture ever has had shines out today, but the welfare department still has a very vexing problem on its hands—that of finding foster homes for scores and scores of little boys and girls.

Wellborn R. Ellis, administrator of the Fulton county department of welfare, reported there are fewer direct relief clients today than in many years and that during July they received the most help the department has ever been able to dispense. It was $5.09 each for the month, as compared with $3.59 in July of last year.

On the other hand, more and more children, boys and girls of all ages, are daily being placed in the care of the children's division of the department, and so far there hasn't been enough homes in which to place them.

Many Good Homes.

"In Atlanta and Fulton county there are many good, Christian homes in which some of these children can develop into happy, useful citizens," said Ellis. "But to get the right homes and children together is a real job. Perhaps some of our Fulton county families would be interested in sharing their own homes with a boy or girl. If so, we urge them to make application to the county welfare department at 160 Pryor street."

Ellis added that a small amount of board is paid for each child in a foster home.

War activity and better times account mainly for the decrease in the number of clients in the department, the administrator pointed out.

Though the clients themselves are, and have been, unemployables, many of them have been taken off the relief rolls because some relative or member of the family has secured a job which would enable him to support the unemployable kin.

Ellis said also that many direct

18,967 Civilian Commissions In Two Months

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Disclosure by the War Department that 18,967 civilians with no previous experience as military officers had received Army commissions during the 60 days beginning last June 1, brought from Representative Faddis, Democrat, Pennsylvania, today the comment that the United States Army "is getting Mexicanized."

On the other hand, Secretary of War Stimson said a large percentage of the appointees were much-needed doctors and other technical men. He said appointments from civil life would decline greatly as officers' training schools turn out more and more graduates.

"Curtailed Some."

Faddis, a member of the House Military Affairs Committee and sponsor of recent legislation requiring the armed services to make periodic reports on civilian commissions, said he was surprised that "the list isn't bigger."

"They've curtailed some," he commented, probably because the general staff has been cut down and they can't get around to issuing the commissions so fast now."

"They've probably commissioned every movie actor who can

Vickery Explains Cancellation Of Higgins' Ship Contract

KASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Rear Admiral H. L. Vickery, in direct charge of the Maritime Commission's ship construction program, told a House Merchant Marine Subcommittee today he was solely responsible for cancellation of a contract with the Higgins Shipbuilding Corporation of New Orleans for construction of 200 Liberty cargo ships and facilities.

"My decision was based on the fact that the Higgins yard would be the last one to come into production; that it had the most unexpended money, and other yards could build more ships than we could get steel for."

He determined, he said, that the Higgins yard was the most susceptible to delay and that utilization of the entire available steel supply would stabilize other yards at 80 per cent capacity, providing a margin for expansion when additional steel became available.

the right flank. Landing craft speeding toward the shore ran into a German convoy, a sure sign that the enemy expected no attack in the region of Dieppe.

Larry Meier, International News Service correspondent representing the Association of American Correspondents in London, who was with the raiders meeting the convoy of tankers, said it at first appeared to be a German trap.

A furious battle ensued in which two of four Nazi antiaircraft ships were sunk, Meier reported.

There were only three errors in the fine timing of the entire operation and none of these affected the success of the operations.

Casualties were believed to have been heavy but not as heavy as they might have been.

The general feeling was that the next major operation, which everyone expects to be on a similar scale, would be concluded with less loss and with even greater success.

Dieppe, which 48 hours ago was one of the strongest bastions in Hitler's much advertised continental defenses, lay in smoking ruin. Many a German gun and perhaps hundreds of gray-green clad enemy troops likewise were destroyed. And the world had seen an object lesson in invasion tactics in the nine-hour battle ashore which may presage an all-out invasion to open a second front.

The RAF admitted the loss of 98 planes.

Even as the last barges brought their precious cargoes of wounded men and German prisoners—some of them bulky officers—RAF fighters three miles high were flying the Straits of Dover in the direction of Boulogne.

The raid was on a wide front of perhaps 15 miles.

The Canadians were preponderant, but an unspecified small number of tough U. S. Rangers fought throughout the engagement in which the raiders successfully landed tanks. British Commandos and Fighting French soldiers made up the remainder of the force.

The German radio blared tales throughout the day about repulsing an "invasion" with huge losses, including the capture of 1,500 prisoners and the destruction of nearly a score of ships. Officially, the British said nothing of the number of land or sea casualties.

The Commandos achieved the underlying objective of testing the German coastal defenses and gathering vital information about them.

The Allies also achieved a tactical success in each of their six landings, and moved a great force (the Germans said at least one division, or 15,000 men) almost without being molested. And they destroyed an important number of coastal defenses including a battery of six-inch naval guns at Varangeville, about 4 1-2 miles west of Dieppe.

The Germans declared that an artificial fog enabled the Allied forces to land on the beaches and continued to make grotesque claims of damage to shipping which in no way was borne out by reports of eyewitnesses, including this correspondent.

Not a single cruiser was hit by bombs in the action and the German claims to have damaged four destroyers and four motor torpedo boats and four transports totaling 13,000 tons simply does not jibe with personal experiences in the battle area.

The RAF dominated the skies except for a few brief intervals. German bombing attacks on shipping at those times was inaccurate due to a terrific antiaircraft barrage.

Men who raided Dieppe roamed the streets of this quiet port tonight. There wasn't one who didn't look forward to "another shot at those so-and-sos."

Loudly they praised the RAF, and as the day patrols swept by, one typical comment was:

"They've got it, those fellows. They really helped plenty."

They came ashore singing, shouting and grinning—all but the most desperately wounded. Most were weary and some limped, but all could laugh at the sad case of a British Marine.

The Marine was the last casualty of the operation. He accidentally shot himself in the hand when he was landed here after nine hours of the fiercest fighting from which he had emerged without a scratch.

Honor: 1st U. S. Trooper To Kill German Is a Mr. Ken Kenyon

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—A spunky young sergeant from Minneapolis, Ken Kenyon, earned in the Dieppe raid the distinction of being probably the first United States infantryman to shoot a German in this war.

Kenyon, a Ranger, was with a group of raiders which ran into plenty of trouble when it touched shore in the first assaults.

Men were hit right and left. Kenyon joined in without a moment's hesitation. Firing his Garand rifle, he picked off a Nazi soldier at an open window and the German toppled to the ground.

"Well, that's my first score on those guys," said the sergeant when his craft had drawn out to sea again with its wounded.

10,000 Made Dieppe Thrust, Vichy Is Told

Hand-to-Hand Fighting In City's Streets Is Described.

VICHY, Unoccupied France, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Hand-to-hand fighting in the streets of Dieppe while the most modern weapons of war poured shells into the historic city was described today in French accounts telephoned to this capital from the scene of the Commando coastal raid.

Chief of State Petain himself was given a report on the raid by Krug von Nidda, German consul general in Vichy, who called on the marshal this morning.

Underlining Berlin's report, the French officially hailed the "complete failure" of the landing and reported 25 French civilian dead.

The official count showed 14 French civilian dead and a score wounded at Dieppe, eight dead and 26 wounded at Arques, and three dead and 36 wounded at Neuville la Dieppe.

German sources in Vichy admitted the Allies held on for some 10 hours (the Allied report said only nine hours) and established a bridgehead with between 10,000 and 15,000 troops. They said the Allies were able to re-embark all but 10 per cent after the heavy fighting.

From German account, it appeared the scows bearing tanks worked successfully. They said the Americans were able to start up tank motors before they touched land and tanks rolled off the barges in perfect order.

The French emphatically declared that no French sharpshooters took part in the battle.

The French population remained calm and orderly, according to a story from Dieppe. French women nurses took care of their dead and wounded.

French fire engines fought flames which burst out in one building after another from the shelling.

The Allied soldiers withdrew about 3:30 p. m., it was reported, the last batch giving a great shout as the soldiers piled into motor scows.

Rangers To Give Instructions in U.S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The American Rangers who fought with the Canadians, British Commandos and Fighting French in yesterday's spectacular raid on the Dieppe area of France will teach their slashing rough-and-tumble tactics to still more American fighting men.

This is on the authority of Robert P. Patterson, Undersecretary of War, who told a press conference today:

"Our participation in the Dieppe raid was by troops specially detailed to the Commandos for training and experience and they will be used for instructors, both in Britain and the United States."

Similar training already is being given to soldiers in this country, he said, notably to the First Special Service Force, made up of both Americans and Canadians, at a camp near Helena, Mont.

Two More Ships Sunk in Atlantic

By The Associated Press.

The sinking of two more merchant vessels by enemy undersea raiders operating off South America's coast was disclosed officially yesterday, boosting to 438 the Associated Press score of announced sinkings in the western Atlantic since December 7.

The latest victims of Axis U-boats included neutral Brazil's sixth loss in recent days, the coastal steamer Jacy, and a medium-sized British merchantman.

Atlanta Newspapers Claim a Large Crowd Heard Ellis Arnall Speak at Eastman.

Slightly more than 200 persons heard Mr. Arnall, including several score of Governor Talmadge's friends and supporters who were seen in the crowd.

This photo and the count of the crowd made by several persons clearly refutes the printed reports in the Atlanta newspapers Sunday that "a large and enthusiastic crowd" heard Arnall speak. One Atlanta paper reported that "hundreds of Dodge county people gathered on the courthouse square" to hear Arnall, which is typical of the inaccuracy of the reports put out by these papers.

The Atlanta papers did not reveal that Arnall failed to attract a crowd at Hawkinsville the previous Tuesday. Although his scheduled speech there was well advertised by hand bills and in the papers, so few persons showed up that Mr. Arnall decided not to speak but went about Hawkinsville shaking hands with various ones.

The Hawkinsville newspaper, which is supporting Arnall, wrote only two short paragraphs about the Arnall "speech," stating that "Ellis Arnall . . . paid a visit to Hawkinsville Tuesday . . . met a number of his supporters who had gathered at the courthouse and then made a short visit to each business house."

Mr. Arnall spoke in Eastman about one hour, then left for Statesboro to make an afternoon speech.

Colonel D. D. Smith acted as master of ceremonies and spoke in criticism of Governor Talmadge's administration. City Manager Rozar welcomed those who had gathered in behalf of the city. Edwin Methvin, editor of the Times Journal, introduced Mr. Arnall.

Seated on the platform, besides the speakers, were: "Uncle" Luke Harrell, W. L. Jessup Sr., Mrs. J. M. Arthur, Tom Hilliard, of Rhine; D. R. Jackson, Hawkinsville, lawyer; J. S. Matthews, editor of the Hawkinsville newspaper, and reporters from The Atlanta Journal and Constitution.

A TYPICAL ARNALL CROWD and A TYPICAL CONSTITUTION DISTORTION

The Atlanta Constitution August 20, 1942, belittled the crowd that heard Governor Talmadge speak August 19 at Louisville. The heading over a sneering story misrepresenting the facts said:

Talmadge Talk At Louisville Termed 'Flop'

Small Crowd Listless as Governor Repeats Harangues.

Talmadge forces have never criticized the opposition crowds. The Dodge County Advertiser of its own volition exposed the misrepresentation indulged too often by Atlanta dailies.

The Dodge County Advertiser's story and picture is reproduced here in paid advertisement so the people may know the truth.

Talmadge has large crowds and the people should know it. The Atlanta Constitution refuses to report the facts about the size of the crowds, minimizing the size of the Talmadge crowds, magnifying the opposition audiences. (Advertisement) retreat. Meanwhile, the Marines made their landings.

The destruction or disabling of ships in the harbor and the defeat of the Japanese flotillas at sea obviously left the Japanese troops on the islands cut off. Many of them were killed in action, the Navy had reported, and many prisoners were taken.

Presumably, the rest sought refuge in the jungle-clad hills which in many places rise steeply just inside the shore line. In the jungles it would be possible for them to wage a sniping sort of nuisance warfare at the victorious Marines.

The mopping up operations which the Navy cited today were generally taken to mean that the American forces were engaged in clearing the tangled jungleland of such enemy detachments.

In any event, the use of the phrase "mopping up," showed the Americans in clear and continued command of the situation ashore. The wording of the communique was taken to indicate that Japanese bombardment from the air and from the sea was proving highly ineffectual, and the bombing of a Japanese warship showed an alertness against any Japanese effort to dislodge the Marines by sea action.

The information was contained in Navy communique No. 109, based upon reports received up to 3:30 p. m., E. W. T., which follows:

"South Pacific area:

"1. United States Marines are engaged in 'mopping up' remnants of the Japanese forces on the islands which were recently captured in the Solomon Archipelago.

"2. Casual bombardments of our shore positions by enemy aircraft, destroyers and submarines have inflicted only minor damage.

"3. An enemy destroyer or cruiser was bombed and set afire by our aircraft.

"4. There is nothing to report from other areas."

THE EASTMAN TIMES-JOURNAL ANSWERS TALMADGE'S TRICK PHOTOGRAPHY

(An Editorial from The Times-Journal, Eastman, Ga., August 13, 1942.)

A DAMNABLE STATE OF AFFAIRS.

IT HAS ALWAYS been a puzzle to us why any person would deliberately tell a point-blank lie, particularly when others know as much or more than they do about the same thing.

Even more puzzling is why a newspaper, published for the benefit of the citizens it serves and pledged to honesty and decency, will deliberately attempt to misrepresent the truth; deliberately print a picture which shows only so much and no more; and deliberately make itself and its editor the laughing stock of a large number of the same citizens it attempts to serve.

We have reference to the picture of a part of the Ellis Arnall crowd at the City Park in Eastman Saturday afternoon, August 1st, which appeared in the Dodge County Advertiser in its issue of August 6.

They give the picture and make the following comment:

"This photo and the count of the crowd made by several persons clearly refutes the printed reports in Atlanta newspapers that a large and enthusiastic crowd heard Arnall speak."

As almost any Eastman and Dodge county citizen knows, the City Park, where Arnall spoke, contains a large cement sidewalk the entire width of the park, in the middle of which is also a drinking fountain.

We call attention to the fact that the Advertiser picture clearly and purposely showed ONLY that part of the Arnall crowd on the right side of the walkway and fountain, and shows a large tree with two men leaning against it almost directly in the middle foreground, which tree and men entirely obstructs any part of the crowd which was beyond that point.

The picture did not include the water fountain at all.

What happened to the crowd to the left of the walkway and fountain, did you ask?

Why, over there was standing the EDITOR of the Dodge County Advertiser.

And over there, too, was by far the bulk of the Ellis Arnall crowd, standing and sitting under the large shade trees.

The Times-Journal has been serving the people of Dodge county many, many years and has always tried to be fair and honest in all its reporting, even when it comes to politics. Too, it is this newspaper's purpose to furnish to its readers good and accurate news and to be of service to its people; also it furnishes its owners with the means of making an honest living.

Governor Talmadge's son-in-law owns, or either controls a large part of the stock of the Dodge County Advertiser, and dictates its operation to a large extent. That newspaper's editor can do nothing but follow the dictates of his superiors or get out.

Therefore, it is not hard to see through the entire scheme of trying to pull the wool over the eyes of those who might not have been present at the speaking.

It appears that they don't care about the people in Dodge knowing of their skullduggery, but maybe they could help Talmadge by having false reports circulated over the state. Their published scheme seems almost an admission Talmadge is lost in Dodge, for they certainly disregarded what many people saw with their own eyes.

It was the most feeble, distorted attempt at misrepresentation we have ever experienced and The Times-Journal is actually embarrassed for them and ashamed that there is a weekly newspaper in the Georgia Press Association that would try such a trick. We are embarrassed, too, that there is a weekly newspaper editor in the association that will stoop to such tactics or will allow himself to be forced into such a thing.

Talmadge's affairs in Dodge have reached a damnable state of affairs!

There is even more to the scheme which flopped.

Talmadge's Junior Statesmen. The Advertiser, further stated "Atlanta newspapers did not reveal that Arnall failed to attract a crowd at Hawkinsville the previous Tuesday."

The Times-Journal hereby issues the direct challenge to The Dodge County Advertiser, its editor, or anybody connected with the Talmadge set-up to deny the fact that the Hawkinsville speech by Arnall was called off several days in advance of the scheduled date!

If The Times-Journal were the Advertiser (and thank God we are not . . . and pray to the Lord we will never be in the position they are in) we would certainly be careful how we commented upon the inaccuracy of other papers.

It may be hard for them to do, but some day Talmadge and his entire crew of campaigners and managers will realize there are, after all, such things as honesty and decency!

We are going to scrap for Ellis Arnall right on through to the time when the last vote is cast on September 9. If for no other reason, then that will be to rid Dodge County and the State of Georgia of just such things as was attempted locally last week.

And there is one thing more against which we are going to scrap, and that is the following:

Intimidating and belittling voters who have expressed favor of Ellis Arnall, or any other candidate; promising big jobs and powerful political support in the state and county of Dodge if certain Arnall supporters and campaigners here will switch over to Talmadge; promising political support to two different men for the same identical office.

In the first place it isn't even good politics, and in the second place Talmadge, nor many of his political henchmen, will have anything to promise anybody after September 9.

As for the number of people attending Arnall's talk, we published a figure which was told to us to have been fixed by Colonel Hal Smith, county attorney and ardent Talmadge supporter and campaigner. The figure was 450. Our informant stated he discussed the number with Colonel Smith, and that they both agreed that number was about right.

Others seemed to believe there were more than 450, and so we published 450 to 500 as being present.

Arnall's friends in this county aren't dealing with the number present at a talk. All they want is for the people to go to the polls and vote their honest and sincere convictions.

That, and not crowds at political speeches, will decide the wishes of the people!

It is well worth repeating that Talmadge's affairs have reached a damnable state.

IMMORTAL FAME—Private Buck, popular Constitution cartoon, has scored a direct hit on the fancies of Army men. Because it was so popular at Fort McPherson, the Atlanta chapter of Bundles for America has pinned a copy of Clyde Lewis' product on each of 350 knitted garments to be sent right away to the Armored Division at Fort Knox, Ky. Mrs. H. Jack Evans, staff secretary, packs the articles. Private Buck is on his way!

'Private Buck' Is Bundled Up For Fort Knox

Atlantans Pin Constitution Cartoon to Garments for Soldiers.

By JEANNE OSBORNE.

A cartoonist's fondest dream, the wholesale dissemination of his works where they will catch hearty laughs, is being realized anew by Clyde Lewis, author of Private Buck, Constitution feature. Approximately 350 of his cartoons will soon combine forces with 350 knitted garments to cheer up the soldiers at Fort Knox, Ky., under the auspices of Bundles for America, youngest war relief agency.

To each of the sleeveless sweaters, scarves and helmets which will be shipped soon to ward off the wintry blasts, is pinned one Private Buck Cartoon. Object of this maneuver is no military secret. The idea originated with Mrs. Robert B. Strickland, chairman of production for the Atlanta branch of Bundles for America.

The Personal Touch.

Many of the volunteers who knitted sweaters for the boys enclosed notes written in the strain of "Blessings on thee, little man. May you return safely," and other such doleful epitaphs. Mrs. Strickland thought it was high time a stop was put to such depressing, though well-intentioned messages. However, she did not want to do away with the personal touch. "It makes the boys feel that they are individuals, not just a member of an army," she explained.

One day out at Fort McPherson, she found the answer to her problem. She happened to hear a group of soldiers express their enjoyment of Private Buck, one cartoon which was "really funny."

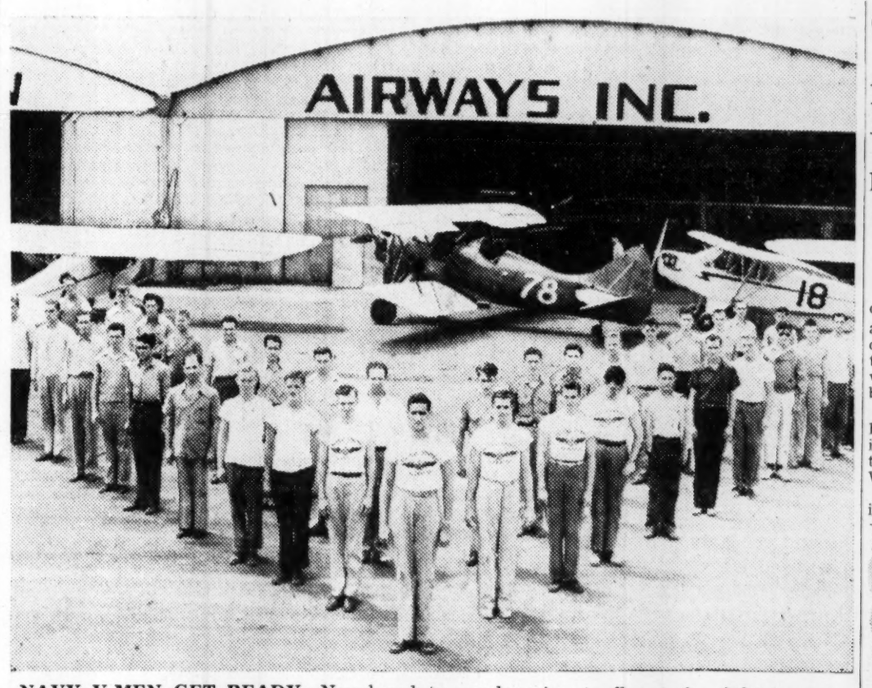

Promptly she set her friends to collecting copies of the feature. "Even Mrs. Willard C. Patterson, head of the Atlanta chapter, and I spent a great deal of time cutting out the cartoons from all the Constitutions we could get hold of," she explained.

"Adopting" Soldiers.

Enough have been collected now to spread good cheer on a large scale up Fort Knox way. The measure has met with the hearty approval of workers who have "adopted" the soldiers. "One adopts a soldier by purchasing wool and making him some much-needed garment," Mrs. Patterson asserted.

The khaki-colored wear which is to be sent to the soldiers is neatly labeled with little tippets, giving the name of the Atlanta chapter, another manifestation of the painstaking care taken by Mrs. Strickland with each individual article. "The garments are all perfect, too," she added modestly. "We feel it only our duty, if anyone has dropped a stitch or made a mistake, to unravel the sweater and knit it over again."

The garments were also beautifully blocked before being packed, for shipment. Mrs. Strickland sees to that, too. In addition to knitting garments for service men, including soldiers, sailors and marines, the agency also does a great deal of sewing to relieve families of fighting men. All the workers volunteer their services.

NAVY V-MEN GET READY—Naval cadets are learning to fly at the Atlanta municipal airport, spending their full days flying and studying for the day when they'll get a crack at the enemy. The men are attending a Civilian Pilot Training course.

GRIFFIN, Ga., Aug. 20.—Lieutenant John H. Goddard, Griffin attorney and member of the Georgia house of representatives from Spalding county, has been ordered to active duty in the United States Navy and has been sent to a Rhode Island training school.

Lieutenant Goddard is a past president of the Griffin Junior Chamber of Commerce and also a past president of the Exchange Club of Griffin.

Men Training Here May Fly Seven Seas and Battle Fronts

By AL SHARP.

Men who may soon be flying the seven seas for the Navy or the far-flung fronts for the Army are receiving their first training at the Atlanta Municipal airport.

Little attention has been drawn to the group of 25 naval cadets and 10 Army enlisted men who are training on regular schedules at the S. R. Young school near the airport and Georgia Tech, as well as taking flights.

The school for the fliers covers eight weeks, and it includes 240 hours of ground work and between 35 and 45 hours of flying. Operated by Southern Airways as a civilian pilot training course, the school prepares the cadets and soldiers for advanced training at regular fields in the Navy and Army setup.

To become pilots, the naval cadets, who are between 18 and 26, will go wherever they are needed —on carriers, coast patrols, etc.; the Army men will become instructors or glider pilots. Army men must be between the ages of 18 and 37 to be eligible for the school.

The schedule for the would-be pilots is far from an easy one. Their day begins at the school near the airport at 8 o'clock with an hour of drill and calisthenics. They study navigation, meteorology, mathematics, physics, military science and discipline, aerodynamics, engines, identification of aircraft, radio code, as well as a few other subjects. At night, they study at Georgia Tech.

In their spare time, the boys get in one or two flights a day in the trainer planes.

The present school will close about September 1, with another eight-week course scheduled to start when this one is completed.

Officer Killed And M. P. Shot In Macon Fray

Negro Soldier, Reported A. W. O. L., Is Sought in Shooting.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 20.—A Macon policeman was fatally shot and a military police sergeant critically injured in an altercation tonight in the Bus Terminal here with a Negro who was reported to be A. W. O. L. from Fort Benning.

Police Chief R. L. Miller said Patrolman John Grady Favors died in a hospital of a bullet wound in the stomach and Sergeant M. W. Whitmire was shot in the lung.

A search of the city and vicinity by military police was in progress for the Negro, who fled following the altercation.

Chief Miller gave this account:

Sergeant Whitmire arrested the Negro when he got off a bus coming into the city. The Negro was wearing a khaki uniform. A scuffle followed and the sergeant's pistol fell on the floor.

The Negro recovered the pistol as Patrolman Favors ran up to assist the M. P. The Negro then fired. In the confusion he fled.

ATLANTA, GA., AUGUST 21, 1942.

Where Danger Lies

There is, it is self-evident, great peril to the state—any state—when the governor—any governor—has complete control of the public funds.

There is a constant danger that such a governor will so handle the state moneys that he or his friends will personally profit. In other words, that the ugly figure of graft will become a common figure in such a state's affairs.

There is a further danger that such a governor, controlling, through his grip on the public purse strings, all jobs in all state departments and divisions, will fill the state employment rosters with political supporters, irrespective of their ability to perform the tasks assigned. That he will ruthlessly discharge competent workers in order to fill their positions with incompetents to whom he is politically indebted. That he will hold the threat of discharge over all state employes to compel them to work for his re-election, to vote for him and to contribute to his campaign fund.

There is, however, a greater factor of danger involved than all these. It becomes evident only when the incumbent in the governorship seeks re-election and faces strong opposition.

That danger lies in the temptation for such a governor to use state funds and state jobs, unscrupulously, to bring about his own re-election.

A public official who has had individual, unquestioned control of, say $60,000,000 a year, is apt to become desperate and stoop to any use of the money at his command, to insure his re-election.

He may, if his sense of ethics and his conscience do not prevent, use state employes by the hundreds to go over the state working on his behalf. That they are paid with state funds but are working for him makes no difference. Does he not have the power to use state funds as he sees fit?

He may, again if he is unscrupulous, instruct those henchmen to promise anyone at all a good job on the state pay roll in payment for a vote. If he is elected, he can conveniently repudiate those promises made on his behalf. If he is defeated, he will never be brought to account.

He may use the state police powers to intimidate the fearful and the promise of financial or political largesse to tempt the purchasable.

In short, with state funds entirely within his control, there is no restraint save his own conscience on the political uses he may make of those state funds.

From such conditions dictators are created. Witness Huey Long, of Louisiana.

The dangers inherent in one-man control of so huge a sum of public money are never greater than when that man seeks to retain his financial mastery of the state by re-election to office.

A Kidnaper Escapes

Although Georgia's state prison in Tattnall county has been called the "Alcatraz of the Piney Woods," there is scant resemblance to the real Alcatraz in the Tattnall record of escapes. There seems to be little difficulty for any desperate prisoner who wants to go away from there.

Of course, while governors who release convicted criminals by the thousands are in office, probably the easiest way to escape from prison is to follow the routine pardon or parole route. Lacking success here, however, it appears not difficult to take French leave anyway.

The latest to escape is Delinsky, the man who kidnaped John K. Ottley, Atlanta banker, in 1935. Delinsky left the prison without permission of authorities on August 9, more than ten days ago and is still at large.

Delinsky was sentenced to 20 years and had served seven of them.

Rewards totaling $1,000 have been offered for capture of Delinsky. Half of this sum is offered by the state and the other $500 by the Georgia Bankers' Association.

Kidnaping is regarded as so heinous a crime that federal law makes it punishable by death. It is a serious matter when a convicted kidnaper is at large.

Successful Raid

Naturally, the Nazi propagandists talked on and on and on about the Dieppe raid being an invasion attempt that was repulsed. That was the only line open to them. They had no other recourse but to try to capitalize on it from that point of view. But the facts speak for themselves and speak otherwise. That raid was successful.

That it was successful was seen in the news dispatches with these significant words: "Nine hours after the first forces landed the re-embarkation was completed, just six minutes behind schedule." Mark well those four words—"six minutes behind schedule."

That raid on Dieppe involved at least a thousand planes, and upward of 15,000 men. Any Commando raid is timed to the minute. This one was no exception, and yet it was the biggest, most smashing of such raids to date. Then think again about those words—"six minutes behind schedule."

What does this mean, really? It means that in spite of the losses, in spite of everything the Nazis had to say about it, that raid went off as scheduled. It went off as planned. For surely, in an operation so large, six minutes off schedule does not mean the whole scheme went awry. On the contrary, it means it went off practically to perfection. The Nazi general staff knows this. So do Hitler and Goering and Goebbels.

That was no mere raid, that Dieppe affair. That was a foretaste of the shape of things to come for the Nazis. The day will come when fighting free men will go through Germany like a knife through butter. So be of good cheer.

Manners in Australia

A letter from a Melbourne architect to friends in America has appeared in a story which deserves candid comment. The letter writer declared that American boys in Australia did not leave their manners at home.

"Your men make a wonderful impression on everyone here," said the letter. "They dress well and always look perfectly groomed. Their manners are beyond reproach."

We have extolled the fighting qualities of our troops overseas. We have related their exploits of daring. We are proud to know that even away from home they remember their good manners and courtesies. Of all the salesmen we have sent abroad, these must top the list because of the fine impressions they are making.

In some circumstances, one could expect some latitude. A home-sick soldier, gnawing on a piece of old hardtack in a sand hole in the bushlands could be excused for some forgetfulness. But even so, the Yanks are maintaining their sense of proportion.

We suspect this record is due to the high standards of the Army and Navy as well as to the influence of home. We note it not only in our own troops, but in the Aussies, the Tommies, the Canadians who are stationed in our country.

Parents should take cheer in the reminder from this Melbourne architect. Their sons are doing their jobs with weapons and at the same time are gracious, friendly and gentlemanly.

Georgia Editors Say:

FOREST FIRES
(From The Fitzgerald Herald.)

Forest fires are a danger in wartime as well as peace, though not so much gets said about them this year when the fires of war take most of the front page. But they destroy the resources of the nation, and must be guarded against by all travelers and campers.

Strange how many people are just a trifle careless about the camp fire. They have built the fire for the evening meal, perhaps kept it going for warmth all through the night. Breakfast is over and the tent is down. An easy-going glance at the fire seems to indicate that it is out. So off go the campers. The bit of fire glowing underneath the surface smolders, perhaps, for hours. Then a passing breeze fans it into a small blaze. The blaze reaches out for dry grass and twigs. It follows a trail of them to the nearest conifer. It catches a bit of the turpentine-rich foliage, and—there goes the big forest fire, sweeping onward, wiping out miles of valuable timber, small animals, and perhaps farm buildings in its way.

There is the cigaret end, also, guilty of tremendous damage, and the match.

Don't think it's sissy to be fussy about fire. Tramp it out. Pour water over it. Look at it again, and still again. Be sure. Your country needs that caution.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

JAPANESE VERSION WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—After the Navy Department released its recent communique telling of the highly successful operations of our Marines in the Solomon Islands, the Japanese, through official news sources, sent a dispatch to Europe claiming a disastrous defeat of the invading American forces.

The dispatch went on to say that fighting around the Solomons had been brought to a standstill, that American naval vessels had been prevented from bringing up supplies for the "small" band of troops we succeeded in landing there, and that our forces, thus cut off, were at the complete mercy of the Japs.

"The situation of the United States troops fighting in the islands is desperate, similar to the situation of those American forces that fought on Bataan," said the Tokyo dispatch.

Several days earlier the Japanese, in their first announcement of the Solomons battle, claimed the sinking of 25 or 35 American naval vessels and transports. To hear them tell it, our fleet had suffered a complete rout.

Later the Navy Department revealed that in taking the islands we had lost only two or three ships, that only one brush had occurred between surface units of the two navies—this at night—and that the Japanese fleet was forced to take to its heels. Up until a few days ago nothing had been heard from it since.

USUAL AXIS LINE Obviously, the Japs were following the usual Axis line of telling the biggest lie the circumstances would permit.

Following the bombardment of Pearl Harbor, Tokyo proclaimed to the world that the American fleet had been destroyed. In the Coral Sea and other South Pacific battles, including those that went heavily against them, they claimed to have destroyed it all over again.

A recapitulation of German and Italian official claims would probably show that the entire British fleet has been sent to the bottom long ago. The Japs have already "sunk" ours once and now are out to do it all over again.

ON RUSSIAN FRONT It was the same psychology that prompted Hitler to announce to the world a year ago that the Russian air force had been wiped out. A few months later he solemnly assured the German people that the Soviet army had been completely disintegrated. About the same time he told the German troops, in a formal order of the day, that the war was all but over; only mopping-up operations remained.

By contrast, the Americans and British have never hesitated to admit any defeat suffered at the hands of the enemy. When the Ark Royal finally went down the British acknowledged it promptly, just as they did the Prince of Wales, the Repulse and the Hood. In most cases, they announce their losses before the enemy is given an opportunity to make a prior claim.

The only time we or the British withhold information of the kind is in such cases as the Lexington, one of our big carriers which was lost in the Coral Sea battle. The Japs themselves did not know that the Lexington had been sunk, and it was to our advantage not to tell them at the moment. As long as they thought it was loose in the South Pacific they had to keep an offsetting force at hand. Consequently, we did not reveal that the big ship had gone down until it suited our purpose to do so.

PEARL HARBOR By the same token, we have never revealed the full extent of the damage inflicted on our fleet at Pearl Harbor. The Japs didn't know, so why tell them? The Roberts report purposely confined its remarks to those vessels which were destroyed or irreparably damaged. Only a veiled reference was made to those which were damaged and temporarily put out of commission.

All of the Pearl Harbor damage has since been repaired and we now may soon get a more comprehensive report on the happenings of that fateful day.

Another striking contrast between the Axis and Allied way of doing things is found in the conservative quality of our official claims. Neither the British nor ourselves have been found guilty of exaggeration. After the Midway battle it was days before the Navy revealed the full scope of our victory. Both Admiral King and Admiral Nimitz have a reputation for leaning over backward in the interest of accuracy.

After the defeat of our forces in Burma, General Stilwell, the American military leader loaned to the Chinese, admitted dryly: "We got the hell beat out of us, but we'll be back with more men next time."

ADMIT UGLY TRUTH General Stilwell's forthwith statement epitomizes the American and British attitude on war information. We do not try to hide the ugly facts from the public, except where military necessity demands.

The Axis nations, on the other hand, make a virtue of telling the biggest lie the circumstances will warrant. That is why we allow free publication of their official communiques in our censored newspapers and why they refuse their newspapers the same privileges as regards our official statements.

MUST BE SHOCK As for the Japs, it must be a shock for them to learn what we have done to them in the Solomons, at Midway and in the Coral Sea after being solemnly informed by their governing heads that we had been knocked out of the war.

Sooner or later this policy of lying must permeate the peoples of the Axis nations to a point where they can no longer place confidence in anything their governing heads say. When that day comes the war may break up from internal distrust, if we have not won it by force of arms before then.

One of The Issues.

There is a well-known and ancient saying that "all is fair in love and war."

For the first proposition I could put up a good anti-argument. I don't think all is fair in love. In fact, I think when young people—or older people for that matter—are in love is the one time in their lives when it is most important they should be scrupulously fair and aboveboard, honest and straightforward.

As for war, it depends with whom you are fighting. When your enemies are such low thugs as the Nazis, you have to fight them with any weapon available. You don't observe Marquis of Queensberry rules in fighting a footpad who attacks you with a blackjack without warning.

However, one of the evils of modern life is based upon the apparent belief of some people that the "all's fair" philosophy can be extended to include politics. These are the type who stoop to any means they think will aid in defeating an opponent and, if caught in their trickery, attempt to laugh it off with the phrase, "oh, well, that's politics."

Time For Honesty.

It has always seemed to me that in the conduct of our public affairs it is more important that we observe all those codes of honor and decency which good men the world over observe, whether or not they are written into the statute books.

And there is no more important phase of public affairs than the conduct of campaigns for election to important public offices.

If a candidate for office, and his supporters, conduct their campaign through appeals to prejudice, to bigotry and to ignorance, it is but reasonable to suppose that candidate, if successful, will carry the same methods into the conduct of the office.

On the other hand, if a candidate presents a sensible, honest and decent platform, it is reasonable to presume he will conduct the office, after he is elected, in sensible, honest and decent manner.

It seems to me we are having a vivid demonstration of these modes of conducting a political campaign right now in Georgia.

On the One Hand.

On the one hand we have Ellis Arnall, whose proposals for the future of Georgia, as contained in his platform, are intelligent, fair and honest. And he has presented that platform in a thoroughly straightforward, decent way. He has, likewise, refrained from personalities in his speeches, criticizing only the acts of his opponent and not going outside the official record to do it.

Those Georgians who hope for the day when this state shall redeem itself from the unsavory repute it has gained during the present governor's administration have good reason to believe such redemption can come under Arnall's administration.

On the Other Hand.

On the other hand, we have a campaign that deliberately seeks to appeal to prejudice and hypocrisy.

We have a candidate who has injured the state university more than it has hitherto been injured in its entire history. And the injury was perpetrated solely in the desire to create a false issue which might garner a few votes.

(Don't let them tell you it all arises out of the "firing of a few teachers." It is not the firing of Cocking, Pittman or the others that is the issue. It is the unscrupulous, unfair, baseless manner of that firing that is the issue.)

We have a candidate whose henchmen do not hesitate to resort to violence if they think they can thereby aid their candidate. Even stooping to the use of gas!

We have a candidate who raises that ancient cry of the exposed demagogue, "them newspapers are liars!"

We have a candidate who, afraid to face the real issues, devotes 98 per cent of his speaking time to irrational and unfounded attacks on anyone and everyone except his opponent. We have a candidate who deliberately and maliciously tries to twist the words of better men than he is to mean something contrary to what they do mean.

We have a candidate who permits his henchmen to trick, coerce or persuade harmless old men into signing affidavits about incidents which did not take place.

We have a candidate who does not hesitate to coerce state employes, paid by state money, into campaigning for him and working for him.

In short we have Gene Talmadge, the would-be dictator of Georgia.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today.

From the news columns of Tuesday, August 21, 1917:

"Police officers are being greatly hampered in enforcing the prohibition law by the attitude said to be taken by the municipal court, in refusing to issue search warrants for the discovery of liquor, according to Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford."

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Chicago Painters NEW YORK, Aug. 20. A little while ago, as you may remember, I was marveling at the gall or the stupidity of Brother Will Green and the executive council of the AFL in selecting as the site for important deliberations the city of Chicago, which is the Hell's Half-Acre of the union racket, the center of the foulest and most arrogant corruption in their entire domain. By way of proving up, and lest it be said again that I was dealing in generalities and in half-truths, I gave some biographical data from the AFL Chicago rogues' gallery, but clean forgot to mention the Chicago painters. It was a unioneer of the Chicago painters, incidentally, who went about the horse and dog tracks and the gambling joints of Miami a few winters ago in the relaxing season of those whom Edgar Hoover calls the criminal scum, cashing checks drawn on the sick benefit fund of his treasury, but that I mention merely as reminiscence and to report that, of course, nothing ever was done to him.

This little survey of the affairs of the painters, which I am about to present, is not my own writing, but a lift from the editorial columns of the Chicago Daily News, which is Frank Knox's paper and, thus, I assure you, free of the bias and labor hatred of which I am so often accused, and to my anguish, by Brother Green.

"Painted In Blood" Under the title of "Painted in Blood," the Daily News opionates and reports as follows:

"Throughout the country, various union labor groups are organizing, circulating petitions and writing letters to the editors of various newspapers, including the Daily News. The tenor of their efforts is summarized in the ultimatum: 'You must throw Westbrook Pegler and his foul libels on the labor movement out of your newspaper.'

"Pegler, it is alleged, is 'unfair to organized labor' because he has exposed crooks, ex-convicts and racketeers who are at the head of some union groups.

"Early yesterday morning," (meaning on July 17 and before Brother Green and his council met in Chicago) "Mrs. Charles Youngblood, wife of a business agent of a Chicago local of the Painters' union, was shot and killed in her home. Her husband, an ex-convict, was seriously wounded. Arthur Wallace, secretary-treasurer of the union, was found critically wounded on the lawn of a hospital.

"Many Chicagoans, reading this story in their newspapers, must have been struck with the thought: 'This is where I came in.' They were right.

"On the night of March 16, 1939, this same Charles Youngblood and the same Mrs. Youngblood were shot in front of their home. But both recovered.

"And on the nighrt of January 3, 1936, Mrs. Elsie Henneman was shot and killed by assassins who shot at her husband, George, one of the bosses in this same painters' union.

Other Homicides "Farther back, on February 24, 1931, Frank Carr, the financial secretary of the painters' union, was shot to death. Just eight years ago, on July 19, 1934, Michael (Bubs) Quinlan was shot to death in a row over affairs of the painters' union. A month later, Roy Thompson, business agent for the union, was shot to death. On July 25, 1937, Robert A. Shields, financial secretary of the union, was shot to death. On August 18, 1938, James Duncan, known as 'Czar' of the union, was shot to death. On August 17, 1940, William Schaaf, former business agent for the union, was shot to death.

"So union labor organizations throughout the country organize to browbeat Pegler and newspapers who print his column because, as the agitators allege, Pegler paints an unfair picture of some labor unions.

"Some people, it would appear, prefer to have their painting done by union painters. True, the union painters have done a far better job than Pegler has done. He did his delineation with ink. Theirs is done with blood."

Eight Murdered That means, let me see, one, two, three, a total of eight persons, including two women, murdered in the operation of the democratic process in this bargaining agency in 11 years and I gather from the Chicago Sun's subsequent remark that Wallace had been "fatally wounded," that he, too, died, bringing the score to nine dead. In addition, there was the earlier wounding of both Youngbloods and the plunking of the husband in the present case. Mr. Youngblood studied collective bargaining while serving a prison term for robbery and took post-graduate work as a parole violator and is a worthy colleague of Umbrella Mike Boyle, the boss crook of the Chicago electricians, and others heretofore eulogized in these intermittent flatteries.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

"NOT A DRUM WAS HEARD—" I read the story about the funeral of a little girl.

It was held in Bath, England. The Romans had a town there centuries ago. It is old and crowded.

The Germans bombed it.

The little child was wounded. It was not possible to identify her parents among the many mutilated bodies.

A few days later the small girl died.

No one attended her funeral. No one knew who she was.

There were many to be buried. She was just one of the casualties.

A minister found time to suggest, after his prayer, that the statues honoring the dead of this war should be placed above the graves of unknown children, or in their memory.

The Unknown Child . . .

You read of children starving in Greece and Poland. You see pictures of them arriving on refugee ships. You read of the children of Spain, starved and living like animals as they did in Russia in the first year or so after the revolution. You read of them playing between bombings.

You are beginning to see pictures of nursery schools for children whose mothers work in defense plants.

If you have thought about it at all you must know that, as the war goes on, there will be less and less opportunity for home direction for many, many children. Nurseries, nurses, relatives, industrial plant day nurseries—all these will have to do the job for thousands of children.

THE SCHOOLS Perhaps the biggest job will have to be done by the schools.

They will have, for a full day, the children who are beginning to think and learn, whose minds are beginning to develop.

That brings me to another point.

Hundreds of teachers are leaving their profession and going into other jobs.

They go, in most cases, with regret.

They go, not merely because they get more money, but because they are weary, especially in most southern states, of their profession being underpaid and made a political football.

Very few teachers make, in Georgia, as much as $100 per month. That is $900 per year for teachers. Many make less.

We are going to have left some good teachers and a great many who can't get any other job.

It is tragic that in time of war, when thousands of our children must depend more than ever on schools, that in Georgia the school system should be victimized and wrecked for political advancement.

There is no need to deceive ourselves or heed the pleasant fiction that everything is going to be all right. It isn't.

There is no need to listen to the soothing promises that accrediting agencies do not mean anything and that Georgia will do her own accrediting.

It is something to think about.

It is serious business at any time. Now, at least, we ought to see that we cannot ignore what we know to be right. Let's not deceive ourselves.

AND ANOTHER THING I read a poem a night ago. It was written during the first World War by a poet named W. B. Yeats. He wrote about the Kaiser, and his philosophy of brute force.

Yeats thought of that sort of thinking as representing a beast, the anti-Christ, seeking to usurp the teachings and the place of the Master. He wrote:

"And what rough beast, its hour come round at last,
Slouches toward Bethlehem to be born?"

There is an effort going on now to make beasts of us; to make us hate and fear another people in our midst. It is cowardly, shameful and false. Don't let them do it to you.

The Governor said, a few weeks ago, that any man who stirred up racial passions in the state was a hypocrite hiding under a shadow for the purpose of stealing.

In the silent reaches of the night those words must plague him now that he is preaching it.

The persons about him, at least four with unsavory records, are saying they will create some "nigger" trouble if they have to frame it or buy it.

Don't let them make a beast out of your mind.

This is 1942. We can sove any problem we have with common sense and work.

Don't let them fool you with their tricks.

This is a time when you've got to decide about your state's future, about its schools, about decency and dignity in government.

Hold fast to that idea.

They are tired. Their traveling applause is tired. Their speaker is tired. They are tired horses pulling a load of falsehood and that always is heavy.

Privates Can't Keep the Plan Secret if the General Tells Reporters

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Cartoons in the public prints and signs in shops and offices urge people to watch their tongues lest they unwittingly give away military secrets, but this campaign, like so many other war efforts, defeats itself by spending its energy in the wrong place.

The careless speech that injures our cause by giving away important secrets is not that of little people, but that of men in high place who know the plans of our government.

More than once, since the first of the year, the secret plans of our military leaders have been exposed and foiled by speech-making officials who knew too much and were unworthy of trust.

These are not the only offenders. Radio commentators, columnists and magazine editors serve the enemy well by revealing all they know, or by using their knowledge as the basis for speculations that serve the enemy as well as facts. The little each reveals may seem unimportant, yet it fits neatly into a puzzle picture and helps to complete a pattern that tells the whole story.

What is the explanation of this unwitting treason? Is it professional pride in doing a good job of reporting? Is it the vanity that delights in showing off knowledge? Certainly it is no service to the people, for those who have understanding resent it. All of them would rather be left in the dark than to have a single secret revealed to the enemy. And since the people don't demand this information, what earthly excuse is there for making it public?

Why do congressmen and important public servants tell all they know? Is it an effort to show their importance as "insiders?" Or do they display the little they know in hope of seeming to know much? Or is it a form of unacknowledged blackmail—betraying a trust under pledge of anonymity in hope of obtaining a "good press" as reward? Is it simply the American mania for publicity? Or is it a blind selfishness that indifferently sacrifices the nation's welfare for a brief personal advantage?

Whatever the explanation, the thing itself is evil. People have a right to all war information that will not benefit the enemy. It is their right to be protected from a censorship that would conceal blunders and defeats and disasters.

But most of all they have the right to be protected against betrayal, either by the disloyal or by well-meaning officials who have not learned to keep their mouths shut.

Please, Mister, Asks Mr. Reeves, Drop Some Gasoline

They've planned another black-out . . . .
We'll hear the sirens' cry—
And planes, high in the heavens,
Will speedily go by.

The lights in every household,
Dimmed in that dreadful hour . . .
We're told the planes will pelt us
With little bags of flour.

We have a bit of flour
And hope it comes to pass
They'll drop a bag of sugar
And a demijohn of gas.

Hot Water Rationed

Due to scarcity of fuel Mayor LaGuardia, of New York, has issued an edict that hot water in apartment houses is to be rationed. It will be supplied between 6:30 and 9 a. m. and between 5 and 8 p. m. Which is another good reason for not living in New York.

Having resided in New York for but brief periods owing to tips, which invariably cut a two weeks' vacation to nine days unless you're bold enough to wire the boss for funds, I am unfamiliar with the apartment house situation. But I wonder how the Little Flower is going to enforce his restrictions.

If hot water were furnished by a central source, as the power company provides steam heat for Atlanta midtown buildings, the problem would be simple.

But who is going to tell the janitor of an apartment house with its own heating system when he can provide hot water and when not? And make it stick?

Perhaps it will not be as tough on New York apartment dwellers as one might think. A daughter who lives in one is accustomed to being rationed on hot water in winter because the janitor has gone to a lodge meeting of elsewhere. No hot water also means no heat. There are times in Manhattan, I have been told, when tenants of swank apartments assembled the neighbors, all bringing blankets, and tried to sleep eight in a bed to avoid freezing.

That may apply also in Atlanta.

But perhaps it will be good for the tenants' souls. Perhaps it will make them realize a war is on.

My daughter, thanks to a hard-working daddy, was accustomed to having hot water on tap at all hours. And the amount of hot water a large family can consume is something runs into astronomical figures.

Boyhood Baths

But there should be no serious suffering. Myself, as a youth, was accustomed to heat a kettle of water on a wood stove on Saturday nights, pour it into wooden tub, add cold water from the well, and perform my sketchy ablutions. It is true that next morning before Sunday school my mother would dip a wash rag into what was left over from the coffee hot water and finish up my ears. On week days I would—under orders—wash my feet in a tub in the back yard. In cold water. Not for the sake of my health, but to protect the sheets.

The hot water problem in my house is not critical. An automatic gas water heater in the basement takes care of that and I never know it is there except when the monthly bill arrives.

But there are moments.

Having a morning newspaperman's privilege of getting down late, I enjoy reading the paper and the morning mail, romping with the dog and trying to steal a second cup of coffee from the kitchen when nobody is looking.

After so long a time I reluctantly decide it is time to go to my daily toil, so I wend my way to the shower in the downstairs bath.

Simultaneous

It'll happe every time. Just at that moment my wife or some feminine house guest will decide to take a tub, upstairs. The upstairs tub evidently was installed by a giant. You could conduct a swimming class in it. That takes a lot of hot water.

Furthermore, the maid and laundress arrives (that's right, she is singular. I'll say she is) and starts in either to wash the dishes in the sink or start the electric laundry in the basement.

I turn on the shower downstairs, get thoroughly wet and proceed to lather myself in soap guaranteed to make friends and build up acquaintanceship. Upstairs or downstairs or in the basement somebody is fooling with faucets.

Under the shower, carefully adjusted, I am happy. For two seconds. Suddenly I leap from the tub, sweeping the curtain aside or diving through it. Somebody has turned off the cold and I get all the hot. I am scalded and ready for having my feathers picked off. Or I find myself subjected to a cold shower—and Atlanta water is cold, even in August—and I don't like that, either.

When I protest I am coldly informed that I shouldn't loaf around the house until well regulated household affairs must go on. That when I arise—which usually is early—I should take my shower and not disrup' the routine. When did I ever disrupt a routine! It's the routine that disrupts me.

The Pulse of the Public

The Constitution invites expression of opinion by its readers. This column is open for that purpose. All communications must be signed and all are subject to editing for conservation of space. Brevity makes argument effective and impels attention.

ENTIRE DEPARTMENT LEAVES UNIVERSITY.

Editor, Constitution: There are two phases in the wrecking of the Georgia University System by Talmadge politics which have not been called to the attention of the public so far.

For the past 19 years a group of Georgia educators have been trying to get some educational institution in Georgia to offer the Doctor of Philosophy degree. This program was successfully begun at the University of Georgia under the capable administration of Dr. Cocking. The wrecking program of Talmadgeism has destroyed this, and, now, all students must go out of the state to complete their studies for a Doctor of Philosophy degree.

The second phase is that of the training of vocational industrial arts teachers. This program was satisfactorily begun under the leadership of Dr. Pittman at Statesboro. In consequence of Talmadge politics, Dr. London and his able assistants in this department have gone to the University of Missouri as instructors, leaving Georgia with no satisfactory training school for industrial arts teachers. Now, Georgia must depend on other states to train her industrial arts teachers, due to the wrecking of the program. T. P. FISKE.

HOUSE BILL NO. 3 DIES NEXT DECEMBER 31.

Editor, Constitution: Ralph McGill's article of August 20 contained this statement in reference to House Bill No. 1: "Your vote means nothing much as long as this bill is a law."

By reference to the act of the general assembly, 1941, under head "appropriations," you will see that this law is No. 3, and by the terms of its enactment expires December 31, 1942. So that a vote now may aid the re-enactment of this law after its natural death December 31.

The elecion of Ellis Arnall will defeat any effort to revise this unconstitutional law.

A recent statement from the state auditor urged the enactment of a law similar to bill No. 1, to make that law permanent; and advises that it should be done by the next legislature in 1943.

If this law giving dictatorial powers to the governor of Georgia is a good law, why did the legislature limit its life to the life of the present administration?

Good Morning

By LOUIE D NEWTON

THE COUNTRY CHURCH.

Born and raised in one of the oldest rural counties in Georgia—too far from the railroad to hear the train whistle except on calm afternoons — I naturally am deeply interested in any and all the agencies and institutions that contribute to the enrichment of the rural life of my state. And chief among these institutions, after the home itself, is the church—the country church. I didn't know there was any sort of church except a country church until I was a good size boy. And I realize more and more every day of my life that the city churches would be in a bad way right now were it not for the country churches that keep feeding into the cities and into the city churches so many choice young people.

Very well. When anyone starts talking about the country church, he always has my attention, especially if he has anything to say. And I found in last week's Christian Index an article by the Rev. Robert W. Haynie, pastor of one of the oldest country churches in the state, old Penfield, in Greene county, in which he really does say some things, and I am impressed that they are vital observations of a man who knows what he is talking about. Let me quote one paragraph:

"Three things have almost destroyed church life in rural areas: First, consolidation of schools; second, the boll weevil; third, certain types of politicians who for 50 years have arraigned country against town and mass against class."

Mr. Haynie goes on to explain what he means by each of these three statements. I was somewhat surprised by the statement that the consolidation of schools had done so much harm to the average community, specially the church. He says:

"As to the consolidation movement, its proponents made a clean sweep of the job. All the school houses in the country have fallen into decay or been converted into other uses and it would break the state to go back to the old system. We have it and can't get rid of it. We are like the man who had hold of an electric shocking machine. We can't turn loose. When the schoolhouse was torn down in the rural sections, the heart of the civilization in rural areas was broken. Consolidation has its strong points, but nothing will ever compensate for the destruction of rural life which it wrought.

"The preacher who may expect the greatest results from his life work and the greatest glory in his achievements will come fresh from the halls of the college and seminary and bring his bride from the halls of some college and settle in the rural districts, live, it may be, in an unpainted house, cultivate a garden and some patches, raise some pigs and milk some cows and grow some chickens and share the experiences of his flock, and be satisfied with a cash income of $25 or $30 a month. The average farmer is usually a man of pretty good, sound sense and his wife is a pillar of granite in the social and religious life of the country side. To help him, you must know his problems and share his burdens . . ."

Opportunity Unit Sets Registration

Registration for home economics, beauty culture and sewing classes at the Atlanta Opportunity School, 417 Piedmont avenue, N. E., will begin Monday, and entrance examinations in commercial training for persons 18 years old or over, without a senior high school diploma, will be given at 9 o'clock and 2 o'clock Tuesday and Wednesday.

Other registration begins September 2 from 1 to 4 o'clock, and continues through September 4 from 10 to 4 o'clock.

The school, financed by city, state and federal government, offers courses in commerce, homemaking, grammar, skilled workmanship, lip-reading for the deaf, citizenship. Instruction hours are suited to workers.

The Tide is Rising
Georgia WILL be Redeemed
Democracy WILL be Preserved

Ellis Arnall Leads The Fight
• DECENCY!
• DIGNITY!
• DEMOCRACY!

Never before in the history of Georgia has there been such an overwhelming sweep of public sentiment against dictatorship as is being shown in the present campaign for Governor.

The farmers, merchants, business men, laboring men, newspaper editors, women, preachers, students . . . all are saying with an unanimous voice that GEORGIA WILL BE REDEEMED!

The Dictator and his Palace Guard are desperate. They see the rising tide of revolt against their rule-or-ruin tactics. They see the free press of Georgia nearly 10 to 1 against them. They see an ever increasing number of former supporters patriotically rallying to the cause of decency and democracy championed by Ellis Arnall. They see them leaving their discredited administration.

Ellis Arnall in his campaign for Governor welcomes the support of every man and woman who loves Georgia. He invites the help of all citizens, regardless of past political affiliation. This crusade to redeem Georgia is bigger than any man. The future of our state is at stake.

The real issue is democracy or dictatorship for Georgia.

The tide is rising . . . and cannot be turned back. Georgia will be redeemed.

Vote for Ellis Arnall for Governor on September 9th, help to redeem Georgia from political dictatorship.

Service Men's New Recreation Center To Open

Outdoor Area in Decatur Will Provide Variety of Sports.

Augmenting the service men's center recently established, the Decatur recreation board is opening at 3 o'clock this afternoon a new outdoor recreation area at the Cooper estate, on Sycamore street, in Decatur.

Facilities for miniature golf, shuffle board, horseshoes, badminton, ping pong, and a grill for outdoor suppers have been set up, open to all Decatur citizens, as well as service men stationed in DeKalb county. All entertainment is free, except for a small fee charged civilians to play golf. Hours are from 3 to 10:30 o'clock.

On Saturday night the Girls' Service Clubs of Decatur and the Eastern Star will co-sponsor a party at the Cooper estate for patients at Lawson General hospital.

Tobacco Crop Brings Total Of $18,339,825

Income This Year Already Exceeds 1941 Crop by $7,000,000.

Georgia's tobacco crop already has returned more than $7,000,000 more than it did a year ago, final figures on the third week's sales showed yesterday.

The State Department of Agriculture listed sales at Georgia's 15 markets for last week as 13,197,723 pounds. This brought $3,420,760.73, an average of 25.91 cents a pound.

This increased the total pounds this year to 58,920,742 and the cash return to $18,339,825.

Some markets remained open part of this week and have not yet reported.

Last year, 55,362,839 pounds were sold on Georgia markets for $11,286,962.26.

Final figures for the third week's sales on markets previously unreported follow:

Market—	Pounds	Value	Aver.
Douglas	1,558,276	$421,435.63	27.04
Habira	397,328	93,895.45	23.63

'Wings for the Eagle' and 'Pied Piper' Begin Run.

Another war picture, this time a story of how a group of French children flee war-torn France under the watchful eye of an old Englishman, Twentieth Century-Fox's screen adaptation of the Nevil Shute novel, "The Pied Piper," opens at the Roxy theater today.

Monty Woolley and Roddy McDowall, juvenile star of "How Green Was My Valley," are the stars. Anne Baxter plays an important supporting role.

Woolley plays the role of an aged Englishman, who after the fall of France guides a ragged entourage of refugee children past the Nazi army and Gestapo. Miss Baxter plays the role of the daughter of a French colonel who aids Woolley and the children. Young McDowall is one of the refugee children.

"Wings for the Eagle," which begins a hold-over engagement at the Capitol theater today, is a story of the men and women who turn out the mass of military planes which are being used to smash the Axis.

With Ann Sheridan and Dennis Morgan in the romantic lead, the picture is packed with action, drama and excitement. The film is set for the most part in the giant Lockheed aircraft plant. Ann and Dennis play the roles of two youngsters whose carefree attitude is changed after Pearl Harbor.

Colonel Ochs Takes Command at Stewart

CAMP STEWART, Ga., Aug. 20. — (AP) — Colonel William V. Ochs has assumed duties as commanding officer of Camp Stewart, post headquarters has announced.

Brigadier General Earl H. Metzger, continues as commanding general of the antiaircraft training center, relinquishing to Colonel Ochs responsibility for all administrative details. The new setup will permit the commanding general to devote full time to turning out antiaircraft tactical units.

Colonel Ochs, formerly provost marshal of the camp, came to Stewart in June, 1941. A former calvaryman, he began his Army career as an enlisted man in 1926.

Private Cleared Of Blame in Car Collision

M. E. Black, of Lawson Hospital, Exonerated After Testimony.

Private Marion E. Black, of the Quartermaster Division of the Lawson General hospital, yesterday stood exonerated of all blame in connection with a collision between a government-owned car he was driving and that of James E. Roach, a citizen, who was fined $7 for violation of municipal traffic ordinances.

Judge Luke S. Arnold, of the traffic court, said witnesses blamed Roach for the accident, which occurred at Glenn and West Whitehall streets.

Interest in the case was centered on a request by Captain H. G. Bently, Black's commanding officer, that the case against Black be dropped and that he be turned over to Army officials. Arnold said officers and men at the hospital must answer summonses to the recorders' court. Officials at the hospital, who declined to be identified, yesterday said they had no other idea than having their men answer such summonses, but that in minor cases, the Army ordinarily is given jurisdiction to prevent disruption of services of men involved.

Cauliflower is coming into the market now at 15 cents a pound and big green cabbage is there at around three or four cents a pound. Among the luxury foods, avocadoes are getting a little cheaper, two for 15 cents practically everywhere this weekend.

Widener Collection Offered to Gallery

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told congress today that Joseph Widener, of Philadelphia, had offered the renowned Widener art collection to the National Gallery of Art in Washington.

In a message to congress, Mr. Roosevelt asked that it appropriate $195,000 to meet a Pennsylvania state tax which would be imposed on the transfer.

Mr. Roosevelt said the collection was probably "the greatest private art collection in existence today." He informed congress that the Treasury had appraised the present value at about $3,900,000, although the actual cost to the Wideners was several times that sum.

Canadians Led Frontal Assault Through Dieppe

Hand Grenades Best Weapons; Navy, Air Force Highly Lauded

By ROSS MUNRO.
Canadian Press War Correspondent.

WITH THE CANADIAN COMMANDO RAIDING FORCE, Aug. 19.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Units of two infantry regiments, the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry and the Essex Scottish, of Windsor, Ont., with a Calgary tank regiment, carried the main attack of the Dieppe raid right into the town itself and battled the Germans through the streets to capture the main portions of the town.

After a tremendous naval bombardment and aerial bombing of the promenade area by the sea, these units landed on the beach in front of Dieppe and stormed the Nazi-held buildings, barricades and strong points.

In flank attacks, units of the South Saskatchewan regiment and the Cameron Highlanders from Winnipeg landed at Pourville, two miles west of Dieppe, and the Royal regiment from Toronto went in at Puit, one mile east of the port.

Underlying Object Achieved.

Units of Les Fusiliers Mont Royal, a French-Canadian battalion, served as floating reserves and finally were sent into Dieppe.

By this operation the Canadians carried out the underlying object of the raid, which was to test the German defenses on the coast and to obtain information about them.

Dieppe was left with many parts of the town burning and as the raid fleet sailed for England I could see from the vessel which I occupied a pall of smoke hanging over the port.

Several strong gun positions and batteries of coastal artillery were destroyed, a radio direction-finding station was smashed and hundreds of Germans were killed—the Nazis themselves admitted to 400 dead and wounded. The Canadians also brought back a number of German prisoners.

A small group of United States Rangers was included in the force, attached to various regiments. They landed and fought with combat troops. Several of them engaged in the bitter action during the landings and in subsequent engagements on shore.

Just how many Rangers were involved was not disclosed. Right by my side, a young American sergeant, Ken Kenyon, of Minneapolis, knocked off a German sharpshooter from a window of a house with a deadeye shot. This came during the action when the landing force was meeting heavy opposition and terrific fire from machinegun nests and German small arms.

British Commandos operated with the force at Varengeville, five miles west of Dieppe, a group led by Lord Lovat captured and destroyed a battery of six 6-inch howitzers which were sighted on the main beach at Dieppe.

Strong Defenses Found.

Eight miles west of the big target another Commando unit took out some more coastal guns and a part of Royal Marine Commandos were landed at Dieppe as reserves.

The defenses at the channel port were strong and at vulnerable points there was evidence that they had been bolstered recently.

The Canadian shock troops had a rough time of it at several points and the losses probably will not be small.

This is really just a story of assault operations but there was more to it than that.

Throughout the eight to nine hours' smash at Dieppe and surrounding strong points behind a spearhead of tanks, Canadian, British and U. S. pilots battled overhead in the greatest air combats since the days of the Battle of Britain.

Two Commando units assigned to destroy the coastal guns, which if they had been firing could have blocked the landing at Dieppe, stole over the English channel and attacked in the early hours of Wednesday morning.

Lovat's Commandos killed the gun crew with bayonets and destroyed the six howitzers.

While these preliminary attacks were being made the main raid force under Major General J. H. Roberts was crossing the channel. The flotilla included a large number of ships of all types, including a giant tank landing craft which looked like a Great Lakes oil freighter. These "TLC's" were used for the first time to transport tanks at sea on combined operations.

Trained Five Weeks.

Destroyers, motor launches and motor gunboats screened the assault craft during the whole voyage.

This force was trained for five weeks last June and early July on combined operations of this type and at that time carried out the greatest raid and invasion maneuvers ever held.

It was during this training that the Calgary Regiment became Canada's first sea-going tank unit. The drivers learned to move the giant tanks up and down the ramp that drops on landing beaches and practiced for weeks on amphibious tank operations.

Now, on a warm August night with the sky sparkling with stars and the channel on its best behavior, these Canadian fighting men were on their way to take part in their first real action of the war.

Troops Quiet, Confident.

On the ships as they sailed through the night the troops were quietly confident about the job dead ahead. They knew Dieppe was a defense stronghold, an "E-boat" base noted for its antiaircraft fire. There was no bravado or boasting on the troop decks. The men spent the last hours smoking, writing letters home to their women folk and putting the finishing touches to arms and equipment. A dice game whiled away time on one ship.

The German "E-boats" ventured from their coastal lairs to enliven the voyages by attacking the left flank of the flotilla which included units of the royal regiment. Lurid flares and vari-colored tracer bullets streaked from the "E-boat" guns toward the dim shapes of the craft carrying the Canadians.

Armor Plating Peppered.

Some peppered the armor plating harmlessly and others flashed away wide. For half an hour the Nazi vessels dodged about the channel like broken-field runners and finally a couple of British destroyers fired salvos of guns and sent them scurrying off.

As the zero hour for the assault approached, British bombers droned high overhead to soften up Dieppe with loads of high explosives. Encouraging crumps and flashes could be seen in the south as the flotilla pushed on.

At 5 a. m. units of the South Saskatchewan Regiment eased into Pourville beach and landed silently in the dark without opposition. They got right into Pourville, a former health resort, before the Nazi sentries heard them.

An alarm was given and the westerners skirmished with the Germans, fought a duel with a fortified position that gave trouble from a hilltop, and battled up the valley of the River Scie for several hours.

Youthful Colonel Heroic.

The bravery of the youthful colonel of the regiment, who comes from Vancouver, was the talk of every man who saw him in action. He fought with every infantry weapon, led his men with cool courage and didn't give a thought to danger.

The vital action switched from Pourville to Dieppe, where our destroyers came in to within 200 yards of shore and fired point-blank at buildings and targets along the front, preparing the way for the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry and the Essex Scottish.

It was nearly dawn now and the fighter planes came in on their low-flying "beat up" of the town. They whistled over the promenade, with flak streaking past them, and fired their cannon shells into the buildings occupied by the Germans.

The Nazi machinegunners got down to business as they spotted the landing craft making for the broad beach.

Tanks Reach Beach.

Bren gunners on the approaching vessels exchanged shots with pillboxes and then the infantry hit the shore and flooded over the beach.

Royal Canadian engineers came with them to carry out demolitions and smash tank barriers barring the way into Dieppe's main streets.

The Calgary regiment's tanks rumbled onto the beach and with heavy tank guns crashed shells into any handy target where Germans were located.

At the west end of the promenade at Dieppe is a casino taken over by the Nazis. Units of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry attacked it, and after a sharp engagement occupied it. But even then it took some time to clean up snipers in the building.

"You would think everything was fine and dandy and then you would hear a 'rat-tat-tat' down the hall from a machinegun," said one Hamilton soldier as he counted off his Nazi score on his fingers.

Heavy Street Fighting.

The Hamilton unit then pushed into the town and went through some of the heaviest street fighting of the raid.

Street fighting had been a fundamental part of the Canadians' combined operations training and it served them in good stead in the dark and dingy streets of Dieppe.

There were a number of French women and children in the town as well as male civilians. The Royal Hamiltons, who were in contact with them, said they followed fairly consistently the advice of the British government not to participate in the raid.

The Hamilton men saw at first hand the havoc created in the port by naval gunners and aircraft. They said several large hotels had been smashed up. The police station, which was headquarters for the German Gestapo, had been hit by naval gunners.

These shore fighters went without flinching through some of the toughest fighting and kept singing the praises of the other services.

"Air Force Marvelous."

"The Navy and the Air Force are marvelous," said one soldier on the way home. "We could not have got along without them. Such shooting and such bombing!"

The Royal Hamiltons pushed inland more than a mile beyond the southern outskirts of Dieppe and then fought a stiff rear guard action as they withdrew to the beach re-embarkation points, pestered by snipers plugging at them from top windows.

Units of the Essex Scottish landed on the left flank of the Hamiltons on the main beach, and after attacking across the open promenade, where they lost a few men, they worked through buildings and warehouses alongside the harbor. The pillboxes stopped them for a while, but they fanned out pretty well through the central section of the port. There were many grim street fights.

Barriers Broken.

Concrete barriers blocking the roads to the center of Dieppe from the promenade proved temporary obstacles for the Canadian tanks, but between the shellfire from the sea and the demolitions by the engineers, they finally broke through, thundered around the Dieppe streets and roamed into the open country beyond, on the lookout for any enemy armored forces which might have been on the scene.

The parties that looked after the organization on the main landing ground had to endure bombing by German aircraft as well as intermittent shelling by German field guns inland.

The battle never let up. The Navy would bombard the targets selected by the Army ashore. Tanks kept firing big shells. Aircraft, friendly and enemy, crowded the skies. Skirmishes and battles involving several companies at one time shook the town with fire from mortars, Bren and tommy guns.

Grenades Favorite Weapons.

Grenades were favorite killing missiles.

When the re-embarkation was ordered, the attack units marshalled their scattered forces and withdrew to the water, keeping off the Germans with rear-guard action.

One of the finest of these was fought by the South Saskatchewan Regiment.

They had been held up for several hours north of Pourville and then they located firmly on high ground.

From here they withdrew to the boats without the loss of a man.

"We had no casualties on that return trip because they're a bunch of guys with a lot of guts and good management," said a sergeant.

Moscow Press Features Raid On Dieppe For Eager Readers

MOSCOW, Aug. 20.—(AP)—News of the Allied raid on Dieppe, quickening Soviet hopes of a second front in western Europe, was displayed prominently in the Moscow press.

British and American communiques on the action were printed at the top of foreign-news pages.

There was no official comment immediately, but the population read the reports eagerly.

The papers also published British and American reaction on Prime Minister Churchill's meeting with Joseph Stalin, emphasizing that results of these talks would soon be apparent.

The Washington Post was quoted as saying, "A strategic diversion in the west" would be the best way to aid Russia.

More than 300 naval vessels were under construction recently in India.

Workers in the peat bogs of Eire are protesting against piece-work pay.

AMERICUS, Ga., Aug. 20.—In an effort to boost the sale of war bonds for Sumter county, rural mail carriers out of Americus will take applications for the bonds, J. T. Warren, chairman of the war bond campaign here, announces.

First Communique on Dieppe

ing the land engagement and to naval craft, there in fact developed one of the greatest air battles of the war.

"Although this air battle had not been planned as one of the objectives of the operation the Germans were forced to call up aircraft reinforcements from all parts of occupied France, Holland and Belgium. Many of these enemy aircraft were engaged before they ever reached the area of operations, large formations being broken up and dispersed, particularly over the mouth of the Somme.

"During the engagement 92 German aircraft are officially known to have been destroyed and about twice that number have probably been destroyed or damaged.

"Throughout the operation the naval forces were under heavy air attack and land artillery bombardment. Despite this heavy attack our only naval losses were a fairly large number of landing craft, which was to be expected in an operation of this nature, and one destroyer, H. M. S. Berkeley (Lieutenant J. J. Yorke), which was so seriously damaged that she had to be sunk by our own forces. The majority of the ship's company were known to have been saved.

"Before the landing operation began a chance encounter with an escort of an enemy convoy by one of our groups of landing craft resulted in the destruction of a German armed trawler and the setting on fire of another. This chance engagement only threw out of time the schedule of this particular landing party 2 0minutes.

"The naval force which included a Polish destroyer and some fighting French Chasseurs was under command of Captain J. Hughes-Hallett, R. N., and the military force was under Major General J. H. Roberts, M. C., and the Air Force was under Air Marshal T. L. Leigh-Mallory, C. B., D. S. O.

"The military forces were drawn from the following units of the Canadian Army, the Royal Regiment of Canada, Royal Hamilton Light Artillery, Essex Scottish Regiment, Camerons of Canada, Fusiliers Mount Royal, South Saskatchewan Regiment, 14th Canadian Army Tank Battalion.

"In addition the following special brigade troops took part, Nos. 3 and 4 Commando, Royal Marine 'A' Commando, a detachment from the United States Ranger Battalion, and a small contingent from the Inter-Allied Commando (No. 10)."

FDR Orders Cable Plant Returned To Private Control

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The General Cable Corporation plant at Bayonne, N. J., returned to private management yesterday after less than a week's operation under Navy direction.

President Roosevelt ordered the change on recommendation of the Navy itself after employes who struck last week pledged no further work stoppages for any reason, whether the Navy or the corporation managed the plant. They had struck because the War Labor Board denied them a pay raise.

Secretary Knox, in a statement announcing the Navy's withdrawal, expressed the hope that "this incident will bring home to war workers everywhere the necessity for discipline and order in the face of the enemy and recognition that the War Labor Board is the umpire in industrial disputes."

He added that the company had not been penalized in any way by government seizure "and has extended to Admiral Bowen every assistance during his management."

At Louisville, Ky., CIO leaders claimed a majority of the Reynolds Metals Company employes here still were absent from their jobs yesterday, but company and AFL officials declared the strike at the firm's Louisville plants was ended last night.

The company, which processes aluminum for war industries, announced that an "undetermined number" of strikers had lost their jobs automatically when they failed to return to work today and were considered to have "quit without notice."

Carl K. Greene, industrial relations director for Reynolds, reported a total of 140 workers absent from the first two of the day's three shifts, but added that a number of these were "normal" absences due to illness or some other valid cause which had been reported to foremen.

Until a complete check had been made for all three shifts, Greene said, the company would not determine how many had lost their jobs by refusing to return yesterday. The last shift began at 11 p. m.

Joseph D. Cannon, regional CIO director, declared earlier that Reynolds was "bluffing" in its order discharging those who remained idle because it could not replace trained workers.

He said Reynolds employes stopped work Tuesday because a CIO plant chairman had been discharged "for no good reason."

Firm Protests Occupation of Two Plants

Major Follows Orders, Takes Over Entire Company.

Boston, Aug. 20—(AP)—A spokesman for the S. A. Woods Machine Company revealed today the government had taken over a second of its plants and termed the seizure "unwarranted and purely coercive."

"After taking possession of our shell plant last night," the company spokesman said in a statement, "the government this morning revealed the punitive and oppressive character of its proceedings by also taking over our other plant."

The company's South Boston plant, engaged in war material manufacture, was taken over by the Army Ordnance last night after the management's refusal to comply with a War Labor Board directive.

Major Ralph F. Gow, of the Boston Ordnance district, who supervised the Army's occupation of the plant, declined direct comment on the company statement, but said:

"My directives from the War Department were to take over and operate the S. A. Woods Company plant."

In response to questions, Major Gow said the firm's buildings are on two sides of a street, but added, "It's all one plant as far as I am concerned."

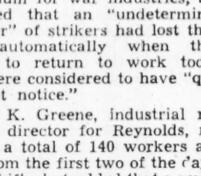

The plant taken over today, a company spokesman said, "is entirely segregated, makes no implements of war, is a separate unit for collective bargaining and was not involved in any way with the War Labor Board case."

The company at the same time pledged to "co-operate wholeheartedly" in maintaining production of vital war materials.

Gordon County Farmer Tells of Happy Relief And Indorses Pow-o-Lin

"I Felt So Achy, Sluggish, Let-Down and Miserable My Farm Work Had To Be Neglected," Declares Mr. Mills, Well-Known Curryville Citizen.

MR. S. F. MILLS.

Pow-o-Lin continues to win the praise of well-known Georgia men and women who tell of blessed relief this purely herbal medicine brings them. For instance, Mr. S. F. Mills, well-known farmer of Curryville, Route 1, Gordon County, Georgia, declares:

"Say what you will, Pow-o-Lin did for me what other medicines I tried failed to do. Everything I ate hurt me with indigestion, gassy bloating and a full stuffy feeling that made me feel I couldn't draw a deep breath. My head ached and pounded, my tongue was foul and the toxic wastes of constipation clogged my intestines forcing me to take strong laxatives that kept me feeling so upset I hardly had the will to do anything. My sleep was disturbed and my nerves often felt so jumpy I couldn't stand excitement. I don't believe you could have found a more miserable man in Gordon county.

"Pow-o-Lin gave me welcome, happy relief from my distress. The very first bottle of this pleasant-tasting herbal medicine went right to work to relieve me of indigestion, gas pains, bloating and that tired, achy, sluggish feeling that gripped me. I don't have to take harsh laxatives, enjoy my food and am relieved of the after-distress that formerly plagued me after every meal. No one could be more grateful for Pow-o-Lin than I am. I believe every suffering man and woman should be told about this fine medicine."

Pow-o-Lin is a purely herbal laxative preparation for the relief of distress as harassed Mr. Mills, when due to constipation. Thousands praise it. Pow-o-Lin may be obtained at all Jacobs Drug Stores. $1.25 size, special 98c. Mail orders add 10c.—(adv.)

Life Insurance Outing Enjoyed Despite Rain

Underwriters' Association Holds Annual Barbecue at Druid Hills.

Members of the Atlanta Life Underwriters' Association held their annual outing and barbecue yesterday afternoon and last night at Druid Hills Golf Club.

During the afternoon, they played golf, badminton and swam. The barbecue was served at 7 o'clock and after that a dance began.

Guests were officers of the Retail Credit company.

Baxter Maddox, past president of the association, described the outing as "the best we've ever had in spite of the rain."

Walter Rountree is association president; Holcombe Green is vice president and Miss Martha Foster is secretary.

Relief Outlook Much Brighter, Ellis Reports

relief cases have been transferred to old-age assistance and to aid to dependent children, and that Atlanta clients in DeKalb county are now served by the DeKalb county welfare department.

A speed-up of investigations of cases has also resulted in the removal of some persons who, under existing policies, were ruled ineligible to be carried on the lists.

Ellis said the department handled 1,836 direct relief cases in July this year (involving approximately 3,732 individuals), as compared with 1,934 cases involving 4,588 persons in June of this year. The decrease in cases began in February, when the department was handling 2,350 cases, including 5,468 persons.

Direct relief clients received $5.09 last month, which help was augmented by clothing and food stamps, bringing the total value received to $9.61 per month.

Ellis said the department had reduced the number of old age applications from 6,287 in January to 3,652 in July by clearing up uninvestigated cases. He said 1,127 new old age applications came in during that period.

"As of July 31, there were 6,309 persons in 5,590 cases receiving a total of $74,493 in old age assistance grants," he pointed out.

The administrator said operating expenses of the department were cut from $16,981 in January to $14,875 in July.

stand up by himself," he declared. "It's hard to find anybody below a brigadier general."

The report, filed in conformance to the Faddis amendment to the service men's pay increase act, was made public by the Senate Military Affairs Committee after the house committee declined to release it on the ground it was confidential.

The Navy Department filed a similar report, but it was not made public, the House Naval Affairs Committee regarding it as confidential. The Faddis amendment requires that the reports be filed every 60 days, but permits the two departments to withhold reporting any names when such action might jeopardize the national safety.

"It may be of interest to note that of the total number of appointments . . . approximately 10,000, or 53 per cent, represent doctors and other members of the medical professions who were commissioned in the medical reserve," Secretary Stimson said in a letter to Vice President Wallace and Speaker Rayburn.

Many of the others, Stimson explained, were appointed to perform administrative duties not requiring military training.

This procedure, the secretary wrote, made it possible for the Army to "meet officer requirements without removing an excessive number of qualified officers from troop units to perform administrative duties." Going to men ranging in age from 19 to 61 years, the commissions included 8 colonels, 37 lieutenant colonels, 636 majors, 3,051 captains, 7,483 first lieutenants and 7,752 second lieutenants. Most of the recipients were given noncombat assignments.

Sergeant Asks Aid In Locating Wife

Atlanta police and Red Cross have been asked to help find Mrs. Minna Smith, 23, wife of Sergeant Edwin Smith, of Camp Pickett, Va., who disappeared Monday en route to Columbus from Petersburg, Va.

Mrs. Smith left Petersburg at 2 o'clock Monday morning by train and wired her husband from Atlanta she was "taking a bus to Columbus and would arrive there at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning." She failed to reach Columbus and she has not been heard from since.

Sergeant Smith gave his wife's description as 5 feet 3 inches tall, weight 112 pounds, dark brown hair, large brown eyes. She was wearing a black and white small check suit and light tan jacket, black patent-leather pumps and a plain narrow wedding band. She carried a long black leather pocketbook.

The Army and Navy in Georgia

From pounding the typewriter to meeting the Queen Mother of England is a big jump, but with the help of the Army and Lady Luck, Clarence S. Irvin, of Atlanta and Cornelia, Ga., accomplished just that.

Irvin, a native of Cornelia, was secretary to Columbus Roberts, pre-Talmadge commissioner of agriculture, but when Roberts was ousted three years ago, he left his Atlanta home at 66 Twelfth street and headed for Washington, D. C., where he held a job with the government.

Then the Army stepped in, and in a short time Irvin found himself a master sergeant with United States Forces in England, where, while having afternoon tea in a canteen in West Midlands with two of his buddies, he met the Queen Mother Mary.

A dispatch from "Somewhere in England" related the incident:

"Suddenly the door opened and in walked a white-haired lady, followed by several other people. The three soldiers didn't notice until. . . .

"'Tenshun!" barked one of the sergeants.

The elderly lady smiled broadly, and opened the conversation will the usual how-long-in-the-army question. The soldiers replied with some confusion.

Then: "How do you like England?"

"We like it very much, ma'am," Irvin grinned. The three still stood at rigid attention.

"Go on with your tea, boys," the lady said, and the soldiers sat back down as the Queen Mother Mary left the canteen.

CORPORAL COLEMAN BECOMES LIEUTENANT.

Corporal Kenneth Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Coleman, of 968 Argonne avenue, was recently commissioned a second lieutenant at the Quartermaster school at Camp Lee, Va., and assigned to the 78th Division at Camp Butner, Durham, N. C. A graduate of Boys' High, Lieutenant Coleman attended the University of Georgia, where he received a graduate degree in history. In civilian life he was connected with the Regional Forest Office, and at the time of his induction at Fort McPherson, Ga., was a teacher at Commercial High school. Lieutenant Coleman was stationed at Fort McPherson reception center and at Camp Beauregard, La., before attending officer candidate school.

Thompson, of Whitesburg; Oliver P. Shirley, of Gainesville; Corporal Stanley Ellis, of Griffin, and Staff Sergeant William J. Mathews, of Roberta.

WILLIAM PERRYMAN RECEIVES PROMOTION

Captain William M. Perryman, who recently received his promotion from first lieutenant at the New Orleans Port of Embarkation, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Perryman, of 1079 North avenue, N. E. Captain Perryman attended Boys' High school and Emory University, and received his master's degree in law at the Woodrow Wilson Law school. He was commissioner in 1938, after completing the Quartermaster Officer Candidate School in Atlanta, and attended the Motor Transport School in Baltimore, Md. Captain Perryman has been stationed at Camp Shelby, Wilmington, N. C., and Camp Beauregard, La., before being assigned to the port in New Orleans.

COLONEL ASSUMES DUTIES AT CAMP STEWART

Colonel William V. Ochs has assumed duties as commanding officer of Camp Stewart, Ga., in a far-reaching move designed to streamline administration of the post, post headquarters announced Wednesday.

Colonel Ochs, formerly provost marshal of the camp, takes over responsibility for administrative management of the post under the Fourth Service Command, formerly the Fourth Corps Area.

Brigadier General Earl H. Metzger continues as commanding general of the Antiaircraft Training Center, relinquishing to Colonel Ochs responsibility for all administrative details. The new setup relieves the commanding general of numerous administrative details so that he may devote full time to the AA training program and to turning out trained antiaircraft tactical units.

The new designation of separate post and AATC commanders is in line with the recent change of the nine Corps Areas to Service Commands.

Thomas M. Shockley, son of Mrs. Mattie Martyn Shockley, of Apalachee, Ga., has been promoted to the rank of staff sergeant at the post radio station, Camp Stewart, Ga. He is a nephew of Mrs. John Rung, of 1066 Spring street, northwest.

Green P. Jackson, 812 Signal Company, Camp Gordon, Augusta, Ga., has been promoted from private to sergeant. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Jackson, of Decatur.

James F. Boston, son of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Boston, of Curryville, Ga., has reported to the Army Air Forces Advanced Flying school at Turner Field, Albany, Ga., for the final stage of his training as an aviation cadet.

James L. Bradley, of 311 Pearl street, has reported for duty at the Reception Center at Camp Beauregard, La.

Major S. W. French III, son of Colonel and Mrs. S. W. French, Headquarters Fourth Service Command, is now on duty with the 11th Armored Division at Camp Polk, La.

Getting The Range at Fort Mac

War bond sales to civilian and military personnel at Fort McPherson on the pay reservation plan continue to soar.

Latest report from Lieutenant John W. Umphrey, bond sales officer at Fourth Service Command Ordnance headquarters show that 100 per cent of military personnel and 98 per cent of civilians employed there have signed up for bonds.

The civilians will be awarded "10 percenter" buttons and automobile stickers in recognition of their bond-buying.

Stop Carping and Clucking, Patrick Tells House

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Representative Patrick, Democrat, Alabama, declined in the house today what he described as "a dangerous tendency on the part of members to assail things that are comparatively trivial which has a disturbing influence on the people over the country."

He urged his colleagues not to "contribute to Hitler's divide and conquer propaganda by carping and clucking that will weaken the faith and zeal of the people."

In one recent issue of the Congressional Record, Patrick said, "I observed nine different and unrelated attacks on the manner of handling the war effort, and to me all of them seemed either frivolous or fanciful, and two subsequently proved to be unfounded in entirety."

Getting Up Nights
Nervousness and Kidney Strain

If you're feeling out o'sorts, Get Up Nights or suffer from Burning Passages, Backache, Swollen Ankles, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains Dizziness, Circles Under Eyes and feel worn-out, the cause may be non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles. Worry, Colds, working too hard, or over-eating or drinking may create an excess of Acids and overload your Kidneys so that they need help to flush out poisonous wastes that might otherwise undermine your health.

Help Kidneys Remove Acids

Nature provides the Kidneys to clean and purify your blood and to remove excess Acids. The Kidneys contain about nine million tiny tubes or filters through which the heart pumps blood about 200 times an hour, night and day, so it's easy to see that they may get tired and slow down when overloaded.

Fourteen years ago a practicing physician's prescription called Cystex was made available to the public through drug stores, making it easy and inexpensive to help thousands suffering from non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder troubles in these three simple ways: 1. Help the Kidneys remove excess acids which may become poisoning and irritating. 2. To palliate burning and smarting of the urinary passages, and bladder irritation. 3. Help the Kidneys flush out wastes which may become poisonous if allowed to accumulate, thus aiding nature in stimulating an increase of energy, which may easily make you feel years younger.

Guaranteed Trial Offer

Usually, in non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder disorders the very first dose of Cystex goes right to work helping the Kidneys flush out excess Acids, poisons and wastes. And this cleansing, purifying Kidney action, in just a day or so, may easily make you feel younger, stronger and better than in years. An iron clad guarantee insures an immediate refund of all your money unless you are completely satisfied. Get Cystex from your druggist today for only 35c.

AUTHOR'S NOTE: Cystex is produced under the direction of a licensed physician for The Knox Co., one of the largest drug companies in the world with laboratory connections in the U.S.A., Canada, England, Australia and South America. The guarantee of money back unless satisfied is enforced 100% and is a dependable form of assurance to all users of Cystex.

Traffic Report Lists 45 Deaths Here in 1941

But 1942's Record Thus Far Is Only 15 Fatalities.

Motor vehicle accident fatalities for 1941 in Atlanta totaled 45, the highest for cities of 25,000 population or more in Georgia, but considerably under some of the larger southern cities, the Department of Commerce announced yesterday.

In a traffic report for the last quarter of 1941, the department listed 23 deaths for the first quarter, none for the second, six for the third and 16 for the fourth. Only deaths occurring within three months of the accident were listed.

Atlanta's 45 deaths, however, were a little more than half of the 79 listed for New Orleans. Columbia led cities of more than 25,000 in South Carolina with 23 traffic deaths, and Charleston was ahead in South Carolina with 12.

Augusta and Macon each had 13 traffic deaths last year, the report said. Savannah had 12; Columbus six and Rome one. Cities under 25,000 were not listed.

Traffic deaths have declined here during the first half of 1942. Only 15 have been recorded to date, against 23 this time last year. For the 15 larger cities over the South Atlantic states the total so far this year is 221, about the same as in 1941.

For the fourth quarter alone last year, there were a total of 8,165 motor traffic deaths reported by 39 states and the District of Columbia, the report stated.

On this rate basis, the number represents "an annual motor vehicle traffic accident fatality rate of 32.2 per 100,000 enumerated population of 1940," it said.

Home Loan Bank Debentures Offered

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—An issue of $22,000,000 consolidated debentures of the Federal Home Loan Banks was sold by public offering today at par. The debentures, carrying an interest rate of 3-4 of 1 per cent, will mature March 1, 1943. They were sold mainly to investment dealers.

Proceeds will be applied toward the redemption of $26,000,000 of Federal Home Loan Bank obligations maturing September 1.

All in the Game

By JACK TROY

Passing the Test Walter Powell passed the supreme test the other day. When offered the job of handling the clock in the Georgia Tech games he politely refused.

"I am retiring as an official and I had rather not have any active connection with football, if it is all the same to you," Powell told Bill Alexander.

I happened to be sitting there in the office when he turned down the job.

I looked closely to see if any conflicting emotions were visible. But there were none. Powell actually seemed relieved that he had been offered something to do and had been able to say no.

Walter Powell is fixing to enjoy life.

That is, when the world returns to normalcy again.

One fall he'll spend a month or so back at Stanford, where he was head coach two years. Another fall he'll go to Wisconsin for a visit with Harry Stuhldreher, the old Notre Dame horseman. Wisconsin is Powell's home country.

He's just going to mosey around, visit football folks and see football games.

Coach Alex told him, "You'll die; you won't know what to do with yourself. I'd better give you a sideline pass so you can slip down out of the stands sometimes and get your feet on the ground."

Powell was reluctant to accept the gracious offer. He explained why.

Typical Gateman "I was late getting to a conference game one Saturday and had some people with me. One was a youngster. I walked up to a side gate to save time and the fellow there, well known to all of us, said, 'Do you make a practice of bringing your family to these games?'

"I hadn't meant to take them in free and I explained I had come the short route as I was working the game and was in a hurry. I asked him how much it would be for each adult, and the boy, and I paid him on the spot.

"Thereafter I always made it a point to be ahead of time if someone was with me, and go to the main gate. The incident was a little embarrassing, as the men with me were customers. I told this fellow that afterwards when I had a chance to talk with him," Powell said.

Alex gave him the pass to the Tech sidelines and I saw a brightening in Powell's manner.

After all, it is a little hard for a man to give up something completely after devoting most of his life to it. Between coaching and officiating Powell has been in football for quite a span of years.

And next fall when he feels too detached sitting up there in the stands he can mosey down to the sidelines, plant his feet in the turf and imagine he is a part of the picture again.

Meanwhile, there's that victory garden and some canning to be done.

Novel Plan Say, speaking of victory gardens, Puerto Rico, veteran Negro attendant at Georgia Tech, may have an idea you can use in your canning.

Puerto is quite a gardener; raises a lot of different things.

But he is strictly a conservative when it comes to canning. It all goes into the same can.

Then when the family wants soup, they just send down to the corner for a piece of meat.

If they want vegetables, they take their choice. And so on. All out of the same can.

It's a thought, anyway.

'Too Much Blood' Press Huddleston has been going places and seeing things for over half a century, and his keen interest in sports has never diminished.

He dropped by yesterday for a ducat to the Terror-Luttrell rassling match tonight.

"I've just got to see it," Press declared. "Some people may think it's 'fixed' and all that sort of thing, but I don't believe it. They take too much punishment."

What takes the cake is a customer complaining there was too much blood in the first match!

Ted Lyons Called To Take Physical

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Ted Lyons, 41-year-old Chicago White Sox pitching veteran, conferred with Chicago draft officials yesterday following a notice from his local draft board at Vinton, La., directing him to report for physical examination.

Lyons' local board requested he appear there August 14, but the notice arrived while he was on the road with the club. Lyons, a bachelor, expected to take the examination in Chicago after the necessary papers are provided by his local board.

HANOVER, N. H., Aug. 20.—(AP) Bud Kast, Dartmouth football captain, plans to return to college after having failed in an effort to join the Navy, according to word received by Coach Tuss McLaughry. Kast left college last January to join the Navy's physical training division but after going through a training period he was rejected because of a physical disability.

Ex-Deacon Athlete In Rouen Attack

NASHVLLE, N. C., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Colonel Frank A. Armstrong, of Nashville, one of the United States Army fliers who took part in the Flying Fortress attack on Rouen Monday, was an outstanding athlete in his undergraduate days at Wake Forest College.

He played football and baseball for Wake Forest in the early 1920's and enlisted in the Army Air Corps shortly after obtaining his master's degree.

His mother, Mrs. Frank A. Armstrong Sr., still has her residence here. A sister, Mrs. I. T. Valentine, is the wife of a prominent Nashville attorney.

Colonel Armstrong's wife lives in Richmond, Va.

Paul Richards Smacks Homer With 2 Aboard

Parade of Pitchers Is Thrown Into Game; Deal Hits Homer.

By ED HARRIS.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 20.—Big rallies in the eighth and ninth innings today gave the Atlanta Crackers the final game of the season with the Knoxville Smokies, 9 to 4.

Manager Paul Richards' three-run homer in the eighth sent the Crackers out in front and then they added four more runs in the ninth on some fluke hits and two bases on balls.

Today's victory gave the teams an even split for the series.

Bob Finley's double and John Tyler's single produced the first run for Knoxville in the second inning. Catcher Smith tried to pick Tyler off at first and threw into right field, with Tyler moving to second on the error and to third on a wild pitch. Garbould and Lamitina couldn't bring him in.

DEAL'S FOURTH HOMER.

Lindsey Deal's fourth home run of the series tied it in the fourth inning.

It didn't take the Smokies long to get back out front. Stasey started the Smoky half of the fourth with a single and trotted around when Johnny Tyler lined a pitch over the scoreboard.

Deal got an infield hit in the seventh and was forced at second by Scott. O'Brien doubled him to third. Scott scored as O'Brien was in a trap on Smith's roller to third. That made it 3-2.

Earl Browne started the eighth with a pinch single. Medak hoisted to Tyler. Glock's single sent Browne to third. Manager Paul Richards hit the first pitch for a home run and the Crackers went out front, 5-3. Steve Warchol took over the pitching duties at this point.

MERTZ GOES IN.

Mertz took over the mound duties for Atlanta in the eighth. Stasey led off with a single to left field and Finley followed with one to right field, with Stasey going to third. The veteran Emil Ichbaum came in for his third appearance of the series. Tyler's infield roller scored Stasey and sent Finley to second. The next two couldn't bring Finley in and the score was 5-4.

Walks to O'Brien and Smith and an infield hit by Blakeney loaded the bases in the ninth. Lochbaum doubled to score O'Brien and Smith. Medak's roller took a curve around Boss for a hit. It scored Blakeney. It was the most flukish hit ever seen in the local park. Glock's double play scored Lochbaum.

Bob Feller Banks Georgetown, 5 to 0

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP) Rapid Robert Feller, former Cleveland pitching ace, hurled the Norfolk, Va., Naval Training Station team to a 5-to-0 victory yesterday over Georgetown University, allowing only three hits.

Feller had one bad inning, the second, when he loaded the bases by allowing a single and a walk and striking a batter, but he got out of the hole by fanning the next three. One of these three strikeout victims was Georgetown Shortstop Billy Hassett, brother of the New York Yankees' first baseman.

Altogether Feller struck out nine.

Thomas Is Named Georgia Assistant

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 20.—Carroll Thomas, of Decatur, will be assistant freshman football coach at the University of Georgia this fall, Athletic Director Wallace Butts announced today.

Thomas is returning to school in September to complete work on his degree and will be in charge of the football dormitory, in addition to helping Howell Hollis with the freshmen.

He was a regular end on Georgia's football team in 1938 and was captain and catcher of the baseball team during the 1939 season.

Crackers To Start Series With Pels Here Tonight

There is no rest for the weary, and though the Atlanta Crackers will have the advantage of playing on their home grounds at Ponce de Leon park for the next week or so, the Richards Rifles can derive no solace from the fact they open a four-game series tonight with the third-place New Orleans Pelicans, currently one of the hottest clubs in the league.

The Crackers, who come limping home from a none-too-successful road trip, have done very little fence-busting against southpaw hurling, and the Pels lean heavily on two of the loop's best unorthodox flingers, Big Bill Seinsoth, who already has captured 20 games, and George Dockins. Starting time tonight is 8:30 o'clock.

New Orleans stays for a Saturday tiff, and a double-header Sunday. The Crackers rest Monday before opening a four-game setto here Tuesday with Birmingham, including the Wednesday night Red Cross benefit fracas.

Alsab Is Victor In Sparkling Run

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Al Sabath's Alsab, prepping for the $80,000 American Derby, August 29, carried 128 pounds to a sizzling triumph in a $5,000 Added Handicap for 3-year-olds at Washington Park today.

Spotting his five opponents anywhere from four to 28 pounds, Alsab stayed closer to the pace than usual, then came nicely in the stretch to defeat Louis B. Mayer's King Abbey by half a length. Another five lengths back in third was Mrs. Payne's Some Man.

With Regards, Aletern and Bayridge completed the field and finished in that order before a crowd of 13,000.

Under the able handling of Jockey Georgie Woolf, Alsab ran the mile in 1:36 1-5—fastest of the meeting. His prices were $3.20, $2.60 and $2.40.

Alsab surprised by breaking first and staying there briefly. Then front-running With Regards snatched the lead, followed by King's Abbey. Alsab was third on the back-stretch and at no time was he worse than that. He wasn't far behind With Regards, either.

Golden Terror Meets Luttrell On Mat Tonight

Atlanta's biggest wrestling crowd in many years is expected tonight for the finish match of the unbeaten and unknown Golden Terror and untamed Cowboy Luttrell at the city auditorium.

When the masked mountain goes after his forty-fourth consecutive win and Luttrell seeks to remove the mask from the Terror's face and thus expose his identity, no holds will be barred. Everything goes and no time limit is set.

Jack Dillon, sent to a hospital by the Terror in a recent match, will referee. This probably means that Luttrell will have an aide to help offset the presence of the Terror's huge manager.

Last week's thriller ran the gauntlet of thrills, ending in a near riot with Luttrell throwing wrestlers, managers and referees out into the crowd. For the first time in his stormy career, the Cowboy was cheered. Bloody from a half-dozen cuts he proved he has the courage of a champ.

Strong support is offered the main event. Jack Kennedy tackles Babe Zaharias in the semi-final. Dorv Roche engages Ronny Etchinson in the opener, starting at 8:30.

Popular prices prevail. Uncle Sam's fighting men are admitted free.

Golf Meet Slated At Warm Springs

The annual Georgia Warm Springs Invitation golf tourney wil be held this year from September 5 through 7th, with qualifying to begin September 1. All qualifying scores must be in the night of the 5th.

Players who wish to enter should notify course professional Jim Hackney. Entries should be mailed to the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation. Entrance fee is $3, and no women's division will be open.

Match play will be in progress Sunday and Monday, September 6 and 7.

McKee, Mulloy Gain Brookline Quarter Finals

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Francisco "Pancho" Segura, Ecuador's two-fisted tennis star, today gained the last available bracket in the semi-final round of the 48th Longwood Bowl Tennis tournament by romping over the fourth-seeded Victor Seixas, of Philadelphia for an easy 6-2, 6-4 victory.

Tomorrow the top-seeded Gardnar Mulloy, of Miami, Fla., and Alejo Russell, of the Argentine, will match strokes for a finalist's berth in the upper half of the draw.

In the only two male team matches, Segura and Russell defeated T. J. Nasher and B. M. Soule, of Quincy, 6-1, 6-2, in a second-rounder and Mulloy and Dick McKee, Atlanta, Ga., gained a quarter-finals verdict over Fred Kovaleski, of Detroit, and Arthur McDonald, of Los Angeles by 6-1, 9-7 margins.

Burnsed Fights Stokes Tonight At Lakewood

The Atlanta Boys' Club will present another amateur boxing card tonight. There will be between eight and ten bouts, and all the proceeds will go to the Boys' Club camp fund.

In the feature attraction, Ernest Stokes will battle Leroy Burnsed. Stokes defeated Burnsed last Friday night, but Burnsed has asked for a return match to even the score with the 130-pound Boys' Club fighter.

There will be several other fights which promise to be real battles. A few of these are Clyde Townsend vs. Paul Whitley, Bill Farmer vs. Joe Hornsby, Bill Wilson vs. Lenoid Hawk, Dwight Blanton vs. Bennie Rheinhardt, Bill Brannon vs. Dan Blanton, Lee Roy Drake vs. Foster Keefe, and Larry Sowers vs. Oscar Newborn.

Fights will begin sharply at 9 o'clock. General admission is 25 cents and reserve seats are 55 cents. Defense stamps will be awarded to the boys who stage the best fight of the night.

Savold 2-1 Favorite Over Tony Musto

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—They're planning to bring Lee Savold and Tony Musto out again tomorrow night for a return try in Washington's most postponed fight of the year.

Promoter Joe Turner optimistically predicted a turnout of 10,000 or more spectators at Griffith stadium for his thrice-postponed heavyweight scrap.

Savold ruled a 2-1 favorite with the betting fraternity, although he will be giving away about a 10-pound weight advantage to the 202-pound Musto.

Whirly To Start In Trenton Race

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Trainer Ben Jones today announced that Whirlaway, world's leading money winning horse, will make his next start in the $10,000 Trenton handicap at Garden State Park, Camden, N. J., Saturday, August 29.

Whirlaway, idle because of an eye infection since finishing second to Rounders in the Arlington Handicap, August 1, will leave here Saturday or Sunday with four stablemates. Warren Wright's ace four-year-old thus will pass up the Saratoga cup, scheduled for the same day as the Trenton cup.

HITCHCOCK REPORTS.

BOCA RATON, Fla., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Second Lieutenant William D. Hitchcock, Detroit Tigers' shortstop until he was called into service this week, has reported for duty at the Army Air Force Technical School here.

Mize's Homer Ruins Wyatt's No-Hitter

Whitlow Gives Only One Hit In 2-1 Victory

Vander Meer's 6-Hitter, McCormick's Home Run Win for Reds.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers stretched their National League lead to seven games tonight by nosing out the New York Giants, 2 to 1, as Whit Wyatt gave up just one hit—a homer by Johnny Mize—in chalking up his 15th win of the season before a crowd of 22,729, including 934 service men.

The Dodgers pushed both their tallies across off Tom Sunkel in the second inning with the help of a ball that Center Fielder Babe Young misjudged badly and let fall for a triple by Dolph Camilli.

Meantime, except for the fast ball that Mize poked into the center field scoreboard in the second for his 20th homer of the year, Wyatt found a large assortment of "cousins" in the Giant lineup.

Grid Schedules For Air Corps Mechanics Out

General Weaver's Order Will Eliminate Football for Keesler Field.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—A possible first step toward eventual elimination of most "spectator sports" activities on the part of service athletes was seen today in the cancellation of all competitive football scheduled at schools of the Air Corps technical training command.

The cancellation order came from Major General Walter R. Weaver, commanding general, who wrote the various commanding officers that competitive football would interfere seriously with the urgent program of training mechanics and other technicians for the air forces.

Disclosure of the order follow l a statement earlier in the day by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson that constant study was being given to the cutting down of "spectator sports" which draw upon athletes in military training.

Patterson was replying to press conference questions about a recent statement by Commander Gene Tunney, Navy director of physical training. The ex-heavyweight boxing champion had said that "you can't train a man to be a fighter by having him play football and baseball."

"The topic is under constant study and development as to how far we may go in cutting down events of that type" Patterson said.

Although there was no offficial connection between the undersecretary's statement and Weaver's order, speculation immediately arose as to whether the grid cancellations might be the forerunner of widespread movement affecting service sports.

One War Department officer pointed out that students usually attend the air corps technical schools for only six weeks. He said Weaver felt that the men "couldn't be good football players and at the same time learn to be good mechanics in that time."

There was no ban on intramural football or other sports.

The schools under Weaver's command number several scores, but the actual total and the locations of many of them are restricted information. Some of the larger schools, however, are located at Lowry Field, Colorado; Scott and Chanute Fields, Illinois, and Keesler Field, Miss. Weaver's headquarters are at Knollwood Field, N. C.

Mehre Notified Of Keesler Cancellation.

OXFORD, Miss., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Harry J. Mehre, director of athletics at the University of Mississippi, today announced receipt of notification from Keesler Field at Biloxi, Miss., that the Army Air Force technical training command there planned to cancel its entire football schedule, leaving Ole Miss with an open date on the campus September 26.

Keesler Field recently had announced an extensive 12-game schedule which included games with the Universities of Mississippi, Akron, Miami, Denver, Pittsburgh, Maryland and Oklahoma, Mississippi State, Davidson College, the Pensacola Naval Station, Fort Benning and Sheppard Field.

Prompt action is necessary in replying to the attractive offers in the Want Ad pages of The Constitution.

Talmadge Attacks Make Work of Federation Easy

Sportsmen's Campaign To Defeat Him Further Inspired by 'Furor's' Continued Misrepresentation.

By JOHN MARTIN.

Every time the Tom-Tit Sportsman of Telfair fumes his folderol about the Georgia Wildlife Federation he strikes another blow for the organization that will help defeat him September 9.

VANDER MEER.
Wins For Hapless Reds.

Every time Talmadge spouts a misrepresentation about the aims and purposes of this big statewide organization of farmers, hunters and fishermen he sends another group of them into the active fold of the federation.

Following one of his tirades this week against the sportsmen of the state two hitherto inactive clubs notified the federation that they would reorganize. Gordon county didn't wait. A group in Calhoun met and reorganized the Gordon County Conservation Club and announced its intention of supporting the federation and its active support of Ellis Arnall for Governor.

At Rome a movement was begun to revive the Floyd County Club and a meeting was set for September 1. And in Toccoa last night Stephens county swung back into action and more members were added to the club which already had 40-odd.

A Morgan county hunter yesterday came to the federation office and urged a club for his section.

"First though, I want to join myself right now," he declared. "I'm against Talmadge and his wildlife program and I want everybody to know it. If one of those quail tags marks me as anti-Talmadge I want to get one on my car immediately. It's what all fellows who want better hunting and fishing should do."

Another hunter pointed out yesterday that the Furor of Sugar Creek forgot to identify one of his supporters in his campaign burlesque at Washington the other day. J. J. Brown, who was called "my former opponent, but present supporter," is a wildlife ranger in the Alma district. He is a Talmadge appointee and is drawing $125 a month and expenses. He is just one more ranger whose expenses and salary are paid by the licensed hunters, fishermen and trappers of Georgia to carry on a political campaign for the Palace Guard and its ringleader.

The same thing applies to Zack D. (Tain't So) Cravey, who is helping his master forestall the threatened invasion of Senegambians by showing the black and white draft board photograph that has become the Bible and last hope of the Talmadge forces.

The Tom-Tit of Telfair calls the federation members game hogs, but he is the only Governor who claims the distinction of killing two deer with one blast of a sawed-off shotgun. He did this in South Carolina two seasons ago and bragged about it.

An empty house is more expensive than a Want Ad in The Constitution that will rent it.

Robinson Is 1-4 To Defeat Shank

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Ruben Shank, a cowhand out of Colorado who sports decisions over Fritzie Zivic and Henry Armstrong, makes his bow in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night against unbeaten "Sugar Ray" Robinson, the Harlem skinny man with the punch like a kicking broncho.

They tangle for 10 rounds—or less—and from all indications it would do Ruben a lot of good if he could bring a lariat and a couple of six-shooters in the ring with him, because the sugar man is about 1 to 4 to chalk up the 123d straight win in his string.

As a matter of fact, a lot of the folks figure the Harlem hammer is no worse than neven money to do it the hard way—by a knockout.

Rain Postpones State Net Meet

GRIFFIN, Ga., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The weather again forced postponement of play in the Georgia State Tennis tournament here.

One second round match in the women's division was begun and interrupted. Mrss Gladys Atkinson, of Atlanta, seeded number four, and Jane Davenport, of Chattanooga, each won a set by identical 6-2 scores when play was halted.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

The cargo airplane and the cargo submarine are still ten years behind my predictions. I wrote in 1932 that they were as certain as frost in October.

If Old Man Noah had acted like the Army and Navy he would have floated around with the blueprints of the ark in his hand.

We are not going anywhere until we get rid of the old-timers of the ostrich class of 1875. They have their heads buried in the sands of tradition while their plumes are being scorched by progress.

I shall conclude my short sermon with this thought: When you see moss on an old fogie's back it is not camouflage.

First Navyator Squad Filled With 30 Men

Two More May Be Completed by Tomorrow Night.

Enlistment of the first of four Atlanta Navyator Squadrons of 30 men each was completed late yesterday, it was announced at the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board, and work began on organization of the second squadron.

It was pointed out enlistment of the first 30-man group exceeded the campaign's goal of a squadron a week, and indicated two full squadrons may be organized by tomorrow night. Places are still open in the second and two other remaining groups, but they are rapidly being filled.

The enlistment of John Ivor Culpepper Jr., of 1892 Ponce de Leon avenue, completed the first squadron. He was immediately preceded by Hulen Gilbert King, 907 Boulevard, S. E.; William Richard Rankin, 474 Moreland avenue; Charles Francis Hammock, 838 Cascade avenue, S. W.; Warren Arthur Rosser III, 98 Clay street, S. E.; Clifford Paul Gunn Jr., 22 Rhodesia avenue, S. E., and Byron J. Lunsford, Decatur.

Other members of the squadron are Joel Lamar Davis, 10 Dunseath avenue, N. E.; James William Sweeney, 87 North avenue, N. W.; Patrick LeMoyne Shugart, 7 Berkeley avenue, N. E.; Wade Pitts Harding III, 1163 Ewing place, S. W.; Marion Floyd Morris, 317 East Princeton avenue, College Park; Henry Grady Carter Jr., 1678 Pelham road, N. E.; Thomas Jackson Hill Jr., 547 Howell place; Linton Law Cox Jr., 2131 McLendon avenue, N. E.; Harold Thomas Cook, 1830 Peachtree road; Paul Phillip Jackson Jr., 738 Myrtle street, N. E.; Merrill Rosser Moore, 1952 Browns Mill road, S. E.; William Herman Blackstone, 828 Blue Ridge court, N. E.; Lee Roy Owen Jr., 462 Hardendorf avenue, N. E.; Walter Hugh Bailey, 1661 Melrose drive, S. W.; Joseph Ewalt Givens, 729 Piedmont; Frank Jackson Rhodes, Stone Mountain; Howard McClain Norrell, 7523 Landon avenue, and Kenneth Charles Kerr Jr., 228 Rumson road.

Wife of C. S. Botts Files Divorce Suit

Mrs. Jean Rowe Botts, formerly of Gay, Ga., yesterday filed suit in Fulton superior court for a divorce from Claude Seymour Botts, alias Thomas Hutchinson Botts, now in Fulton tower charged with unlawfully wearing an Army uniform.

In her petition, Mrs. Botts said she married Botts August 8, two days before his arrest by the FBI. She asks a divorce on the grounds of fraud, charging the defendant posed as a captain in the Air Corps and made other fraudulent representations.

Jewish Leader Found Dead At Residence

Coroner's Inquest To Be Held in Death of Benjamin Fuchs.

Benjamin Fuchs, widely known in Jewish circles here and member of the Temple, was found dead in bed yesterday morning at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Robert Kushner, of 662 Bonaventure avenue, N. E.

Mrs. Kushner is the wife of Major Robert Lee Kushner, Army dentist, who returned home last Tuesday after service in the Pacific war zone.

A coroner's inquest will be held this morning.

Besides Mrs. Kushner, Mr. Fuchs is survived by a son, Lewis Fuchs, of the United States Army; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Fuchs, of Chicago; three brothers, Sol E., H. W. and S. L. Fuchs, and two sisters, Miss Rose Fuchs and Mrs. Hi Wasserman, all of Chicago.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Sam R. Greenberg & Company.

Baltic Coast Air Raid One of Soviet's Greatest

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Russian air raid two nights ago on the German Baltic coast cities of Koenigsberg, Danzig and Tilsit was described today by the Russian army newspaper Red Star as one of the greatest mass operations of the Red air force.

The three cities were under continuous bombardment by several squadrons for several hours, Red Star said. Tass, official Soviet news agency, said that the large raiding force bombed military and industrial objectives in all three cities without a loss.

Drive Formed To Hunt Scrap In Plants Here

Forty-Four Industrialists Will Aid in Canvassing 275 Businesses.

Forty-four leaders of industry in the Atlanta area met yesterday with representatives of the War Production Board salvage section to organize a campaign for the collection of scrap steel and iron, nonferous metals, rubber, rags and burlap.

Headed by George Winship, the executive committee, which was formed yesterday, will canvass 275 manufacturing and industrial plants in the immediate vicinity, in a drive to gather approximately 70 per cent of all the scrap material expected from Atlanta.

Need for the scrap material was outlined by Lieutenant E. R. Whittle, Army Ordnance Department, of Birmingham, who told the group that only about one-half the Army contracts let in the southeast are under production and that further curtailment is expected if scrap material is not forthcoming.

The group was told blast furnaces which make pig-iron are already severely overtaxed, and as a result, the usual 50 per cent of pig-iron which goes into the manufacture of steel has in some instances been lowered to 20 per cent with 80 per cent being scrap metal.

A quota of 1,401,000 tons of scrap steel has been set for the six-month period which began July 1, for the six states in this region, Eugene Walters, regional salvage manager for WPB said. About 70,000 tons were collected in July.

Two types of scrap material may be salvaged from the drive, Herbert Hayes, regional chief for the industrial salvage division, conservation section of WPB, pointed out. Dormant scrap consists of obsolete machinery and tools, abandoned equipment and the junk that accumulates in storerooms and yards. Process scrap is waste material such as shavings, turnings and small leftover pieces of metal from production operation.

'Glacier Priest' Terms Kiska Ideal Sub Base

Says Japanese-Held Harbor Is Superior to Dutch Harbor.

SEATTLE, Aug. 20.—(INS)—Kiska harbor in Japanese hands can become an ideal submarine base from which Nipponese undersea craft can prey on Allied shipping in the north Pacific, the Rev. B. R. Hubbard, famed "glacier priest," warned in Seattle today on his return from Alaska.

Asserting that Kiska's harbor is even better than Dutch harbor, the priest said Alaska weather will prevent use of the base for bombing raids on the Pacific northwest but pointed out that the island is 2,000 miles nearer America than any other Japanese submarine base.

John H. Moseman Succumbs at 62

John H. Moseman, 62, of 344 Elmira place, N. E., an engineer on the Atlanta & West Point railroad, died yesterday at the residence.

He is survived by his wife; four sons, John H. Moseman Jr., Fritz M., Mac and Walter D. Moseman; two daughters, Mrs. Joe B. Martin and Miss Elizabeth Moseman; four sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Hale, Mrs. Robert Evans, Mrs. T. L. Collins and Mrs. Marvin Davis, and five grandchildren, all of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 this afternoon at Epworth Methodist church under direction of A. C. Hemperley & Sons. The Rev. W. S. Robison and the Rev. S. D. Cherry will officiate. Burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

500 Air Fighters Blast France in Giant Attack

Fighter Command, issued a statement praising his pilots in the Dieppe action which he called a "hell of a hot show."

"To maintain an umbrella over a fixed point miles away from our station required the greatest daring and skill," General Hunter said.

"After receiving reports of our lads' behavior under such difficult circumstances, I know damn well they'll take care of themselves. I trust them to the utmost. They fly and fight like veterans. Our fighters claim three probable victories over the Focke-Wulf 190's and four damaged."

Between patrols, the young pilots who saw their first action in the biggest air battle in two years, told how they fought off death in the skies over Dieppe but that they "would be scared to death to be on the ground in all that fighting."

After spending the day from dawn to dusk in the cockpits yesterday, the Americans found there were "no union hours with the RAF."

They left the field at dawn in search of missing men in the channel and kept up patrol "scrambles" all day long.

The American Air Force, with Eagle squadrons of U. S. volunteers in the RAF, played a notable role in the terrific sky fighting over the French coast at Dieppe. The Germans were forced to bring into action every plane they had on the channel, including the now obsolete Messerschmitt-110's.

Seven Spitfires flown by Americans were shot down, but only five pilots were missing.

Hope for Some "Missing."

Previously, eight planes had been announced as shot down, but tonight the U. S. Fighter Command revised the figure down.

"There are some indications that some of the missing may be safe," the statement said. One other pilot was injured and another was known to be dead.

Altogether the Allies made 2,500 sorties from dawn to dusk yesterday. (In aviation terms, a sortie is one flight by one plane.)

The American fighter pilots came home with sore necks and experience crowded into one day which might have taken weeks of noncombatant training to match. They made four trips across the channel, spending more than six hours in the air, much of that time in combat.

Praised by RAF.

Veteran RAF fliers were full of praise for the behavior of the American pilots under fire in a battle which the British agreed "far exceeded any show put on in this war by the fighter command, even including the dark days in the Battle of Britain."

Captain Frank Hill, 23, of Hillsdale, N. J., shot down a Focke-Wulf 190, Germany's fast new fighter, for the first American fighter victory of the war but did not see it crash and so claimed only a "probable." The names of the other two pilots claiming "probables" were not immediately available.

One of the outstanding feats of the entire Dieppe air operations was the Fortress attack on the key German air field at Abbeville, 38 miles from Dieppe. A British pilot who flew in one of the escorting Spitfires described the assault as "simply incredible."

Major Fred M. Dean, 25, of St. Petersburg, Fla., said the destruction of the Abbeville field almost immediately affected the terrific air fight over Dieppe.

Germans Moved Back.

"There was a right smart shortage of FW-190's over the harbor after the Fortresses got through," he said. "The Germans had to move back to more remote flying fields and fly almost as far to battle as we did."

Dean said he got three "good squirts" at an FW-190, but did not know if they did any damage and so he made no claims.

Hill said he got his FW-190 by "turning inside him."

"He came in diving, I turned and caught him with a four-second burst," he said. "He spun down 2,000 feet, seemed to regain control for a moment, then starting spinning again. I think I got the pilot, but I couldn't wait around and see him crash."

The American and British pilots agreed that the Germans seldom joined in combat except when forced to fight. The Nazis, they said, concentrated on bombing and strafing ships in the Dieppe harbor.

Lieutenant Charles Fowles, 27, of Tyron, N. C., said:

"The Germans in the FW-190s dived down on us and then climbed up or ran to avoid a fight. My back is almost broken from looking behind me."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Louis Roney Jr. Will Sing On Special Program Sunday

● ● ● THOSE FORTUNATE enough to have tuned in one afternoon recently on WSB heard Louis Roney Jr. sing several exquisite songs. He possesses a divine dramatic tenor voice of wonderful tone and range and the songs he sang were "Under Your Spell," "The Flower Song" from "Carmen," "My Kingdom for a Kiss," and "Non E Ver," by Mattei.

Louis will sing on Sunday before members of the Warner Hill Bible Class at St. Mark church. Louis is a member of this class and is a regular attendant every Sunday that he is in Atlanta. He departs in September for Indiana to begin his course at the Naval Officers' Training School. This talented and attractive bachelor is 21 years old, and graduated last June from Harvard University, where he was awarded his bachelor of science degree.

While in Atlanta, Louis is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Pattillo, at her Peachtree circle residence. His father, Louis Roney Sr., is head of the fine arts department at Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla., and is a former teacher of Romance languages at Oglethorpe University in Atlanta. Mrs. Roney is the former Miss Marie Pattillo, of Atlanta.

MRS. M. A. COBB.

Mrs. Cobb is the former Miss Martha Frances Elkins, daughter of Mrs. Grace Elkins. Mr. Cobb is on active duty with the United States Navy.

● ● ● BLUE SPRINGS FARM, the Cason Callaways' home near Hamilton, has been the scene this week of a veritable "gathering of the clan." Cason and Virginia Hand Callaway, you see, have been hosts at their annual house party for Virginia's nephews and nieces, who are six years old and over.

The house party assembled Cason Jr. and Howard Callaway, the hosts' sons, and their cousins, Hollis, Charles Jr. and Lucia Rawson, of Atlanta, the children of Charles and Catherine Hand Rawson; and Archie Gann Jr., also of Atlanta, who is Archie and Clara Hand Gann's young son. Hailing from LaGrange are Fuller and Alice Hand Callaway's son and daughter, Fuller Jr. and Ida. Among the cousins from Pelham are the Larrabee Hands' son and daughters, Larrabee Jr., Christine and Flo; as well as the Fred Hands' son, Fred Jr., and Judson, Dudley and Bobby, the C. W. Hands' youngsters. Keenly disappointed that he couldn't be present at the house party was young Bill Rawson, who was prevented from attending because of illness.

Blue Springs Farm affords entertainment galore for the attractive young guests. Not only does the Callaways' spacious estate boast three lakes for swimming and fishing, but riding horses, badminton courts, and, for rainy weather, a game room in the basement. Doubtless to say, the cousins are sorely disappointed the get-together draws to a close today, for the affair is eagerly anticipated each summer.

● ● ● MARDIE V. CANDLER was a bridesmaid at the marriage of her Vassar College classmate when Betty Blanton became the bride of Lieutenant Robert M. Miskimon. The wedding took place recently at the First Presbyterian church in Richmond, Va., and was preceded by several social affairs. Dr. and Mrs. Howson Wallace Blanton entertained at a beautiful reception for their daughter and her husband on Rio Vista road, this event having followed the wedding. Lieutenant Miskimon is a member of the Medical Corps, and he and his bride have known each other over a period of four years.

Mardie V. wore for the wedding a becoming dress featuring a blue satin bodice and marquisette skirt. She carried a bouquet in which yellow roses and blue delphinium predominated, and which was showered with pastel gladioli.

Marion Barney, of Louisville, Ky., and Louise Heiskell, of Little Rock, Ark., two other Vassar classmates of the bride, also were among the attendants. A cousin, Mary Friend Blanton, was the maid of honor and Mrs. Justine Wilson was the matron of honor.

Mardie V. graduated from Vassar last June. She will study at Emory University this year for her master's degree in bacteriology. Her host of Atlanta friends rejoice that Mardie V. will remain here, for she was greatly missed while pursuing her studies in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where Vassar is located.

● ● ● AN ATTRACTIVE visitor frequently glimpsed at the Driving Club pool is Dot Smith (Mrs. Lindsey Jr.) Hopkins, of Miami Beach, Fla. Dot and Lindsey, with their two adorable young sons, Lindsey III and Carter Wayne, arrived a few days ago for a visit to their former home. The popular couple is receiving enviable social attention during their stay, and are being honored at numerous informal parties.

Unfortunately, Lindsey plans to return to Miami Beach on Sunday, but Dot's friends will be delighted to know that she and the children will remain here for several days longer.

New Arrivals

Seminar Planned By Hadassah Group.

Plans have been completed by the Business and Professional Women's division of Hadassah for an interesting seminar, which they will sponsor over Labor Day weekend, September 5-7, at Camp Daniel Morgan, at Rutledge, Ga.

Leon Steinberg, a resident of Palestine for many years, will speak on current Jewish affairs, including "Americanism and Zionism" and "Arab-Jewish Relations."

Swimming, hiking, boating and other sports will also be enjoyed at the camp during the weekend, which will be reserved for adults. Reservations on busses leaving Atlanta Saturday morning and afternoon, September 5, or Sunday morning, September 6, may be made by calling Miss Rose Chomsky at Hemlock 1601-H, or the Jewish Educational Alliance.

Plan Open House.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rives and daughters, Misses Olive Mai and Joyce Rives, will hold open house on Sunday afternoon, August 23, from 4 to 7 o'clock at their home, 760 Woodland avenue in Ormewood Park, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen R. Rives and little daughter, Lynne Rives, of Philadelphia, Pa., formerly of Atlanta. No cards.

5th District Division Sponsors "Scrap Tea."

The garden division of the fifth district of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs invites members and friends to get in the scrap at the patriotic "Scrap Tea" to be given on September 4, on the lawn of the state capitol. The only admission charge will be scraps of material usable by the War Production Board.

General arrangements are in charge of the division chairman, Mrs. William Guy Smith, of Atlanta, who promises an inspiring program of band music, dancing and assembly singing. Key members will reach the general public through an attractive chain letter which should challenge the loyalty of recipients.

Bridal Parties Being Planned For Miss Ward

An interesting series of social affairs continues to be planned in compliment to Miss Patricia Ward, who will be married to Sam H. Crain, of Amarillo, Texas, on September 4 at the Cathedral of St. Philip.

On August 26, Mrs. H. B. Nelson will entertain for Miss Ward at a buffet supper at her home on North Stratford road. On August 29 Mrs. Dana Kilcrease will be hostess at a luncheon at her home on Pinetree drive for the popular bride-elect. On their wedding day, Miss Ward and Mr. Crain will share honors at a breakfast to be given at the Atlanta Athletic Club by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Ward.

The breakfast will assemble Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Crain, of Amarillo, Texas, Miss Natalie Stephenson, of Tampa, Fla., and Atlanta, Cullen Crain, of Philadelphia, Pa., J. M. Staples, Walter Wildeman, Mrs. R. P. Nelson and Miss Virginia Raftery, of Westfield, N. J., the honor guests and hosts.

MRS. SAMUEL HIRSCH.

Mrs. Hirsch, the new captain of the Motor Corps of the Atlanta Chapter, American Red Cross, is well qualified to assume the duties and responsibilities of this important phase of defense work. Mrs. Hirsch has been with the Red Cross Motor Corps since its inception, and succeeds Mrs. E. D. Richardson Jr., who resigned to join Lieutenant Richardson, U. S. A. Air Corps, in Miami. Mrs. Hirsch is one of Atlanta's most prominent matrons and is untiring in her work for the Red Cross and the Service Guild. In the latter organization she was a member of the Motor Corps working in co-operation with the Red Cross, until the formation of the corps in which she is the new leader.

South Carolina Club To Fete Miss Marguerite Steedman

Interesting social affairs continue to be planned in compliment to Miss Marguerite Steedman, whose first novel, "But You'll Be Back," has gone into its second printing.

The members of the South Carolina Club, of which Miss Steedman is first vice president, will honor the author at a tea to be given next Friday afternoon, August 28. The affair will be held at the home of Mrs. Milton Berry, 705 Cooledge avenue, N. E.

Mrs. B Wofford Medlock is president of the South Carolina Club, and Mrs. J. H. Lorenz is in charge of arrangements for the party.

Assisting at the tea will be Mesdames O. R. Randall, Frank W. Sampson, J. F. Watson, W. J. Mitchell, W. T. Coleman, Frank Berry, W. L. McCalley Jr., Orlando Sheppard, W. A. Upchurch.

The decorations will feature a blue and gold motif, carrying out the club's colors.

Calling between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock will be the members of the club and a large group of their friends.

Sorority Officers Honored at Party.

The new officers of the Beta Upsilon Mu sorority were entertained recently by Miss Gaylle Carby at a wiener roast and bridge party at her home on Lanier boulevard.

It was decided that due to war times the sorority will dispense with the usual three-day rush week functions in favor of one all-day affair to be given some time in September.

The new officers are Misses Mary Frances Jones, president; Gloria Still, vice president; Harriett Brooks, secretary; Elizabeth Eidson, treasurer; Dorothy Stewart, scribe; Virginia Battle, sergeant-at-arms.

Honoring Miss James.

Miss Gloria Diane James, of Detroit, Mich., will be honor guest at the soft drink party given tomorrow. Her hostesses will be her cousins, Misses Barbara and Dixie Brandt, who will entertain at their Huntington road residence.

Adult Bible Class Gives Wiener Roast.

The men members of the Adult Bible class of Peachtree Road Methodist church school entertained the women members of the class at a hamburger and wiener roast recently at the church, for the men were the losers in a recent attendance and membership campaign.

Mrs. Gordon Kennimer and Mrs. Royal Camp were in charge of decorations. W. C. Thompson, president of the men's section, was toastmaster, assisted by Mrs. G. H. Wood, president of the women's section. Vocal selections were given by Mrs. Shelton, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. N. Ainsworth Jr.

Wesleyan Alumnae.

The executive board of the Atlanta Wesleyan Alumnae Association meets this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Ella Leonard, 90 Beverly road. Mrs. J. T. Stillwell Jr., president of the association, announces that plans for the coming year will be formulated.

Miss Wright and Lt. O'Neill Wed at Church on August 31

The marriage for Miss Flora MacDonald Wright and Lieutenant (j. g.) Frank Quale O'Neill, United States Naval Reserve, of Charleston, S. C., will be an important event of Monday, August 31.

The ceremony takes place at noon at Christ the King Cathedral on Peachtree road, in the presence of only the immediate families of the popular bridal couple.

Harry Bewick will give Miss Wright, his neice, in marriage, and there will be no attendants.

After the ceremony at the church, Mrs. Wallace Wright, of Chobham Surrey, England, entertains at a reception at the Piedmont Driving Club for her daughter and Lieutenant O'Neill.

Lieutenant O'Neill completes his naval training this month at Cornell University in Ithaca, N. Y. His engagement to lovely Miss Wright was announced several weeks ago.

Baptist Auxiliary Confers Honor on Miss Etheridge

The Girls' Auxiliary of the Virginia Avenue Baptist church has conferred a signal honor upon Miss Mary Etheridge, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Paul Etheridge, by naming their organization for her.

Miss Etheridge was appointed by the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention as a home board worker among the Chinese in El Paso, Texas, and was guest speaker recently at the Virginia Avenue B. W. M. U. at their combined meetings for the month of August.

Other items of interest from the churches in the seventh district of the Atlanta association include the meeting of the W. M. U. of the Peachtree church held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Paul Huff on Briarcliff road. Mrs. D. L. Bond, newly elected president, presided; Mrs. Mozelle Shepherd counducted a Bible study before luncheon, and in the afternoon the regular missionary program was given.

Merritt's Avenue W. M. S., Mrs. Henry O. Shields, president, will meet on Tuesday for the August missionary program at 2 o'clock at the church.

The young people's organizations of the Grant Park Baptist church announce the following meetings: the Elmer Currin Y. W. A. met last evening with Miss Joy Lawless, 658 Killian street, S. E.; the Willie T. Dawson Y. W. A. will meet this evening at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Robert Cohen, 687 Grant street, S. E.; the R. A.'s met last evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church.

Mrs. Paul Matthews, district R. A. leader, recently taught this organization a mission study book, "Tia Tells a Story." Mrs. J. F. Mitchell, mission study chairman of the Atlanta Association, recently taught the W. M. U. of this church the mission book, "A Baptist Generation in Cuba."

Norma Shearer Announces Plans To Marry Former Skiing Instructor

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20.—(INS) Norma Shearer has finally made up her mind she and Monte Arrouge, the former Sun Valley skiing instructor, are to be married over the weekend.

Late today the famous screen star and her fiance paid a visit to the Hall of Records, where they obtained a license to wed.

Norma has steadfastly refused to admit that she had marriage in her mind, but she did say that she was very fond of the young man, who taught her children skiing at Sun Valley.

Monte has been a house guest of Norma and her two children for the past month, and they have been much in evidence on the beach, where they took daily walks.

He is a slender, dark-eyed young man, an American citizen of French descent, and resembles slightly her first husband, the late Irving Thalberg.

It was this resemblance, Norma confided to her friends, that first attracted her to the young man, who made his first entrance into Hollywood when he paid her a visit. Only a few months ago Norma told this writer she was leaving the screen and would make no more pictures unless some exceptional story appeared.

By Louella Parsons.

She has had a sensationally successful career, for during the lifetime of Thalberg he selected all her stories, produced her pictures and gave her box office hits.

Sinse his death, she has not had as many successes, although "The Women" was an unusually good picture.

Unless Norma changes her plans she will be married very quietly in her own home, with only her family and a few close friends in attendance.

Who could possibly write the story of John Barrymore in a more delightful vein than his crony and sidekick, Gene Fowler? John once said the only person who knew him better than Gene was his (Jawn's) biggest creditor. Good times or bad, these two were inseparable pals, and it was Gene who was at his bedside when the "Great Profile" died. Well, Gene already is compiling material for a book on Barrymore—at the same time he will adapt his own material into a screen play.

Gene will take a year getting "The Life Story of John Barrymore" ready for dramatization. That, of course, brings up who might impersonate the great lover who in later life proved his versatility by becomoing a great clown. Frederic March comes first to mind as he almost out-Barrymored Barrymore in "The Royal Family." What a cast if Lionel and Ethel and daughter Diana stepped in to play their real life roles.

Mary Martin first wowed Broadway singing "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" in the Cole Porter musical "Leave It to Me." Now Harry Goetz and Gregory Ratoff have bought the rights to the show minus both Mary Martin and the "daddy" song. The latter happened to be a specialty number that doesn't go with the show rights—the former (Mary) happens to belong to Paramount.

In spite of this Ratoff and Goetz feel the musical can be whipped into a whiz of a movie comedy with the military background. William Gaxton, who starred in the Broadway original, is already in Hollywood for "Something to Shout About." And the other co-star, Sophie Tucker, is heading here. So don't be surprised if Ratloff blitzes them into his movie version.

Here is news that will be greeted with enthusiasm by Vivien Leigh's legion of admirers. Vivien, unless something unforseen happens, will co-star with Robert Donat in Metro-Goldwyn's "If Winter Comes." Irving Asher, producer of A. S. M. Hutchinson's best seller of a few years ago, is in England and Vivien will not leave her native land while the war is on. She has been doing a play there, so the movie is a natural. David Selznick would undoubtedly lend Vivien for this story, for here is no immediate chance of her returning to Hollywood and she shouldn't be away from the screen too long, even though her perperformance in G. W. T. W. will never be forgotten.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Arthur Hornblow and Claire Trevor acting as if they had much to say to each other at the Players; George E. Stone and Ann Carroll, blond model at least a foot and a half taller, dining at Mike Lyman's; Zorina, swimming at the Beverly Wilshire pool, looked very chic with the short haircut which is not so short now; the Benny Goodmans are at the Beverly Hills hotel. He is here to play himself in "Cover Girls;" Dennis Day, tenor on the Jack Benny show, has also put his signature on a Charles Rogers contract; Earl Carroll and Beryl Wallace have kissed and made up. That's all for today. See you tomorrow! But Alex Pierce, of New York city, says: "Buy war bonds without delay—and bring much nearer our victorious day."

Norma Shearer, who retired from the screen some months ago, announces her plans to marry the instructor who taught her children skiing at Sun Valley.

Dr. Brady Gets Invited to Breakfast

By Dr. William Brady.

Last spring the poor hungry geek who conducts this column incautiously inquired, not meaning to cast reflections on any school of culinary practice, what has become of the artists of the gay nineties who could and did, without to-do, come right up, any bright spring morning with a stack of honest-to-goodness yeast-raised 100 per cent Penn Yan first prize buckwheat cakes, and, of course, a pitcher of prime northern Ontario Canadian maple syrup on the side.

Come to find out, that famous artist, far from becoming extinct, is still going strong. Her name is legion—if one can believe all one reads in the letters. I received so many letters from her, telling just how to proceed to make such pancakes, that I rather regretted I had brought the matter up. I say if one can believe all one reads in letters. This skepticism is based on a significant fact—in all these letters giving detailed instructions for making genuine buckwheat pancakes just one offered to submit to the acid test—gave me a vague invitation to drop in some morning about breakfast time and see for myself. A hollow mockery, that, for, as I fear the correspondent knows, I'd have to travel many miles going and coming, and moreover, as I imagine the correspondent suspects, I'm a diffident cuss and I just wouldn't have the face to accept such an invitation unless a specific time and date were named in it.

Alcoholics Anonymous.

Not long ago I answered a query in this column by explaining that I was unable to tell the correspondent how to get in touch with a local group of "Alcoholics Anonymous," as members or representatives of the excellent organization seemed bent on remaining not only anonymous but secluded. That provoked the desired reaction. From all over the country came letters from members of the Alcoholics Anonymous groups offering to welcome anyone I might refer to them, and I am glad now that I used that method, for the fine spirit that breathes in these letters, from men and women, many of them men and women of high standing in the world of art, letters, in the professions, tends to soften the harshness of my own attitude toward confirmed inebriates. Apparently a man or woman may have been dragged down by John Barleycorn and still stage a comeback and become a good citizen once again. What's more, the eagerness of these Alcoholics Anonymous to help others recover self-control indicates one reason why the movement is so successful. An ex-alcoholic somehow can secure the confidence of an alcoholic to a degree seldom attained by a non-alcoholic. I am glad to say I am now prepared to put alcoholics in touch with Alcoholics Anonymous groups in communities in many parts of the country.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Albumin.

Yesterday I got a job. Today I am jobless. In the physical examination they found I had albumin. What is albumin and how can I get rid of such a condition? (S. J.)

Answer — Presumably albumin was found present in the urine. It has no special significance—that is, it does not signify anything necessarily wrong with the kidneys, especially in a woman. Better report to a physician for examination and advice. Sometimes it means Bright's disease.

Hay Fever.

Have been taking vitamin B complex for hay fever. No apparent benefit so far. Now I hear that vitamin D is better.

Answer—Send stamped envelope bearing your address, for pamphlet on "Hay Fever."

Air in Blood.

If air were injected into the blood, into a vein, would it kill a person, and if so, how soon? Would there be anything to show what caused death? (A. G.)

Answer—Theoretically a hypodermic syringe barrelful of air would produce fatal air embolism in a few seconds or minutes. Experimentally it required injection of an enormous volume of air to kill an ox. If air in the blood or vein blocked a vital area of heart, lungs or brain and caused death by embolism, the nature of the trouble would be obvious on pathological investigation. However, you can get away with it all right in a murder mystery story. Authors of such stories get away with murder every day, figuratively speaking.

Fistula and Hemorrhoids

I also want to thank you for recommending Dr. ———. He treated me successfully for hemorrhoids and fistula, and the treatments gave little discomfort and never interfered with my regular work. He is a kind gentleman and an excellent physician. (Mrs. A. G.)

Answer—Thank you. I have never met the doctor but many of his patients have assured me of his skill and kindness.

Boils

I got little relief from treatment suggested in "Relief for Allergy." Another thing, I get thumping headache at times, may once or twice a month . . . and have had boils that keep coming one after another now for over a year. (H. E. M.)

MY DAY: Civilians Prove They Can Take It

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

HYDE PARK, Wednesday.—I read a letter reprinted in one of the magazines this morning, from a man whose usually very successful tourist motor camp was deserted because of the war. He had been asked to join with a group to urge upon congress some relief by the government for his group during he war period.

Instead, he responded that the government should be told to think only about winning the war, and he, as his contribution to the war, should try to meet his own problems. That is a very fine attitude and one which I find in many people.

For instance, there is a woman on one of our through roads, who used to have a number of guests at her gas station and lunch room for a meal. She sold a considerable amount in the way of articles which she was able to make in the winter, woven material, jellies, jams and the like, to these tourists.

Instead of complaining that she does not know what to do now that her business has practically disappeared, she calmly announced to me the other day that she had decided to close her house completely in the autumn and get a job for the winter months. She is sure that there must be work for anyone as strong and healthy as she is, who can cook and wash.

There must be thousands and thousands of people, men and women, who are doing their bit for the war by readjusting their way of living. They thought they would never have to change. They were settled for life and then the war changed everything.

Another woman writes me from the southwest that she is going to move her two children into a near-by town where there is a war industry, for she cannot give them proper medical care on her husband's Navy pay. He was in the reserve and was called back and is now "somewhere in the Pacific."

On the other hand, I must acknowledge that I've had letters from people who seem to be beaten by their problems, or perhaps it would be fairer to say that they really dread facing them. One young woman writes me that she has a job. Her baby was born after her husband left, but both she and the baby are well and apparently she is not in financial straits.

She feels that her mind cannot any longer stand the strain of not seeing her husband, and she wants to know why the Army does not arrange for wives to join their husbands when they are not actually on a fighting front. I, of course, am not in on the Army's plans, but I can imagine difficulties when there is an uncertainty as to how long a particular part of the world will remain a peaceful spot.

Lack of Cooperation Encourages Daughter to Marry Secretly

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie:

I am a mother with a 16-year-old daughter who has a sweetheart in the Navy. He is home on a 20-day leave and her daddy will not let him come to the house to see her and so as a result she meets him in town at the post office and he walks part of the way home with her. A neighbor of ours watches them stand at the corner and talk and she runs and tells my husband. When my husband comes home he raises cain with my daughter and slaps her for going out to meet the boy. She has been going with him for two years and gets two or three letters a week from him. He has asked her to marry him now or to wait for him until he returns. What must I do to stop people from running to her daddy with gossip?

A WORRIED MOTHER.

She is your daughter, isn't she? Why do you allow your husband to have all the say so in her activities? I think that your husband is acting very narrow-minded about the whole thing, and I think you are being very unsympathic. I do not agree with the set-up which faces the daughter to have to slip out to meet her Navy friend, but under the circumstances I think it is about all she can do. Being 16 and in love and knowing that one's heart interest will soon go away, it is a combination hard to consider.

The fact that the two young people have known each other for some time makes it all the more necessary that they should see each other. There is no excuse for your husband to act as he is acting and unless you step in and change the situation, your daughter may run away and marry her Navy man while he is on leave. She is too young and I would advise her to wait until he comes back. Your action will have a great deal to do with this and I think you should take matters in your own hands.

Tell your husband that you intend having the young sailor at the house any time you want him and that since it is for your daughter's happiness he should co-operate. If your husband is the type of man with whom you can discuss matters in a more or less sensible manner, tell him that his objection to their being together is making them all the more determined to see each other. Tell him that he can expect his daughter to treat him any way, run away, and marry or marry secretly and it will be entirely his fault. Also tell him that you are going to have something to say about what your child can do and the sooner he begins to co-operate with the two of you, the better it will be.

As for the neighbors running to your husband with gossip about your own child, it is, after all, none of their business what your daughter is doing. Every boy and girl have a right to stop and talk, and your old busybody snooper is only trying to brew trouble. If you have an opportunity of talking to these neighbors tell them you feel so safe about your daughter and her beau, for you know they (the neighbors) will keep a watchout for them. In other words they are acting just like a nursemaid without your having to pay for their services.

If I were you I would try to give the young couple as much co-operation and happiness as possible during his leave. He may not come back.

THE PROBLEM OF PETTING.

Dear Dixie:

I am 16, weigh 100 pounds and have black hair and blue eyes. I am considered rather lovely, and popular, and I have lots of dates. My problem is about Chad. He is well respected and so are his people. I have dated him three times, and like him very much. He is very nice, but like all boys, he likes to park and pet. I do not care for parking, and especially do not care for petting. The last time I dated Chad he got mad with me because I would not pet. Of course we were parked and there was another couple with us. This other couple, who were in the front seat, were the ones who suggested parking.

Chad told me I was like all the girls and liked to pet and to park, but I was only acting stubborn. I told him I absolutely did not care for such things, and if we could not think of something more worthwhile to do, he could take me home. Which he did. He said, "all right, I am not going to waste my time on a nice girl," even though he kissed me good night at the door. Then he said if he could get his dad's car next day, he would come by and we would go somewhere and play tennis. I told him it would be fine, if he wanted to wast time on a nice girl.

He did not come, and I have not seen him since. I have not and will not run after him, although I do want him to come back. How can I, or should I? Every time I see him, he smiles and speaks and so do I. School will start soon, and we are in the same grade, and we will be in the same school. I have never been to this school, and I would like for him to show me around, and introduce me to his friends. But will he? It has been two weeks since I dated him last. My idea is that he will not come back, unless I make the first move, which I do not care to do, unless necessary. BLONDIE.

I do not think it is necessary for you to make the first move toward Chad. After all he deliberately broke a date with you, which followed his outspoken statement that he did not care to waste time on you. These two things should make you quite sure that he is not interested.

I think you did perfectly right about him and the way you handled him, and you can rest assured that he will remember you longer because you did not pet with him, than if you had. Remember always, that if you are easy to get, you will be just as easy to get rid of later on. If you are so interested in him, the best method for you to assume is to be cordial but cool.

As for the school term, I am sure there will be plenty of other boys at the school who will be delighted to show you around. Why not make some inquiries. When Chad sees that you are getting along all right without him, then he will realize that you are quite a girl, as well as popular.

Your Horoscope For Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21-April 19 (ARIES)—During the morning hours and until 3:45 p. m. favors putting ideas into action, general business endeavors, conferences and diplomatic dealings. The remainder of the day and evening is likely to be filled with changeable moods.

April 20-May 20 (TAURUS)—This is a very favorable day for entertaining old friends and people of means. You can make steady progress in matters that concern your personal welfare.

May 21-June 20 (GEMINI)—The combined influences for the day tend to produce a feeling of nervousness and erratic action. The day does not especially favor new beginnigs. An excellent day to stick to routine.

June 21-July 22 (CANCER)—You may find it easy to come to agreements previous to 1:09 p. m., so care should be given to travel, business and daily living. After 1:09 p. m. favors private affairs, communications and things that have been hard to complete.

July 23-Aug. 22 (LEO)—The period previous to 3:05 p. m. favors dealings with the opposite sex, the adoption of new methods in connection with your business.

August 23-September 22 (VIRGO)—This is a favorable day for dealing with the opposite sex, or in matters of art and adornment. Attend to matters that demand adaptability and resourcefulness.

September 23-October 22 (LIBRA)—Previous to 1:14 p. m. favors contacting influential people. Between 1:15 p. m. and 4:26 p. m. favors attending to old matters.

October 23-November 21 (SCORPIO). Greater gain will be attained today. Remain away from things that are not too strictly above board.

November 22-December 21 (SAGATARIUS)—The best aspects of the day operate previous to 2:20 p. m. This period favors general business activity, literary and educational matters. The remainder of the day favors following established methods and sticking to routine pursuits.

December 22-January 19 (CAPRICORN)—Before 10:57 a. m. any laxity in finances should be strongly curbed. Avoid a feeling of wastefulness or desire to undertake obligations that are more than you can afford. After 10:57 a. m. favors new plans. After 7:10 p. m. favors matters of a social and romantic nature.

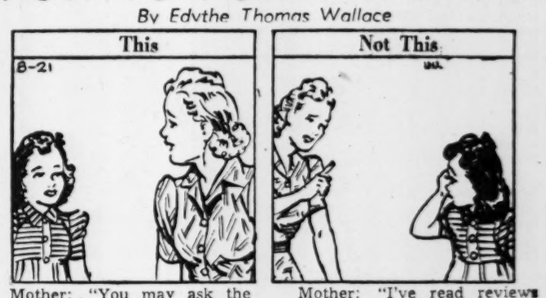

January 20-February 18 (AQUARIUS) Those matters that call for rules and regulations, precision and are well planned are favored before 10:16 a. m. The remainder of the day brings limitations and is not a favorable time to seek favors or undertake risks.

February 19-March 20.(PISCES—If you are wanting to accomplished something where a friend can help you now is the time to encounter temporary disruptions and a certain amount of worry. Good results should be derived through social affairs, new friends, domestic and financial dealings.

POINTS FOR PARENTS

By Edythe Thomas Wallace

Mother: "You may ask the girls here to lunch and we'll plan something to do afterwards that is fun. Wouldn't they like that as well as going to this particular movie?"

Mother: "I've read reviews of this picture and you cannot go. That's final. Don't tease any more. I don't care if all the other girls are going to see it together."

Flatly forbidding a child's doing what all her friends do is apt to create more problems than it solves.

Exercises To Develop A Lovely Chin Line

By Ida Jean Kain.

When a screen star has her face lifted, she doesn't tell the world about it. But you can usually spot the good work by the change in her chinline. Suddenly all the droop is gone and it is much lovelier.

If you have the determination, however, you can do a lot to avert this tendency to sagging. Your throat column is seven-eighths muscle and the trouble is mainly the lack of any exercise. Just a small amount will keep the muscles in tone and help to hold the line firm.

But before going on with our chin calisthenics, let's talk about cream. Don't expect cream to nourish the tissues. It won't. But it will lubricate the skin and keep it soft so that lines don't form as easily. Patting on the cream stimulates your circulation and that does mean better nourishment for the tissues. So massage with cream is definitely in order.

In massaging, apply cream heavily to the hands and throat and work from the base of the throat upward. Place backs of fingers about where the dimple in the throat is and "walk" the fingers up. Use the first and second joints of the fingers. Just under the chin, knead deeply but gently, then separate hands and work outward along the jawline. The trick is to move your fingers so that you do not stretch or pull the skin.

Leave on a film of cream and go into your exercises. The secret of beautifying the throat with exercise is to tense the muscles and hold the tension throughout a given moment. Start with this one:

Tip your head backward, open your mouth in an oval and, resisting strongly with the muscles of the lower jaw, slowly close your mouth. Do this three times. Then let the tension ebb out of the muscles.

Now, poke your lower jaw forward in an exaggerated pout and hold it while you stretch your neck and slowly circle head until chin points over one shoulder, tip head back, and point chin hard over other shoulder, then face front, chin level. Do this slowly two more times. Relax.

Finish with this difficult exercise: Cup your chin in both hands with fingers pointing up along jawline. Now, push with hands and resist with chin as you slowly force head backward. Reverse it—resist with hands and push with chin as you lower head forward until chin is level. Relax the muscles slowly and repeat three times.

After you have exercised, remove all trace of the cream and pat chin and throat with a pad of cotton that has been dipped in ice water. Then splash the cold water over your face and throat.

All these measures are wasted unless you watch your head carriage. Keep your head up and your chin level. Make a habit of lovely head carriage.

Rent Violation By Landlords Cited by OPA

U. S. To Control Sales If Owners Force Tenants To Buy Houses.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration served notice on landlords in defense rental areas today the government was prepared to control all sales of rental dwellings if necessary to force compliance with rent ceilings.

Paul Porter, deputy OPA administrator in charge of rents, said his office was facing a "serious enforcement problem" because of sales now being made by landlords under conditions which he said plainly indicated an intent to violate maximum rent regulations.

Many landlords, he explained, were forcing tenants to purchase the homes which they now rent, accepting promissory notes for down payments, and requiring monthly "installment" payments well above the rent now being paid.

Sales contracts in these instances are tightly drawn, Porter said, making it possible for persons selling the houses to recapture them on slight provocation.

4-Day Session Called by WPB To Open Today

Leaders To Discuss Comprehensive List of Business Problems.

In a comprehensive series of discussions of the problems of government wartime control of industry, 300 southern business leaders from seven southeastern states will begin a four-day session at 9 o'clock this morning at the Ansley hotel.

The conference, called by the War Productioni Board, is designed to offer businessmen training comparable to that given government specialists and to bring manufacturers up to date on priorities orders by which WPB controls the flow of raw materials to industry.

Discussions of price control, war information, war transportation, housing, financing of government contracts, construction, repair and maintenance, compliance, appeals and kindred government control orders will offer the manufacturers a broad picture of the war's effect on southern business and will attempt to solve many of the problems which are now facing industrial and business establishments in Georgia, the Carolinas, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi.

Several Hundred Expected.

Frank Neely, southeastern WPB director; Oscar Straus, regional OPA administrator; Charles H. Murchison, regional director of the Office of Civilian Defense; Marvin Cox, regional officer of the Office of War Information; William H. Russell, rail-truck co-ordinator, and John G. Caley, motor transport field manager of the Office of Defense Transportation, are among speakers slated to address the several hundred business executives who will attend the conference.

Norman H. Elsas, president of the Associated Industries of Georgia, will deliver the address of welcome. Neely will outline the objectives of WPB and O. M. Jackson, chief deputy regional director of WPB, will describe the WPB organization.

A comprehensive discussion and explanation of the priorities system and certain WPB regulations will be led by D. Leon Williams, senior production analyst, and Frank L. Laseter, regional chief of the production requirements plan. Russell H. McKinney, analyst for textile industry problems, Paul P. Henderson, production analyst, and Frank Hayes, representing the Fourth Service Command, Army Engineers, will explain the procedure for making application for critical materials for use in war industry.

Priorities Problems.

The remainder of today's session will be devoted to a discussion of the various transportation problems facing business. Speakers will be Caley and Russell, representing ODT, and Robert N. Springfield, supervisor of the Bureau of Motor Carriers of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Tomorrow's session will deal almost entirely with discussions of specific priorities orders, including an outline of the appeals procedure. Housing problems, too, will be discussed on Saturday.

Tomorrow's meeting will be devoted to a comprehensive discussion of the production requirements plan, under which all manufacturers using any of the designated "critical" materials must operate.

The final session Monday will be varied in scope with cilivian defense, Office of War Information, conservation, compliance, OPA regulations and a short discussion of pooling of resources for war production scheduled.

Egyptian Aircraft Activity Increases

CAIRO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—British fighters destroyed at least four enemy planes in a sudden increase of aerial activity over the Egyptian battle front west of El Alamein, British headquarters reported today.

The communique mentioned no bombing raids, however, and said there was nothing to report concerning land operations yesterday.

Farm Ceilings Are Advocated By Henderson

Question of Winning War, Price Administrator Says.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson, calling upon all Americanss for greater sacrifices to win the fight against inflation, said tonight the farmer "must take less, from now on, for many of his products," and wage increases must be limited to those "clearly dictated by necessity."

In an address prepared for a rally of war workers here, Henderson asserted, "It is a question of whether we want to win this war or whether we want personally to profit from it."

"I have already begun the battle," he said. "I am working with the Secretary of Agriculture on a plan for a ceiling on some farm prices. Many prices, over which we have so far had no substantial control, are now up. In effect, that means that the farmer is going to be asked to take less for his product. It is my firm conviction that he must take less, from now on, for many of his products."

Wickard Said In Favor Of Fixing Farm Prices

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP) Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has reached the conclusion, a close associate said today, that some form of price-fixing should be adopted to stabilize farm, food and industrial prices in the interest of wartime economic unity and to prevent inflation.

This official, who asked that he be not quoted by name, said this conclusion prompted Wickard to advocate in a speech last night repeal of a provision of the price control law prohibiting ceilings on farm prices at less than 110 per cent of parity.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, Republican leader, indorsed this idea today.

Swedish State Railways will introduce automatic electric train control on main lines.

These two smart business girls believe it's a patriotic duty to keep oneself fit, and they begin the day with a good breakfast. Though they both leave home before 8 o'clock, they get up in time to enjoy a balanced meal—one which will provide energy for the busy morning hours. "You can't work hard for half a day on toast and coffee," they said. They are Miss Dorothy Bragg, left, and Miss Margaret Smith.

Serve Better Breakfasts

Most of us are working harder than we've ever worked before, and we're living under a great deal of strain. This means we must take better care of our health, being sure that each meal provides the maximum energy and health-protection. Every woman should assume this responsibility toward her own health and the health of those in her care. In time of crisis, as this, it not only is sensible, but it is a patriotic duty to keep well, full of energy and pep.

Breakfast in many homes has been a neglected meal, and when you stop to think how many hours a worker must depend upon his breakfast you will realize that this meal should be improved for the duration. The "fruit juice and cup of coffee" breakfast is not enough for war winners. I do not suggest that we go back to the fried chicken and beefsteak breakfasts of plantation days, but I do urge that breakfast be considered as a meal, and that it be planned to give growing children and workers enough energy for half a day's work.

And not only is there an increased need for better breakfasts, but there should be an adjustment of time so that this meal may be eaten with enjoyment. If necessary get up a few minutes earlier and eat in relative leisure and peace.

Here are a few suggestions for dishes that will brighten your breakfast menus and bring in a few changes to avoid monotony. Try loganberry and cranberry juice as a change from orange juice, or mix orange juice with either of these. Grape juice and orange or lemon juice is fine; tomato juice, of course; fresh apple sauce cooked with a few whole cloves and sweeteneed slightly; fresh berries and melons in season; fresh pears sliced in orange juice or baked with a little honey and served cold with thin cream.

For "hot dishes" try hot cereals with dried fruits—raisins, dates, figs, prunes or apricots added just before serving; boiled rice with brown sugar and cinnamon or with maple syrup and a little top milk; any of the fine grained cereals cooked in milk, poured into small molds, chilled and served with crushed fruit.

Ham, chipped beef, bacon, corned beef hash and sausage have many interesting possibilities, as have eggs, smoked or fresh or canned fish, liver or kidneys, ham and bacon.

Try these:

Creamed hard cooked eggs and bits of cooked ham served on toast or on a toasted English muffin.

Eggs scrambled with crumbled, browned liver sausage and served with golden toast.

Hot apple sauce on French toast, garnished with crisp bacon.

Chipped beef frizzled in butter or margarine and scrambled with eggs.

Sausages with fruited pancakes (add 1 cup chopped apples or berries to pancake batter).

Date or raisin muffins are popular and may be made the day before and reheated for breakfast.

Here is a good recipe for muffins:

Date Muffins—Sift 1 cup all-purpose flour with 1-2 teaspoon salt and 3 teaspoons baking powder. Add 1 cup unsifted whole-wheat flour and 1 teaspoon sugar. Beat 1 egg and mix with 1 cup milk, then stir this into the flour mixture. Beat to make smooth batter, then stir in 3 tablespoons melted butter, margarine or any preferred cooking fat and 1-2 cup sliced pitted dates. Pour into 9 greased muffin pans and bake in a moderate oven—375 degrees—for about 25 minutes. These may be reheated next day by putting them in a paper bag, twisting the top to seal it, and putting the bag in a moderate oven for 5 to 8 minutes.

Vary your breakfast bread with this:

QUICK COFFEE CAKE.

Baking powder biscuit dough.
1-2 cup sugar.
1 egg yolk, beaten.
3 tablespoons butter or margarine.
1-4 cup flour.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.

Make biscuit dough as for ordinary biscuits except add 1-4 cup sugar to dry ingredients and egg yolk to milk. Spread dough 1-2 inch thick in greased layer pan. Cream butter until soft, add flour combined with remaining 1-4 cup sugar and cinnamon. Mix well and spread evenly over top of dough. Bake in hot oven.

Thirst Quenchers

(Without Sugar)

Summer days are thirsty days and long, cool drinks are in demand as thirst quenchers. But with the sugar ration, how shall we provide these refreshing "coolers?" Lemons and oranges are rich in vitamin C which helps to counteract fatigue yet which cannot be stored in the body and is lost rapidly from body tissues when exposed to high temperatures. That, perhaps, is why unconsciously we long for lemonade or orangeade on a sizzling day! The following suggestions for fruit drinks are all sugarless. Honey, corn syrup, jam and flavored gelatine are used instead of sugar. Try them and see for yourself, how good they are.

The first is known as a Golden Cooler and uses canned apricots and gingerale as the sweeteners. Use a No. 2 can of apricots, rubbing them through a fine strainer and mixing with the juice. Add to this 1-2 cup lemon juice, 1 cup orange juice and, just before serving, add 1 large bottle of pale gingerale or 2 pint bottles. Pour over ice cubes in tall glasses and garnish with sprigs of fresh mint. This makes 8 portions of a pleasantly tart, delicious flavored drink.

A Lime and Lemon that uses lime flavored gelatine as the sweetening is new. Dissolve a package of lime flavored gelatine in 1 cup boiling water. Cool, add the juice of 3 large lemons and 2 cups ice water or a pint of carbonated water and serve over ice cubes in tall glasses. Garnish with a slice of lemon. Serves 4.

Jim-Jam Punch, as you may guess, makes use of jam instead of sugar. Mix 2 cups of jam, any kind you prefer, with 1 cup boiling water and stir until the jam is melted. Let cool, add 1-2 to 2-3 cups lemon juice (depending on the jam used) and strain the mixture. Add 4 cups cold water and serve in tall glasses with cracked ice or ice cubes. Garnish with a slice of lemon.

Honey Punch is delicious. Mix 1 cup honey with 2 1-2 cups hot water and stir until the honey is dissolved. Then add 2 1-2 cups cold water, 4 cups orange juice, 1-2 cup of lemon juice, 1 cup strong tea (cold) and 2 1-2 cups fresh or canned grapefruit juice. Serve ice cold from a punch bowl in which there is a block of ice.

And here is a fine party punch that uses light syrup instead of sugar. Mix 1 1-2 cups light syrup with 1 cup hot water and stir until mixed. Cool, add 2 cups strong cold tea, 1-2 cup lemon juice, 1 cup orange juice, 1 pint canned apple juice, and 2 1-2 cups grapefruit juice or pineapple juice. Dilute with 2 cups crushed ice to chill it quickly, and just before serving add one quart carbonated water.

Any summer drink will gain a touch of novelty if you cool it with colored, flavored ice cubes. They are made by freezing any flavor of carbonated beverages in the cube tray of your refrigerator.

For a refreshing cooler, fill tall beverage glasses two-thirds full of gingerale and add a scoop of pineapple sherbet. Garnish with mint sprig.

Spicy Iced Lemonade

15 whole cloves.
2 sticks cinnamon.
1 cup honey.
6 cups ice water.
1-4 teaspoon grated lemon peel.
Ice cubes.

Combine cold water, cloves and cinnamon. Cover; boil 10 minutes. Add honey; boil five minutes. Remove spices. Add ice water, lemon peel and juice. Serve in tall glasses, poured over the ice cubes. Garnish with lemon slices or mint sprigs. Serves 8.

Golden Punch

3-4 cup honey.
1 1-2 cups lemon juice.
1 cup orange juice.
2 cups grape juice or juice from fruit or berry.
6 cups ice water.

Combine ingredients. Serve over ice cubes and garnish with lemon slices or berries. Serves 8.

Tomatoes, Stuffed

Stuffed Tomatoes

Tomatoes are so downright pretty I like to serve them whole. Stuffed with a tasty filling, they have unusual eye appeal, whether baked or served as a salad. Here are suggestions for stuffed tomatoes:

Corn and Mushroom Stuffed Tomatoes

Scoop out centers of 6 large, firm tomatoes. Stuff with: One cup corn, cut from cob (or left-over), 1 cup sliced mushrooms, 2 tablespoons chopped onions and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper. Add 3 tablespoons melted butter, salt and pepper, and mix. Arrange the stuffed tomatoes in a shallow baking pan, add 2 cups cream of pea soup and bake in a moderate oven until tomatoes are tender.

Baked Tomatoes With Rice and Olive Stuffing

Cut a slice from the tops of 6 firm, ripe tomatoes and scoop out the insides. Sprinkle the tomatoes with salt and pepper. Mix 1 1-2 cups cooked rice, hot or cold, with 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1-4 cup chopped ripe olives, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, salt and pepper to season, 2 tablespoons salad oil, 1 well-beaten egg and 1-4 cup evaporated milk, undiluted. Mix well, fill the tomato shells, packing the filling in lightly. Sprinkle fine, dry bread crumbs over the tops and place in a shallow baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 25 to 30 minutes, or until the tomatoes are soft and the crumbs golden brown. Serve hot.

For salads:

Tomatoes Stuffed With Vegetables

6 medium tomatoes
2 cups green peas, cooked
1-2 cup diced celery
1-2 to 1 teaspoon minced onion
1-2 cup mayonnaise
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
Lettuce

Have all ingredients well chilled. Scoop out the centers of tomatoes. Combine all ingredients except the lettuce. Fill the tomatoes with the salad mixture. Place lettuce on a salad tray and in each lettuce cup place a tomato. Garnish with parsley.

Stuffed Tomatoes in Aspic

6 small firm tomatoes
2 cups chicken salad
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon gelatin, dissolved in 1 teaspoon cold water
Aspic jelly

Peel tomatoes and remove pulp. Sprinkle insides with salt and let stand inverted for 10 minutes. Fill with chicken salad. Cover tops with mayonnaise which has been mixed with gelatin. Decorate top with sliced sweet pickle or olives. Cover bottom of a pan with aspic jelly mixture, place in ice water and let stand until firm. Arrange tomatoes on jelly, garnish side down. Add more aspic jelly mixture, let stand until firm and continue until all aspic is used. Chill thoroughly, turn on serving dish and garnish with parsley.

Watermelon Rind Preserves

2 pounds watermelon rind (prepared)
4 cups sugar
2 quarts water
2 lemons
1 tablespoon ground ginger

The texture of watermelon preserves is largely determined by the treatment of the rind before it is preserved. For a crisp, firm product, soak rind in lime water 2 or 3 hours. Prepare lime water by adding 1 tablespoon slacked lime (calcium oxide) to each quart of cold water. For a product more like that of preserved pears, soak rind overnight in salt water, 2 tablespoons salt to each quart water.

After soaking, rinse rind in several changes of fresh, clear water. Sprinkle ginger over rind, cover with water and boil 1½ hours. Drain and drop into a syrup made of the sugar the 2 quarts water and juice of 1 lemon. Boil gently 1 hour. Add second lemon sliced thin and continue boiling gently until rind is clear and syrup is thick as honey. If the syrup gets too thick before rind is clear add a cup or more of boiling water. Preserves may be allowed to set overnight to "plump" or may be put in jars and sealed immediately. If allowed to plump, put preserves in sterilized jars, heat syrup to boiling point and pour over. Seal and process jars a few minutes.

Prize Recipes

Victory Peach Pudding

Submitted by Mrs. Andy D. Blackstock, Rt. 2, Douglasville, Ga.

1 small box vanilla wafers
6 ripe peaches
1-2 cup white syrup
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sweet milk

Peel peaches, quarter, place in saucepan with very little water, and cook until soft. Cool. Beat egg yolks, add milk, syrup, flavoring and peaches. Line pudding dish with wafers, put layer of peach mixture, then layer of wafers, and repeat until all is used. Beat egg whites until stiff; spread over, and brown in slow oven.

Lemon Ice Box Cake

Submitted by Rena Lockhart, 2019 13th St., Columbus, Ga.

1 pound box vanilla wafers
4 eggs beaten separately
4 lemons, grated rind of 1
small can sweetened condensed milk

Beat egg yolks until light, add milk gradually, then lemon juice and rind. Grease spring form pan well with butter or margarine, line with crushed wafers, then pour in lemon mixture. Make meringue of whites and place on top. Brown in slow oven, then put cake in refrigerator overnight.

Rice-Meat Loaf

Submitted by Mary J. Williams, Rt. 2. Conyers, Ga.

2 cups cooked rice
1-2 cup grated raw carrots
1-8 cup chopped onion
1 1-2 lbs. sausage
1 egg
1-2 cup milk
Salt, pepper and paprika

Combine all ingredients well and shape into a greased baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven about 45 minutes. Serve with hot tomato sauce.

Easy Chocolate Pie

Submitted by Mrs. B. B. Adams, Elberton, Ga.

7-ozs. semi-sweet chocolate
1 small can sweetened condensed milk

Put chocolate in top of double boiler and stir over hot water until soft. Add a little milk and mix thoroughly, add rest of milk and stir until thick. Put mixture into baked pie shell or a crumb shell. Top with meringue or whipped cream, and chill.

Congealed Salad Loaf

1 package lime gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
1 cup finely diced celery
1 cup finely diced cucumber
1-2 cup finely diced green pepper
1-2 cup finely chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water, add cold water. Pour a thin layer of gelatin in deep loaf pan. Mix vegetables with lemon juice and when the thin layer of gelatin has set spread half the vegetables over the layer and cover with another layer of gelatin. Place in refrigerator to set.

MIDDLE LAYER.

2 eggs
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-2 cup irradiated evaporated milk
1-2 cup chicken broth
1 1-2 tablespoons gelatin (plain) softened in 1-4 cup cold water
2 cups cooked, diced chicken, veal, salmon or tuna
2-3 cup evaporated milk chilled and whipped

Beat the eggs, add the salt, milk and broth. Cook over boiling water until mixture coats the spoon, about 5 minutes. Add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add chicken or other meat or fish. When mixture is cold fold in whipped canned milk, and spread over jellied vegetables in mold. and when this layer is set cover with remaining vegetables and lime gelatin. Place in refrigerator until firmly set. Turn out on chilled platter and garnish with salad greens.

Food Parade

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION
Edited by SALLY SAVER.

ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY, AUGUST 21, 1942.

Milk drinks are both food and drink. A fruit-flavored milk shake such as this, with a good sandwich, makes a balanced light meal.

Easy Milk Shake

Milk drinks, furnishing as they do both food and drink, are splendid for children's parties, for the aged and for convalescents. Good, too, for those, who because of underweight, need between-meal food. Milk shakes can be made any flavor and ice cream may be added, if desired. To make:

Sweeten cold milk to taste with syrup, honey, jam or jelly, and add for each tall glass to be served, two tablespoons fruit juice or fruit pulp, pureed. Add ice cream or cracked ice and shake or pour from one glass to another until foamy. When frothy pour into serving glasses, sprinkle lightly with cinnamon or nutmeg or garnish with fruit, whipped cream or more ice cream.

Sugarless Custard Pie

2 1-4 cups hot water
3-4 cup sweetened condensed milk
3 eggs and 2 egg yolks, or (4 eggs, slightly beaten)
3-4 teaspoon salt
1 1-2 teaspoons vanilla
1 unbaked pastry shell
Grated nutmeg

Add hot water to condensed milk and blend. Combine beaten eggs, salt and vanilla. Add milk gradually. Strain custard mixture into unbaked pie shell and sprinkle generously with nutmeg.

Bake 25 to 35 minutes in moderately oven, 400 degrees, or until knife inserted comes out clean.

Coconut Custard Pie: Add 1 cup shredded coconut to custard mixture before pouring into pie shell.

Chocolate Crest Custard Pie: Cook 1 ounce chocolate (cut in pieces) with 1 tablespoon water and 2 tablespoons light corn syrup until smooth. Spread on baked custard pie.

Prune Custard Pie: Add 1 cup cooked prunes, pitted and halved, to custard mixture. Prunes must be well-drained. (Prunes cooked with lemon and orange slices have extra flavor.)

Meat and vegetables congealed in layers makes an appealing luncheon dish in summer.

Marines Plan Parade Here Next Tuesday

Dance Also Scheduled Wednesday for New 'Cracker' Platoon.

A colorful Marine Corps parade will be held in downtown Atlanta next Tuesday in honor of the new "Cracker" platoon, the Marine recruiting office announced last night.

Exact time and route of march will be announced later.

Recruiting officers also announced that a dance will be held Wednesday night in the Pompeian room at the Biltmore hotel for the 60 enlistees forming the all-Georgia unit. Irving Melsher's orchestra will furnish music and dancing partners will be supplied from the Girls' Battalion.

Public swearing-in ceremonies will be held at Five Points when the platoon is completed.

Seven more recruits came in yesterday, bringing to 40 the total number of enlistments for the first four days of the 10-day drive. Only 20 more are needed to complete the "Cracker" unit.

Men between the ages of 17 and 33 are eligible.

The Marine recruiting offices at 76 Forsyth street will remain open from 8 o'clock in the mornings until 8 at night until the 60 men are enlisted. Any prospective enlistee can get a ride to the recruiting office by telephoning the Red Cross Motor Corps, AT. 1601.

Notre Dame Lists Scholarship Test

Competitive examinations for a four-year scholarship to the University of Notre Dame will be conducted in Atlanta on September 9 by the college entrance examination board, the Rev. J. Leonard Carrico, director of studies at Notre Dame, announced yesterday.

Georgia high school graduates with a minimum average grade of 90 in high school work should apply to the Rev. James McDonald, Box 153, Notre Dame, Ind., and to George Mullins, executive secretary of the examination board, 431 West 117th street, New York.

Elks' Annual Fish Fry Canceled by Rationing

Because of gasoline and rubber rationing, the Elk's Club's annual fish fry will not be held this year, Luther P. Call Jr., exalted ruler of Atlanta lodge No. 78, said last night.

However, in a letter to members, Call asked for donations to help the club keep up its work for the needy, keep Elk gift boxes going each week to members in the armed forces, give free membership to members in service and for contribution to Elks National War Fund.

House Told Oil Program Directed by 27 Bureaus

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Representative Rogers, Republican, Massachusetts, told the house today that if presidential action is not taken immediately to centralize control of the petroleum situation "New England will get too little oil and too late."

She declared that 27 bureaus were regulating and directing the oil program and that there was an urgent need for vesting this authority in a single head.

Undertaking Firm Buys Americus Home

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

AMERICUS, Ga., Aug. 20.—The Americus Undertaking Company has purchased the residence on the corner of Church and Jackson streets and known as the Burkhalter home, it was announced yesterday.

The house will be remodeled and the grounds will be landscaped and converted into a modern funeral home, C. D. McGowan, who recently purchased the Americus Undertaking Company, said yesterday in announcing purchase of the property from Frank Sheffield Jr.

Truck, Trolley Essay Puddle; Riders Doused

Street car 933 inward bound on the South Decatur run was, at approximately 2:34 o'clock yesterday afternoon, proceeding with its customary aplomb.

The customers sat placidly; some examining fingernails or staring stonily out the windows at the bleak rain.

At 2:34 1-2 o'clock all was confusion on the left side. Thirteen passengers were half-crouched, dabbing madly with handkerchiefs and whatnot at sundry faces, skirts, hats and pocketbooks. Laughter filled car 933.

It seems that a truck, a big puddle on Memorial drive and car 933 arrived simultaneously in such a position that a solid sheet of water cascaded through the open windows from one end of the car to the other. No one on that side of the car escaped the drenching.

BUILDING CAMPAIGN.

AMERICUS, Ga., Aug. 20.—A building campaign is now under consideration by the congregation of the Central Baptist church, it is learned. Tentative plans call for replacing the present wooden building in the rear of the church with a two-story brick building, and thereby provide additional classrooms for the Sunday school.

Rangers Passed Hand-to-Hand Fighting Test

(Editor's Note: Larry Meier, of the International News Service, was among the American correspondents in London to be chosen to go on the Dieppe raid. He accompanied American Ranger units and was wounded by shrapnel.)

By LARRY MEIER.
Representing the Association of American Correspondents in London.

ABOARD A ROYAL NAVY GUNBOAT OFF DIEPPE, Aug. 19.—(Delayed)—(AP)—The American Rangers—first actual United States units to participate in land operations on the continent in this war—proved their gallantry and won a victory in their all-important share in the record-breaking Dieppe assault.

I accompanied the Rangers and their Commando fellow-warriors into the heaviest flak along the French coast where the Allies blasted German gun emplacements in order to cover the Dieppe landings.

I was the only correspondent to accompany the Rangers. We left a southern English port just before dusk like a Lilliputian armada, our gunboat flagship escorting scores of new, American-made troop landing craft, flanked by another fleet of troop and tank landers.

We returned somewhat fewer in numbers—many bloody, including me—but triumphant, having defeated the Germans in bitter hand-to-hand fighting and smashed a battery.

Frontal Assault Raises Curtain For 2d Front

Meanwhile, the Canadians frontally assaulted Dieppe, all forces proving the German continental defenses not impregnable, thus raising the curtain for a second front.

Overhead all day raged history's greatest air battle with numerous American flying Spitfires to protect the Yanks below.

Quiet prevailed until long after Tuesday nightfall, when the gaunt silhouettes of minesweepers cut across the path from the half moon creating a miles-long protective front for our fleet.

In deepest night the mothering gunboat and her numerous deadly ducklings passed through.

The Americans and British discovered that while not impossible, it would not be easy to establish a continental bridgehead.

Nearing the French coast in the pre-dawn blackness, suddenly there came a cry from the bridge lookout: "Starshell to port, Sir."

The flare lit up our destroyer. Then in a few seconds: "Two starshells to starboard, Sir."

Then hell broke loose. Veterans of many naval engagements said they never had seen such flak. We had run right upon four flakships, two on either side, hurling everything they had and giving the British and Americans the ghastliest 25 minutes.

Ceaselessly the four flakships shrapneled the fleet. Tracer bullets showed the path of their deadly fellows and lit up the target while the destroyer answered with all guns blazing.

The first time the desperateness of the situation dawned on me, a youthful sailor near by screamed, "They got me." He had lost his left eye. I moved to better shelter, lacking a tin hat, and watched tracers fly across the bows.

Suddenly there was a blast in my face. I was knocked semiconscious. I thought I was a goner, but I recovered, thinking myself lucky to escape until I put my hand to my face and discovered something wet and hot. Then my chest felt wet. I realized I had been shrapneled in the left side of my face and the right side of my chest, but they did not hurt for hours.

Firing continued for many minutes more. Four different men were put in our front gun turret, and each was wounded successively. Finally all guns aboard were silenced at the same time. The flakeship fell silent, thinking doubtless that our gunboat was sunk. Why she wasn't I can't understand. Certainly she was holed plenty, but for some time she continued toward the coast, meanwhile dropping a landing party headed by a Commando commander.

Drifted Toward Flakship.

Then our damaged motors stopped. For some time we drifted toward the vicinity of the flakships and German coastal batteries but later we were towed away by an American-made landing craft.

The fury of the German assault on our fleet made me wonder what was occurring with the British-American land troops.

They had suffered losses but managed to reach shore, struggle up clefts in the cliff and make an encircling movement on the Belleville-Berneville district four miles east of Dieppe. They wrecked batteries which otherwise would have shelled the major landing party at Dieppe.

Similarly other Commandos carried out a diversion and silenced batteries west of Dieppe without running into such flak interference as our left wing.

History's Greatest Battle.

Dawn brought history's greatest air battle. I watched numerous scrambled individual dogfights and saw many Focke-Wulfs and Messerschmitts go into "the drink," along with some RAF planes, but the record RAF umbrella proved most effective.

Lieutenant Berry Chandler, of Houston, Texas, whose mother reside sat 5101 Denver drive, Galveston, was piloting a Spitfire which was shot down, but he was picked up quickly unhurt.

"Everywhere we were it certainly looked good. We saw plenty of Germans riddled. I think I got a couple myself," he said.

Lieutenant Sam Junkin, from Mississippi, who also was shot down, said "Before I was, I got my share. The fact that later Bostons flew over in daylight and dropped bombs on the Germans without hindrance proves the effectiveness of the British and American fighter support."

Describing the left wing attack on Berneval near Dieppe, Ranger Ervin J. Moger, of St. Paul, Minn., said "Boy, they met us with everything—mortar fire, machineguns, rifles, flak and finally bayonets, but we got there all right, wiped out or captured the Germans and busted up their batteries.

"One of our officers got through the barbed wire and smashed an important interceptor tower. It was an uphill fight all the way across the beaches, and through clefts in the cliffs.

"Re-embarkation was almost as difficult due to ceaseless German gunfire and bombardment. But we showed we can get through the defenses and now as a result of this experience we know a lot more about German coastal protection."

"Objective Captured."

By the time the survivors of this vital diversion re-embarked and started homeward I had transferred to a seepy motorboat, and was able to scout the coast toward Dieppe. I could see Rangers, Commandos and Canadians—the latter numbering a division—effecting landings at all six beaches which were their objectives.

From along a front nine miles long wireless messages could be heard coming into headquarters ship to General J. H. Roberts, commander of the entire operation:

"Yellow objective captured; now moving on green objective."

The colors referred to places such as cliff ravines and machine-gun nests.

Along the right wing heavy fighting was going on. The first Commando wave under Lord Lovat landed without opposition, so secret was this raid. But the second wave met the heaviest firing and hand-to-hand fighting.

Withdrew on Schedule.

Meanwhile the main force landed on beaches on either side of the Arques river estuary bisecting Dieppe, fought on into the city and withdrew on schedule.

From the channel, smoke could be seen both from the Nazi smoke-screen and from British and American bombs, the ground attack and shellfire from destroyers.

Obviously the damage to Dieppe was heavy. Famous seafront hotels were in flames. Smoke was arising from the harbor section.

Certainly a heavy blow had been struck against one of the queen cities of Normandy—one of the key points of the German defense system in occupied France.

36 Negro Selectees To Enter From Clarke

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 20.—Thirty-six Negro selectees were scheduled to leave here Thursday for induction into service, according to an announcement by Dr. E. H. Dixon, member of the Clarke county selective service board.

Speaking of the patriotic demonstration of the Negro citizens of this county, including the draftees, Dr. Dixon said that more than 1,000 Negro citizens went to the bus station the last time a contingent of Negroes from this county left for service.

Funeral Is Held For Zebulon Sailor

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

GRIFFIN, Ga., Aug. 20.—Funeral services for Paul Lenwood McLendon, 17-year-old Zebulon sailor, whose body was recovered August 15 after being reported as "missing" by the United States Navy at New Orleans, were held from the Antioch Methodist church near Thomaston this afternoon. The Rev. Ernest Bowles officiated and interment was in the Antioch Methodist cemetery.

The Navy had reported that young McLendon was accidentally drowned on July 31, and his body was not recovered until August 15. He was said to have stumbled and fell off a pier on the New Orleans waterfront.

He was born in Upson county, near Thomaston, but had lived in Zebulon for 16 years.

Survivors are his father, Paul E. McLendon, and mother, Mrs. Mary Will Harp McLendon; one sister, Miss Betty Will McLendon; one brother, Hubert McLendon, all of Zebulon, and his grandmother, Mrs. Willie Harp, of Atlanta.

Medical Teams To Have Big Part In Blackout Drill

By FRANK DRAKE.

"Hello, Control Center? One man, two women and four children have been badly injured at 231 Dagnabit street! A high explosive bomb hit two houses, demolished them and..."

And that's the way it'll be Monday night when air raid wardens all over the metropolitan area begin calling in "casualties" as planes roar overhead showering thousands of "flour sack" bombs in realistic illustration of what will come when enemy planes bomb Atlanta and environs.

And, the calls to control centers during the blackout will be the signal for all the trained personnel of civilian defense to leap to their posts and practice what to do just as though it were really real.

Dead and dying people . . . moaning men and women, maimed children . . . will be lying there in those "bombed" houses—theoretically—and to the rescue will come the men and women who make up the emergency medical service of civilian defense.

Medical Teams.

In answer to the air raid warden's hurry call will go a medical team from the nearest hospital. Every hospital in the town is fully organized to do its job, says Dr. David Henry Poer, chief of the emergency service, and so out from the nearest hospital will go one doctor, one nurse, one medical aide, and one nurse's aide (the four are called a team) to care for the wounded in the two bombed houses.

The motor corps of the Red Cross will carry the team to the scene as quickly as possible. If more than one team is needed, it will be sent, just as though real blood were being spilled.

Persons theoretically hurt badly enough will be carried to hospitals or casualty stations and the civilians working to learn how best to take care of the city and her people when the real raids come, will go through the motions of saving lives, easing pain, and doing all they can for the benefit of the suffering.

Real Efforts.

Dr. Poer says that each private hospital in the city has 16 trained medical service teams and Grady hospital has 32 teams.

The doctors and nurses playing their parts in the blackout will be but one phase of the activity throughout the five counties making up the metropolitan district, the director, George M. Phillips, points out.

Air raid wardens, fire watchers, auxiliary firemen, auxiliary policemen, first aiders, messengers—everybody in civilian defense work, will be in there pitching Monday night, trying their best to make the blackout a blackout and not a spot-out.

These 20,000 trained workers will be giving their all—and they ask the co-operation of the public generally. It's the public they are trying to learn how to protect.

Rules Enforced.

The blackout will come between 9 and 11 o'clock, and Phillips warns it is strictly on the up and up. Rules are to be enforced and it may be just too bad for those lazy, don't-bother-me-with-that-stuff people who haven't learned what the regulations are and what to do.

"Stay at home, listen to your radio," says Phillips. "People caught by the blackout while in their cars on the streets must pull to the curb, blackout and wait for the all-clear. Persons in theaters will not be allowed to leave during the blackout. No cars except those on real emergencies will be allowed to move without proper hooded lights. Emergency cars can move with dimmers on. Street cars, trolleys and buses must stop. Every house must be dark, and defense plants must blackout for the first 25 minutes of the practice. All lighted signs must be put out, or else someone might break them up with a rock or two. Persons driving faster than 15 miles per hour will be arrested!"

The blackout signal will come at 9:50 o'clock Monday night, and the all-clear will sound at 10:40 o'clock.

Don't say we didn't warn you!

Stenographers, Radio Trainees Sought by U. S.

Housing Available in Washington, Prospects Are Assured.

An urgent call for stenographers not employed in war work to offer their services to the government and take jobs starting at $120 a month in Washington, D. C., was sent out here yesterday by O. E. Meyers, manager of the fifth civil service district.

Pointing out that 4,000 rooms for rent have recently been listed in the capital, Meyers said rumors of an exaggerated housing shortage in Washington should not deter qualified stenographers from applying for immediate placement with war agencies which need them.

Eligibility tests will be given in Atlanta at the Marsh Business College August 25 at 6:30 o'clock.

An immediate need for junior radio repairmen trainees at $120 a month and mechanic learners at $85 per month while training was also announced by the fifth civil service district.

Six months' paid experience in radio shop repairs or equivalent training is necessary for trainees, who, it was announced, will receive instruction at Starkville, Miss., Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Memphis, Tenn. Mechanic learners will be trained at Greenville, S. C., and Dalton, Ga.

Qualified persons may obtain application forms at their nearest post office or may mail applications to Room 325, New Post Office building, Atlanta.

HURT IN ACCIDENT.

OGLETHORPE, Ga., Aug. 20.—William M. Parker Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Parker, of the Hicks district, received a broken arm in a airplane accident at a Texas Air Field this week. His condition is not serious.

Bennett To Face Uphill Fight Against Dewey, Says Gallup

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP,
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 20.—John J. Bennett, Democratic nominee as Governor of New York, faces an uphill fight against Thomas E. Dewey, leading Republican nominee. At the start of the race Dewey is more popular with voters than Bennett, although many have still to make up their minds, according to Gallup poll completed just before present convention.

The fact that Roosevelt himself has taken a prominent part in the race and that Dewey is widely regarded a strong contender for the GOP presidential nomination in 1944 makes the New York race of nation-wide importance.

Poll results in New York state show the following division of sentiment among those with opinion: Dewey 58 per cent, Bennett 42. At the time the study was made 18 per cent had not made up their minds.

Important to Bennett is the fact a high proportion of the undecided group consists of persons who voted Democratic in 1940 and who may be won over by Bennett forces.

The poll also found Dewey would have run ahead of Senator James M. Mead, the man whom Roosevelt wanted Democrats to nominate.

The one man who would have given Dewey a race for his life was present Governor Herbert Lehman, whom politicos turned down because they thought he couldn't be elected for a fourth term. A Gallup poll trial heat between Dewey and Lehman showed the two running virtually neck and neck.

Around Atlanta

with THE CONSTITUTION STAFF

Dr. Lester Rumble, pastor of the St. Mark Methodist church in Atlanta, will be the guest speaker at the annual five-day assembly of the Florida Methodist Youth Fellowship which will be held Monday through Friday at Florida Southern College, Lakeland, Fla. His theme will be "Prayer—Pathway to Victorious Living."

Bank clearings amounted to $18,300,000 yesterday as compared with $14,500,000 for the corresponding day last year.

Air raid wardens will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at Westminster church, Ponce de Leon avenue and Boulevard, for the second in a series of classes. "Fire Defense" will be the subject of the meeting Tuesday night at the same time and place, and sound movies will be shown. The public has been invited.

Pinch of war invaded the city health department yesterday and Mrs. Louise Cox, in charge of birth announcements, issued copies pinned together instead of clamped with paper clasps. The modern and patriotic office will begin pinning as shortage of clasps grows, she said.

R. A. Moncrief will instruct a series of classes in gas protection and decontamination for civilian defense volunteers on Tuesday and Thursday of each week beginning August 25 and extending through September 17, it was announced yesterday by Clarke Donaldson, city chief of construction and chief of the emergency public works division of civilian defense for the metropolitan area. The classes will be held at the Transportation building auditorium at Piedmont avenue and Armstrong streets, beginning at 7 and lasting until 9 o'clock.

City salesmen's committee will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Henry Grady hotel to hear a report from the committee which went to Washington in an effort to secure more gasoline for Atlanta salesmen.

Morgan Blake will speak on "Helping Is Your Job" at the monthly meeting of the Men of Peachtree at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the Peachtree Christian church. Edgar Craighead, president of the club, will preside.

Air raid wardens in the Ormewood Park section will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Annie E. West school on Essie avenue. Regional Director George M. Phillips, City Director George Broadnax and Howard J. Edens, director of Zone 6, will speak, and new training classes will be announced.

Allen Pope, of Georgia Tech, will speak on "Development in Fighting Aircraft" at the luncheon of Atlanta Post No. 1, American Legion, at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Robert Fulton hotel.

Descendants of Rebecca Chambless and William Bryant will hold their annual reunion at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at Mt. Gilhead camp ground. A basket lunch will be served.

John A. Griffin, assistant professor of economics and social sciences at Georgia Tech, will speak on "The World Tomorrow" at the luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Lions Club at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon at the Ansley hotel.

Camp Toombs Has New Commander

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

TOCCOA, Ga., Aug. 20.—Colonel L. L. Berry has succeeded Colonel J. O. Tarbox as commander of Camp Toombs, the latter having been assigned to duty at Florida Military Academy at St. Petersburg, Fla. Colonel Berry comes to Camp Toombs from the Fourth Service Command.

Colonel Tarbox had been at the camp since the beginning of its occupation by soldiers of the paratroop division some weeks ago. The camp is being rapidly filled to capacity with potential paratroopers who will be conditioned here before being sent to air bases throughout the country.

State Jobless Compensation Doubles in Year

War Conditions, Curtailed Season Blamed for More Unemployment.

Benefit payments under the state unemployment compensation law amounted to $1,528,590 in the first quarter of 1942 compared to $716,839 in the same period last year, the Georgia Labor Department reported yesterday.

Commissioner Ben T. Huiet ascribed the increase to unemployment arising largely from priorities, plant conversion and curtailed seasonal operations.

In several industries, he said, benefits paid to workers exceeded contributions for which employers were liable. These included general contractors, leather manufacturing, nonferrous metals, automobile manufacturing, services allied to transportation and retail automotive.

Contributions by employers in the quarter totaled $2,443,499. Under an amendment which became effective in January, the rate of contributions provided by law varies from 2.7 per cent to a minimum of 1 per cent in accordance with the employe turnover.

In the same quarter a year ago, when all employers contributed to the unemployment trust fund at the rate of 2.7 per cent, contributions amounted to $2,780,062.

BOND CAMPAIGN.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Aug. 20.—Plans have been completed for a roundup of War Bonds and Stamp sales on Friday, and committees have been named for the various phases of the campaign to finish up the matter of $45,000 left on the Lowndes county quota for August.

Monopolies Do Not Pay, Farish Says

Firm One of First To Learn, Oil Chief Tells Patents Group.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP) Two officials of Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) told the Senate Patents Committee today their company was "one of the first to learn that monopolies do not pay."

They were W. S. Farish, president of the New Jersey company, and Frank Howard, president of Standard Development Company, a subsidiary.

Chairman Bone, Democrat, Washington, questioning Howard about Standard's relations with Germany's I. G. Farben Industrie, asked Howard if he did not know of monopolies in various industries in the United States.

"Our company found that monopolies didn't pay for the stockholders," Howard replied. Farish confirmed Howard's statement as representing Standard's "position."

Two Dewberry Boys Parted by Martial Duty

Now Twin Will Follow Marital Feat of Brother.

For more than 22 years, the Dewberry twins—Lieutenants L. Glenn Jr. and James W. Dewberry—were inseparable, but the war has parted them.

Both are second lieutenants in the artillery, having been graduated from the Fort Sill, Oklahoma, school, and tomorrow night both will be married men.

The boys were in the same classes through high school. They attended the Georgia Evening school together, and in the fall of 1940 they joined the old 179th Field Artillery at the same time. On February 24, 1941, they were inducted into the service and were sent to Camp Blanding for training.

Later Glenn was assigned to the officers' training school, and a week later James got the same assignment. On August 11, Glenn left the camp with his second lieutenant's bars, and came home to Atlanta and on August 14 he was married to Miss Sylvia Snow, daughter of Mrs. L. M. Snow, of 50 Clay street, Atlanta. He has been assigned to Camp Breckinridge, Kentucky.

James was graduated from Fort Sill on August 18, and Saturday night will be married to Miss Kathryn Ledbetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Doyle Ledbetter, of 102 Rockyford road, Atlanta. Lieutenant and Mrs. James Dewberry will be located at Camp Gordon, Augusta.

The boys are the 22-year-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. L. Glenn Dewberry. The father is the veteran superintendent of the Atlanta city hall.

Hungary's Deputy Regent Is Killed

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The death of Stephen Horthy, deputy regent of Hungary, while serving as a flight lieutenant with the Axis forces on the eastern front, prompted the Hungarian council of ministers to convene today in Budapest to consider the succession to the regency held by his father, Admiral Nicholas Horthy.

Dispatches from the Hungarian capital announced this morning that the younger Horthy, 38, was dead but did not say how he was killed.

1-Man U. S. Tank Reported in Raid

BERN, Switzerland, Aug. 20.—(AP)—A Berlin dispatch to Die Tat today said Americans in the Commando raid on Dieppe tried out for the first time a special weapon described as a one-man tank "containing high explosives in five separate compartments."

It said the tanks were directed toward important fortifications and advanced alone with explosives set off by an electrical timer. This was taken to mean that the operator left the tank before the explosion although the dispatch did not specify.

The Berlin report claimed many of the tanks were exploded prematurely by German gunfire.

Forest Fire Meeting Will Be Held at Alamo

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

ALAMO, Ga., Aug. 20.—A conference of farmers, educators, editors and lumbermen is to be held here September 19, under the auspices of the Southern States Forest Fire Commission, according to an announcement received here today from the commission headquarters in Atlanta. Dr. C. L. Carver, of Mercer University, one of the south's leading conservationists, has accepted an invitation to speak.

W. L. Shaddix, secretary of the southern commission, will outline plans for "doubling the income per acre for uncultivatable land." Mr. Shaddix, a former teacher of agriculture in Alabama, has been in this area recently discussing the conference with leaders.

Free literature furnished by the Seaboard Air Line Railway, the Extension Service, University of Georgia, the commission, and various other agencies will be distributed, including posters to be put in crossroad filling stations, school buildings and in postoffices of the county.

Charles O. Gillett, of Norfolk, Va., has indicated his intention of joining in the conference. Mr. Gillett is an outstanding authority on timber production and growth.

The meeting will be open to the public. A forest fire film is being ordered for the concluding part of the program.

FFA DELEGATES.

AMERICUS, Ga., Aug. 20.—Two members of the Americus High school, Future Farmers of America, are delegates from the local chapter to the state FFA convention, which is in session at Lake Jackson, near Covington. They are Bobby McNeil and Leonard Harbuck.

Man Who Shed Red Galluses Is Rally's Hero

'Uncle Billy' Murphy Takes Spotlight on Talmadge Stand.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

ROYSTON, Ga., Aug. 20.—"Uncle Billy" Murphy, an old Franklin county farmer, was made the hero of Governor Talmadge's campaign appearance here today.

A large crowd assembled to hear the Governor, who told them:

"Old 'Uncle Billy' Murphy, living right here in your own county, is proof of the untrustworthiness of the Atlanta newspapers."

"Uncle Billy" is the farmer, who shucked his red galluses for a news photographer in Atlanta and handed the badge of Talmadgeism to Candidate Ellis Arnall. "Uncle Billy's" story that he had been promised $500 for the stunt has been disputed by reliable sources.

On the stand with Talmadge today were Johnny Goodwin, the Governor's bodyguard; Lint Johnson, a resident of Royston, who serves under Ellis Arnall as a Talmadge appointee; Walter Pitner, of Athens, and Bill Hall, of Carnesville, who introduced the Governor.

The Governor stuck to his routine speech about the $10,000,000 surplus; he attacked the Atlanta newspaper men who, he says, he wiped off the state payroll; he condemned the Atlanta newspapers for allowing employes to accept Rosenwald fund contributions.

To the people of Franklin county, he said:

"I increased the public assistance in your county. I increased the number of public assistance recipients by 50 per cent and the amount of the benefits by 70 per cent."

Investigate Me Now, Redwine Tells Arnall.

Charles D. Redwine, manager of Governor Talmadge's campaign for re-election, yesterday challenged Ellis Arnall to make his threatened investigation of any Redwine asphalt business with the state, and to make it now—while he has the opportunity to do his duty.

"If Ellis Arnall even suspects there is anything wrong with any dealing I may have had with the state of Georgia, it is his duty to investigate," said Redwine.

"He said several days ago he would investigate me and I replied immediately that he should do so now," Redwine continued.

"At Greensboro Wednesday Arnall bragged that I will get my wish, I will be investigated—in January.

"Arnall is paid by the state of Georgia. His job is to investigate any suggested wrong against the state and protect the people and their money. He has been attorney general all during the time he refers to. He should have investigated me long ago, if he had the slightest suspicion I had wronged the state.

"Now, in the midst of a campaign, he has made veiled allusion to my 'asphalt' deals. If he can find where I have made any money I will thank him, and I will pay him to help me collect it.

"I have offered to help him in any investigation of my acts, and I do not want him to wait until January. It will be too late then. He will not be in office and can't investigate anything."

v

Historic Cannons Won't Be Junked

Mayor Hartsfield yesterday assured several perturbed Atlantans that historic Confederate War cannons will not be used as scrap unless the United States itself is threatened.

During the day he had several telephone calls from persons concerned about conversion of Civil War relics into modern weapons of war.

"Atlanta stands ready to do its full patriotic duty in providing all materials available for war purposes," Hartsfield said, "but as long as we have the thousands of tons of scrap which have no historical or sentimental significance, I see no reason for using those materials which mean so much in our tradition."

v

4,950 Living Units Get WPB Ratings

The regional housing branch of the War Production Board yesterday issued ratings for immediate construction of 4,950 housing units in Savannah and Brunswick to relieve a critical shortage of dwelling facilities caused by an influx of shipyard workers.

Frank Etheridge, WPB housing chief, announced authority for materials had been granted on the following basis:

For Savannah—2,100 privately financed houses and 750 "demountable" public housing units. For Brunswick—600 privately financed houses and war apartments which will contain 1,500 efficiency dwelling units.

Millen Mayor To Speak Tonight for Arnall

Senator Walter Wade Harrison, of Millen, Ga., will speak in behalf of the candidacy of Ellis Arnall from 7:30 to 7:45 o'clock tonight over station WSB. Mr. Harrison has been mayor of Millen for 12 years; he served in the senate from the 17th district in 1937 and was in the house of representatives from 1931 to 1941.

He is president of the Planters Electric Membership, chairman of the Jenkins County Rural Housing Authority, and chairman of the Southeastern Georgia Housing Authority. Harrison will outline the reasons why he is casting his support to Ellis Arnall.

Bootleggers' Stills Sought In Scrap Drive

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

GRIFFIN, Ga., Aug. 20.—Even the bootleggers of Spalding county are being asked to contribute to the war effort by Chairman W. O. Patterson, of the Spalding county salvage committee.

Patterson reminded the "bootleggers" that "you can't get sugar to make moonshine, so why not donate that still to the war effort. It will rust out by the time sugar rationing ends."

Arnall To Make Eleven Talks, Talmadge Ten

Schedule This Week Nears Home Stretch of Gubernatorial Race.

Approaching the home stretch in the gubernatorial race, Governor Talmadge will make 10 speeches next week and Attorney General Ellis Arnall, 11, their campign headquarters announ :d yesterday.

Each will deliver as many as three addresses on one day.

Here is Talmadge's schedule: August 24, Jasper, 4:30 o'clock; August 25, Monroe, 4:30 o'clock, and Macon, 8:30 o'clock; August 26, Thomasville, 11:30 o'clock, and Bainbridge, 4:30 o'clock; August 27, Statenville, 10:30 o'clock, and Arlington, 4:30 o'clock; August 28, Atlanta, (WSB) 10:30 o'clock, and August 29, Waycross, 5 o'clock.

Talmadge Aide Tries To Buy Editor's Help

Offer Flatly Refused by Marietta Journal, Says Brumby.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

MARIETTA, Ga., Aug. 20.—Otis A. Brumby, publisher of the Cobb County Times, in his personal column "Jambalaya" called attention to an effort on the part of Talmadge supporters to purchase newspaper indorsement of his candidacy.

The following is what Brumby had to say today in his column:

"Within the past week or so the Talmadge organization has made an attempt to buy the support of one of the newspapers that is opposing him.

"One of the state employes approached Editor W. L. Harris, of the Marietta Daily Journal, and offered to make it worth his while if he would come out in support of Gene Talmadge.

"This is not hearsay or idle rumor. The facts were given to me by none other than Harris himself. I am in possession of the name of the party who made the offer also.

"Harris of course refused the offer and probably will express himself on the matter.

"You may draw your own conclusions as to who is honest—the newspapers or Gene Talmadge."

Spies Precede Raids by Nazis, Wood Asserts

Both Co-ordinated in Plans, General Tells Peace Officers.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 20. (AP)—Any air or commando raids on southeastern states will be preceded by intense Nazi espionage activity and will be co-ordinated with disruptive action by a Fifth Column, Brigadier General Eric Wood asserted today.

"In fact, the damage of such raids will be proportional to the effectiveness of the German spies and Fifth Columnists whom we know are in our midst," General Wood declared in an address before the Southeastern Peace Officers' conference.

The general said a common public belief that German agents are necessarily long-time residents of their communities or persons of Teutonic extraction has proved fallacious.

"Traitorous Citizen."

"Both prongs of this premise are contrary to all previous German procedure," he explained. "The German agent is often as not a traitorous citizen instead of a German; and he often is itinerant, moving with others in a group from place to place."

General Wood said the tactics of Germany's spies and Fifth Columnists are standardized.

"They have varied little in any of the approximately 19 nations that Hitler has penetrated or invaded," he continued. "In fact they date back in their entirety to the teachings of Frederick the Great."

Quotes Book.

He quoted extensively from Frederick's book "Instructions to My General," written in 1747, and drew a parallel between the recommendations for "ruse and chicanery" made by Frederick and the program of betrayal from within used by Hitler.

"The effectiveness of Hitler's Fifth Columns, acting tactically on 'zero day,' has been immense in countries where there was not forehanded preparation against it," General Wood said.

"Contrast, for instance, the complete and easy successes of the German army in Austria and Denmark, where attention to the Fifth Column had been omitted, with the same army's rough road into Russia, where the contrary was the case."

Much of General Wood's talk was of a confidential nature.
